The board shall track the reported information and may routinely conduct random reviews of such agreements to ensure that agreements are carried out for compliance under this chapter.

7. Notwithstanding any law to the contrary, a certified registered nurse anesthetist as defined in subdivision (8) of section 335.016 shall be permitted to provide anesthesia services without a collaborative practice arrangement provided that he or she is under the supervision of an anesthesiologist or other physician, dentist, or podiatrist who is immediately available if needed. Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to prohibit or prevent a certified registered nurse anesthetist as defined in subdivision (8) of section 335.016 from entering into a collaborative practice arrangement under this section, except that the collaborative practice arrangement may not delegate the authority to prescribe any controlled substances listed in Schedules III, IV, and V of section 195.017, or Schedule II - hydrocodone.

8. A collaborating physician ~~[or supervising physician]~~ shall not enter into a collaborative practice arrangement ~~[or supervision agreement]~~ with more than six full-time equivalent advanced practice registered nurses, full-time equivalent licensed physician assistants, or full-time equivalent assistant physicians, or any combination thereof. A physician shall have the right to refuse to act as a collaborating physician, without penalty, for a particular advanced practice registered nurse. No contract or other agreement shall limit the collaborating physician's ultimate authority over any protocols or standing orders or in the delegation of the physician's authority to any advanced practice registered nurse, but this requirement shall not authorize a physician in implementing such protocols, standing orders, or delegation to violate applicable standards for safe medical practice established by hospital's medical staff.

12. No contract or other agreement shall require any advanced practice registered nurse to serve as a collaborating advanced practice registered nurse for any collaborating physician against the advanced practice registered nurse's will. Neither board shall separately promulgate rules regulating the use of protocols for prescription orders for medication therapy services and administration of viral influenza vaccines. No person shall engage in the practice of pharmacy unless he is licensed under the provisions of this chapter. This chapter shall not be construed to prohibit the use of auxiliary personnel under the direct supervision of a pharmacist from assisting the pharmacist in any of his or her duties. This assistance in no way is intended to relieve the pharmacist from his or her responsibilities for compliance with this chapter and he or she will be responsible for the actions of the auxiliary personnel acting in his or her assistance. This chapter shall also not be construed to prohibit or interfere with any legally registered practitioner of medicine, dentistry, or podiatry, or veterinary medicine only for use in animals, or the practice of optometry in accordance with and as provided in sections 195.070 and 336.220 in the compounding, administering, prescribing, or dispensing of his or her own prescriptions.

2. Any pharmacist who accepts a prescription order for a medication therapeutic plan shall have a written protocol from the physician who refers the patient for medication therapy services. The written protocol and the prescription order for a medication therapeutic plan shall come from the physician only, and shall not come from a nurse engaged in a collaborative practice arrangement under section 334.104, or from a physician assistant engaged in a supervision agreement under section 334.735.

4. Nothing in this section shall be construed to apply to or interfere with the sale of nonprescription drugs and the ordinary household remedies and such drugs or medicines as are normally sold by those engaged in the sale of general merchandise.

Such rules shall require protocols to include provisions allowing for timely communication between the pharmacist and the referring physician, and any other patient protection provisions deemed appropriate by both boards. In order to take effect, such rules shall be approved by a majority vote of a quorum of each board. Neither board shall separately promulgate rules regulating the use of protocols for prescription orders for medication therapy services and administration of viral influenza vaccines. Any rule or portion of a rule, as that term is defined in section 536.010, that is created under the authority delegated in this section shall become effective only if it complies with and is subject to all of the provisions of chapter 536 and, if applicable, section 536.028. This section and chapter 536 are

(1) A pharmacist shall administer vaccines by protocol in accordance with treatment guidelines established by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC);

(2) A pharmacist who is administering a vaccine shall request a patient to remain in the pharmacy a safe amount of time after administering the vaccine to observe any adverse reactions. Such pharmacist shall have adopted emergency treatment protocols;

Representative Shawan offered House Amendment No. 5.

House Amendment No. 5

AMEND Senate Bill No. 358, Page 2, Section 191.607, Line 16, by inserting after said section and line the following:

"192.667. 1. All health care providers shall at least annually provide to the department charge data as required by the department. All hospitals shall at least annually provide patient abstract data and financial data as required by the department. Hospitals as defined in section 197.020 shall report patient abstract data for outpatients and inpatients. Ambulatory surgical centers and abortion facilities as defined in section 197.200 shall provide patient abstract data to the department. The department shall specify by rule the types of information which shall be submitted and the method of submission.

2. The department shall collect data on the incidence of health care-associated infections from hospitals, ambulatory surgical centers, abortion facilities, and other facilities as necessary to generate the reports required by this section. Hospitals, ambulatory surgical centers, abortion facilities, and other facilities shall provide such data in compliance with this section. In order to streamline government and to eliminate duplicative reporting requirements, if the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services, or its successor entity, requires hospitals to submit health care-associated infection data, then hospitals and the department shall not be required to comply with the health care-associated infection data reporting requirements of subsections 2 to 17 of this section applicable to hospitals, except that the department shall post a link on its website to publicly reported data by hospitals on the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services' Hospital Compare website, or its successor.

3. The department shall promulgate rules specifying the standards and procedures for the collection, analysis, risk adjustment, and reporting of the incidence of health care-associated infections and the types of infections and procedures to be monitored pursuant to subsection 13 of this section. In promulgating such rules, the department shall:

- (1) Use methodologies and systems for data collection established by the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's National Healthcare Safety Network, or its successor; and

(2) Consider the findings and recommendations of the infection control advisory panel established pursuant to section 197.165.

4. By January 1, 2017, the infection control advisory panel created by section 197.165 shall make recommendations to the department regarding the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services' health care-associated infection data collection, analysis, and public reporting requirements for hospitals, ambulatory surgical centers, and other facilities in the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's National Healthcare Safety Network, or its successor, in lieu of all or part of the data collection, analysis, and public reporting requirements of this section. The advisory panel recommendations shall address which hospitals shall be required as a condition of licensure to use the National Healthcare Safety Network for data collection; the use of the National Healthcare Safety Network for risk adjustment and analysis of hospital submitted data; and the use of the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services' Hospital Compare website, or its successor, for public reporting of the incidence of health care-associated infection metrics. The advisory panel shall consider the following factors in developing its recommendation:

- (1) Whether the public is afforded the same or greater access to facility-specific infection control indicators and metrics;
- (2) Whether the data provided to the public is subject to the same or greater accuracy of risk adjustment;
- (3) Whether the public is provided with the same or greater specificity of reporting of infections by type of facility infections and procedures;
- (4) Whether the data is subject to the same or greater level of confidentiality of the identity of an individual patient;
- (5) Whether the National Healthcare Safety Network, or its successor, has the capacity to receive, analyze, and report the required data for all facilities;
- (6) Whether the cost to implement the National Healthcare Safety Network infection data collection and reporting system is the same or less.

5. After considering the recommendations of the infection control advisory panel, and provided that the requirements of subsection 13 of this section can be met, the department shall implement guidelines from the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's National Healthcare Safety Network, or its successor. It shall be a condition of licensure for hospitals that meet the minimum public reporting requirements of the National Healthcare Safety Network and the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services to participate in the National Healthcare Safety Network, or its successor. Such hospitals shall permit the National Healthcare Safety Network, or its successor, to disclose facility-specific infection data to the department as required under this section, and as necessary to provide the public reports required by the department. It shall be a condition of licensure for any ambulatory surgical center or abortion facility which does not voluntarily participate in the National Healthcare Safety Network, or its successor, to submit facility-specific data to the department as required under this section, and as necessary to provide the public reports required by the department.

6. The department shall not require the resubmission of data which has been submitted to the department of health and senior services or the department of social services under any other provision of law. The department of health and senior services shall accept data submitted by associations or related organizations on behalf of health care providers by entering into binding agreements negotiated with such associations or related organizations to obtain data required pursuant to section 192.665 and this section. A health care provider shall submit the required information to the department of health and senior services:

- (1) If the provider does not submit the required data through such associations or related organizations;
- (2) If no binding agreement has been reached within ninety days of August 28, 1992, between the department of health and senior services and such associations or related organizations; or
- (3) If a binding agreement has expired for more than ninety days.

7. Information obtained by the department under the provisions of section 192.665 and this section shall not be public information. Reports and studies prepared by the department based upon such information shall be public information and may identify individual health care providers. The department of health and senior services may authorize the use of the data by other research organizations pursuant to the provisions of section 192.067. The department shall not use or release any information provided under section 192.665 and this section which would enable any person to determine any health care provider's negotiated discounts with specific preferred provider organizations or other managed care organizations. The department shall not release data in a form which could be used to identify a patient. Any violation of this subsection is a class A misdemeanor.

8. The department shall undertake a reasonable number of studies and publish information, including at least an annual consumer guide, in collaboration with health care providers, business coalitions and consumers based upon the information obtained pursuant to the provisions of section 192.665 and this section. The department shall allow all health care providers and associations and related organizations who have submitted data which will be used in any publication to review and comment on the publication prior to its publication or release for general use. The publication shall be made available to the public for a reasonable charge.

9. Any health care provider which continually and substantially, as these terms are defined by rule, fails to comply with the provisions of this section shall not be allowed to participate in any program administered by the state or to receive any moneys from the state.

10. A hospital, as defined in section 197.020, aggrieved by the department's determination of ineligibility for state moneys pursuant to subsection 9 of this section may appeal as provided in section 197.071. An ambulatory surgical center or abortion facility as defined in section 197.200 aggrieved by the department's determination of ineligibility for state moneys pursuant to subsection 9 of this section may appeal as provided in section 197.221.

11. The department of health may promulgate rules providing for collection of data and publication of the incidence of health care-associated infections for other types of health facilities determined to be sources of infections; except that, physicians' offices shall be exempt from reporting and disclosure of such infections.

12. By January 1, 2017, the advisory panel shall recommend and the department shall adopt in regulation with an effective date of no later than January 1, 2018, the requirements for the reporting of the following types of infections as specified in this subsection:

(1) Infections associated with a minimum of four surgical procedures for hospitals and a minimum of two surgical procedures for ambulatory surgical centers that meet the following criteria:

(a) Are usually associated with an elective surgical procedure. An "elective surgical procedure" is a planned, nonemergency surgical procedure that may be either medically required such as a hip replacement or optional such as breast augmentation;

(b) Demonstrate a high priority aspect such as affecting a large number of patients, having a substantial impact for a smaller population, or being associated with substantial cost, morbidity, or mortality; or

(c) Are infections for which reports are collected by the National Healthcare Safety Network or its successor;

(2) Central line-related bloodstream infections;

(3) Health care-associated infections specified for reporting by hospitals, ambulatory surgical centers, and other health care facilities by the rules of the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services to the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's National Healthcare Safety Network, or its successor; and

(4) Other categories of infections that may be established by rule by the department.

The department, in consultation with the advisory panel, shall be authorized to collect and report data on subsets of each type of infection described in this subsection.

13. In consultation with the infection control advisory panel established pursuant to section 197.165, the department shall develop and disseminate to the public reports based on data compiled for a period of twelve months. Such reports shall be updated quarterly and shall show for each hospital, ambulatory surgical center, abortion facility, and other facility metrics on risk-adjusted health care-associated infections under this section.

14. The types of infections under subsection 12 of this section to be publicly reported shall be determined by the department by rule and shall be consistent with the infections tracked by the National Healthcare Safety Network, or its successor.

15. Reports published pursuant to subsection 13 of this section shall be published and readily accessible on the department's internet website. The reports shall be distributed at least annually to the governor and members of the general assembly. The department shall make such reports available to the public for a period of at least two years.

16. The Hospital Industry Data Institute shall publish a report of Missouri hospitals', ambulatory surgical centers', and abortion facilities' compliance with standardized quality of care measures established by the federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services for prevention of infections related to surgical procedures. If the Hospital Industry Data Institute fails to do so by July 31, 2008, and annually thereafter, the department shall be authorized to collect information from the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services or from hospitals, ambulatory surgical centers, and abortion facilities and publish such information in accordance with this section.

17. The data collected or published pursuant to this section shall be available to the department for purposes of licensing hospitals, ambulatory surgical centers, and abortion facilities pursuant to chapter 197.

provisions of chapter 536 and, if applicable, section 536.028. This section and chapter 536 are nonseverable and if any of the powers vested with the general assembly pursuant to chapter 536 to review, to delay the effective date, or to disapprove and annul a rule are subsequently held unconstitutional, then the grant of rulemaking authority and any rule proposed or adopted after August 28, 2004, shall be invalid and void.

19. No later than August 28, 2017, each hospital, excluding mental health facilities as defined in section 632.005, and each ambulatory surgical center and abortion facility as defined in section 197.200, shall in consultation with its medical staff establish an antimicrobial stewardship program for evaluating the judicious use of antimicrobials, especially antibiotics that are the last line of defense against resistant infections. The hospital's stewardship program and the results of the program shall be monitored and evaluated by hospital quality improvement departments and shall be available upon inspection to the department. At a minimum, the antimicrobial stewardship program shall be designed to evaluate that hospitalized patients receive, in accordance with accepted medical standards of practice, the appropriate antimicrobial, at the appropriate dose, at the appropriate time, and for the appropriate duration.

20. Hospitals described in subsection 19 of this section shall meet the National Healthcare Safety Network requirements for reporting antimicrobial usage or resistance by using the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's Antimicrobial Use and Resistance (AUR) Module when ~~[regulations concerning Stage 3 of the Medicare and Medicaid Electronic Health Records Incentive Programs promulgated by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services that enable the electronic interface for such reporting are effective]~~ conditions of participation promulgated by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services requiring the electronic reporting of antibiotic use or antibiotic resistance by hospitals become effective. When such antimicrobial usage or resistance reporting takes effect, hospitals shall authorize the National Healthcare Safety Network, or its successor, to disclose to the department facility-specific information reported to the AUR Module. Facility-specific data on antibiotic usage and resistance collected under this subsection shall not be disclosed to the public, but the department may release case-specific information to other facilities, physicians, and the public if the department determines on a case-by-case basis that the release of such information is necessary to protect persons in a public health emergency. Nothing in this section shall prohibit a hospital from voluntarily reporting antibiotic use or antibiotic resistance data through the National Healthcare Safety Network, or its successor, prior to the effective date of the conditions of participation requiring the reporting.

21. The department shall make a report to the general assembly beginning January 1, 2018, and on every January first thereafter on the incidence, type, and distribution of antimicrobial-resistant infections identified in the state and within regions of the state.

197.108. 1. Upon receiving such notice, the department, when assigning an inspector or surveyor to inspect or survey a hospital, for any purpose, shall take steps to verify the information and, if the department has reason to believe that such information is correct, the department shall not assign the inspector or surveyor to the hospital or any hospital within its organization so as to avoid an appearance of prejudice or favor to the hospital or bias on the part of the inspector or surveyor."; and

(1) Prescription was issued according to and in compliance with the applicable laws of that state and the United States; and

(2) Quantity limitations in subsection 4 of section 195.080 apply to prescriptions dispensed to patients located in this state.

3. The legal owner of any stock of controlled substances in a pharmacy, upon discontinuance of dealing in such drugs, may sell the stock to a manufacturer, wholesaler, or pharmacist, but only on an official written order.

4. A pharmacist, in good faith, may sell and dispense any Schedule II drug or drugs to any person in emergency situations as defined by rule of the department of health and senior services upon an oral prescription by an authorized practitioner.

5. Except where a bona fide physician-patient-pharmacist relationship exists, prescriptions for narcotics or hallucinogenic drugs shall not be delivered to or for an ultimate user or agent by mail or other common carrier.

195.080. 1. Except as otherwise provided in this chapter and chapter 579, this chapter and chapter 579 shall not apply to the following cases: prescribing, administering, dispensing or selling at retail of liniments, ointments, and other preparations that are susceptible of external use only and that contain controlled substances in such combinations of drugs as to prevent the drugs from being readily extracted from such liniments, ointments, or preparations, except that this chapter and chapter 579 shall apply to all liniments, ointments, and other preparations that contain coca leaves in any quantity or combination.

2. Unless otherwise provided in sections 334.037, 334.104, and 334.747, a practitioner, other than a veterinarian, shall not issue an initial prescription for more than a seven-day supply of any opioid controlled substance upon the initial consultation and treatment of a patient for acute pain. Upon any subsequent consultation for the same pain, the practitioner may issue any appropriate renewal, refill, or new prescription in compliance with the general provisions of this chapter and chapter 579. Prior to issuing an initial prescription for an opioid controlled substance, a practitioner shall consult with the patient regarding the quantity of the opioid and the patient's option to fill the prescription in a lesser quantity and shall inform the patient of the risks associated with the opioid prescribed. If, in the professional medical judgment of the practitioner, more than a seven-day supply is required to treat the patient's acute pain, the practitioner may issue a prescription for the quantity needed to treat the patient; provided, that the practitioner shall document in the patient's medical record the condition triggering the necessity for more than a seven-day supply and that a nonopioid alternative was not appropriate to address the patient's condition. The provisions of this subsection shall not apply to prescriptions for opioid controlled substances for a patient who is currently undergoing treatment for cancer or sickle cell disease, is receiving hospice care from a hospice certified under chapter 197 or palliative care, is a resident of a long-term care facility licensed under chapter 198, or is receiving treatment for substance abuse or opioid dependence.

3. A pharmacist or pharmacy shall not be subject to disciplinary action or other civil or criminal liability for dispensing or refusing to dispense medication in good faith pursuant to an otherwise valid prescription that exceeds the prescribing limits established by subsection 2 of this section.

4. Unless otherwise provided in this section, the quantity of Schedule II controlled substances prescribed or dispensed at any one time shall be limited to a thirty-day supply. The quantity of Schedule III, IV or V controlled substances prescribed or dispensed at any one time shall be limited to a ninety-day supply and shall be prescribed and dispensed in compliance with the general provisions of this chapter and chapter 579. The supply limitations provided in this subsection may be increased up to three months if the physician describes on the prescription form or indicates via telephone, fax, or electronic communication to the pharmacy to be entered on or attached to the prescription form the medical reason for requiring the larger supply. The supply limitations provided in this subsection shall not apply if:

(1) The prescription is issued by a practitioner located in another state according to and in compliance with the applicable laws of that state and the United States and dispensed to a patient located in another state; or

(2) The prescription is dispensed directly to a member of the United States Armed Forces serving outside the United States.

5. The partial filling of a prescription for a Schedule II substance is permissible as defined by regulation by the department of health and senior services.

195.100. 1. It shall be unlawful to distribute any controlled substance in a commercial container unless such container bears a label containing an identifying symbol for such substance in accordance with federal laws.

2. It shall be unlawful for any manufacturer of any controlled substance to distribute such substance unless the labeling thereof conforms to the requirements of federal law and contains the identifying symbol required in subsection 1 of this section.

3. The label of a controlled substance in Schedule II, III or IV shall, when dispensed to or for a patient, contain a clear, concise warning that it is a criminal offense to transfer such narcotic or dangerous drug to any person other than the patient.

4. Whenever a manufacturer sells or dispenses a controlled substance and whenever a wholesaler sells or dispenses a controlled substance in a package prepared by him or her, the manufacturer or wholesaler shall securely affix to each package in which that drug is contained a label showing in legible English the name and address of the vendor and the quantity, kind, and form of controlled substance contained therein. No person except a pharmacist for the purpose of filling a prescription under this chapter, shall alter, deface, or remove any label so affixed.

5. Whenever a pharmacist or practitioner sells or dispenses any controlled substance on a prescription issued by a physician, physician assistant, dentist, podiatrist, veterinarian, or advanced practice registered nurse, the pharmacist or practitioner shall affix to the container in which such drug is sold or dispensed a label showing his or her own name and address of the pharmacy or practitioner for whom he or she is lawfully acting; the name of the patient or, if the patient is an animal, the name of the owner of the animal and the species of the animal; the name of the physician, physician assistant, dentist, podiatrist, advanced practice registered nurse, or veterinarian by whom the prescription was written; the name of the collaborating physician if the prescription is written by an advanced practice registered nurse or ~~the supervising physician if the prescription is written by~~ a physician assistant, and such directions as may be stated on the prescription. No person shall alter, deface, or remove any label so affixed.

195.550. 1. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section or any other law to the contrary, beginning January 1, 2021, no person shall issue any prescription in this state for any Schedule II, III, or IV controlled substance unless the prescription is made by electronic prescription from the person issuing the prescription to a pharmacy, except for prescriptions:

- (1) Issued by veterinarians;
- (2) Issued in circumstances where electronic prescribing is not available due to temporary technological or electrical failure;
- (3) Issued by a practitioner to be dispensed by a pharmacy located outside the state;
- (4) Issued when the prescriber and dispenser are the same entity;

(5) Issued that include elements that are not supported by the most recently implemented version of the National Council for Prescription Drug Programs Prescriber/Pharmacist Interface SCRIPT Standard;

(6) Issued by a practitioner for a drug that the federal Food and Drug Administration requires the prescription to contain certain elements that are not able to be accomplished with electronic processing;

(7) Issued by a practitioner allowing for the dispensing of a nonpatient specific prescription pursuant to a standing order, approved protocol for drug therapy, collaborative drug management or comprehensive medication management, in response to a public health emergency, or other circumstances where the practitioner may issue a nonpatient specific prescription;

(8) Issued by a practitioner prescribing a drug under a research protocol;

(9) Issued by practitioners who have received an annual waiver, or a renewal thereof, from the requirement to use electronic prescribing, pursuant to a process established in regulation by the department of health and senior services, due to economic hardship, technological limitations, or other exceptional circumstances demonstrated by the practitioner;

(10) Issued by a practitioner under circumstances where, notwithstanding the practitioner's present ability to make an electronic prescription as required by this subsection, such practitioner reasonably determines that it would be impractical for the patient to obtain substances prescribed by electronic prescription in a timely manner, and such delay would adversely impact the patient's medical condition; or

(11) Issued where the patient specifically requests a written prescription.

2. A pharmacist who receives a written, oral, or faxed prescription is not required to verify that the prescription properly falls under one of the exceptions from the requirement to electronically prescribe. Pharmacists may continue to dispense medications from otherwise valid written, oral, or fax prescriptions that are consistent with state and federal laws and regulations.

3. An individual who violates the provisions of this section may be subject to discipline by his or her professional licensing board.

196.100. 1. Any manufacturer, packer, distributor or seller of drugs or devices in this state shall comply with the current federal labeling requirements contained in the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, as amended, and any federal regulations promulgated thereunder. Any drug or device which contains labeling that is not in compliance with the provisions of this section shall be deemed misbranded.

2. A drug dispensed on an electronic prescription or a written prescription signed by a licensed physician, dentist, or veterinarian, except a drug dispensed in the course of the conduct of a business of dispensing drugs pursuant to a diagnosis by mail, shall be exempt from the requirements of this section if such physician, dentist, or veterinarian is licensed by law to administer such drug, and such drug bears a label containing the name and place of business of the dispenser, the serial number and date of such prescription, and the name of such physician, dentist, or veterinarian.

3. The department is hereby directed to promulgate regulations exempting from any labeling or packaging requirement of sections 196.010 to 196.120, drugs and devices which are, in accordance with the practice of the trade, to be processed, labeled, or repacked in substantial quantities at establishments other than those where originally processed or packed, on condition that such drugs and devices are not adulterated or misbranded under the provisions of said sections upon removal from such processing, labeling, or repacking establishment.

208.790. 1. The applicant shall have or intend to have a fixed place of residence in Missouri, with the present intent of maintaining a permanent home in Missouri for the indefinite future. The burden of establishing proof of residence within this state is on the applicant. The requirement also applies to persons residing in long-term care facilities located in the state of Missouri.

2. The department shall promulgate rules outlining standards for documenting proof of residence in Missouri. Documents used to show proof of residence shall include the applicant's name and address in the state of Missouri.

3. Applicant household income limits for eligibility shall be subject to appropriations, but in no event shall applicants have household income that is greater than one hundred eighty-five percent of the federal poverty level for the applicable family size for the applicable year as converted to the MAGI equivalent net income standard.

~~[The provisions of this subsection shall only apply to Medicaid dual eligible individuals.]~~

4. The department shall promulgate rules outlining standards for documenting proof of household income.

221.111. 1. A person commits the offense of possession of unlawful items in a prison or jail if such person knowingly delivers, attempts to deliver, possesses, deposits, or conceals in or about the premises of any correctional center as the term "correctional center" is defined under section 217.010, or any city, county, or private jail:

(1) Any controlled substance as that term is defined by law, except upon the written or electronic prescription of a licensed physician, dentist, or veterinarian;

(2) Any other alkaloid of any kind or any intoxicating liquor as the term intoxicating liquor is defined in section 311.020;

(3) Any article or item of personal property which a prisoner is prohibited by law, by rule made pursuant to section 221.060, or by regulation of the department of corrections from receiving or possessing, except as herein provided;

(4) Any gun, knife, weapon, or other article or item of personal property that may be used in such manner as to endanger the safety or security of the institution or as to endanger the life or limb of any prisoner or employee thereof.

2. The violation of subdivision (1) of subsection 1 of this section shall be a class D felony; the violation of subdivision (2) of this section shall be a class E felony; the violation of subdivision (3) of this section shall be a class A misdemeanor; and the violation of subdivision (4) of this section shall be a class B felony.

3. The chief operating officer of a county or city jail or other correctional facility or the administrator of a private jail may deny visitation privileges to or refer to the county prosecuting attorney for prosecution any person who knowingly delivers, attempts to deliver, possesses, deposits, or conceals in or about the premises of such jail or facility any personal item which is prohibited by rule or regulation of such jail or facility. Such rules or regulations, including a list of personal items allowed in the jail or facility, shall be prominently posted for viewing both inside and outside such jail or facility in an area accessible to any visitor, and shall be made available to any person requesting such rule or regulation. Violation of this subsection shall be an infraction if not covered by other statutes.

4. Any person who has been found guilty of a violation of subdivision (2) of subsection 1 of this section involving any alkaloid shall be entitled to expungement of the record of the violation. The procedure to expunge the record shall be pursuant to section 610.123. The record of any person shall not be expunged if such person has been found guilty of knowingly delivering, attempting to deliver, possessing, depositing, or concealing any alkaloid of any controlled substance in or about the premises of any correctional center, or city or county jail, or private prison or jail.

332.361. 1. For purposes of this section, the following terms shall mean:

(1) "Acute pain", shall have the same meaning as in section 195.010;

(2) "Long-acting or extended-release opioids", formulated in such a manner as to make the contained medicament available over an extended period of time following ingestion.

2. Any duly registered and currently licensed dentist in Missouri may write, and any pharmacist in Missouri who is currently licensed under the provisions of chapter 338 and any amendments thereto, may fill any prescription of a duly registered and currently licensed dentist in Missouri for any drug necessary or proper in the practice of dentistry, provided that no such prescription is in violation of either the Missouri or federal narcotic drug act.

~~[2-]~~ 3. Any duly registered and currently licensed dentist in Missouri may possess, have under his control, prescribe, administer, dispense, or distribute a "controlled substance" as that term is defined in section 195.010 only to the extent that:

(1) The dentist possesses the requisite valid federal and state registration to distribute or dispense that class of controlled substance;

(2) The dentist prescribes, administers, dispenses, or distributes the controlled substance in the course of his professional practice of dentistry, and for no other reason;

(3) A bona fide dentist-patient relationship exists; and

(4) The dentist possesses, has under his control, prescribes, administers, dispenses, or distributes the controlled substance in accord with all pertinent requirements of the federal and Missouri narcotic drug and controlled substances acts, including the keeping of records and inventories when required therein.

4. Long-acting or extended-release opioids shall not be used for the treatment of acute pain. If in the professional judgement of the dentist, a long-acting or extended-release opioid is necessary to treat the patient, the dentist shall document and explain in the patient's dental record the reason for the necessity for the long-acting or extended-release opioid.

5. Dentists shall avoid prescribing doses greater than fifty morphine milligram equivalent (MME) per day for treatment of acute pain. If in the professional judgement of the dentist, doses greater than fifty MME are necessary to treat the patient, the dentist shall document and explain in the patient's dental record the reason for the necessity for the dose greater than fifty MME. The relative potency of opioids is represented by a value assigned to individual opioids known as a morphine milligram equivalent (MME). The MME value represents how many milligrams of a particular opioid is equivalent to one milligram of morphine. The Missouri dental board shall maintain a MME conversion chart and instructions for calculating MME on its website to assist licensees with calculating MME.

338.010. 1. The "practice of pharmacy" means the interpretation, implementation, and evaluation of medical prescription orders, including any legend drugs under 21 U.S.C. Section 353; receipt, transmission, or handling of such orders or facilitating the dispensing of such orders; the designing, initiating, implementing, and monitoring of a medication therapeutic plan as defined by the prescription order so long as the prescription order is specific to each patient for care by a pharmacist; the compounding, dispensing, labeling, and administration of drugs and devices pursuant to medical prescription orders and administration of viral influenza, pneumonia, shingles, hepatitis A, hepatitis B, diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis, and meningitis vaccines by written protocol authorized by a physician for persons at least seven years of age or the age recommended by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, whichever is higher, or the administration of pneumonia, shingles, hepatitis A, hepatitis B, diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis, meningitis, and viral influenza vaccines by written protocol authorized by a physician for a specific patient as authorized by rule; the participation in drug selection according to state law and participation in drug utilization reviews; the proper and safe storage of drugs and devices and the maintenance of proper records thereof; consultation with patients and other health care practitioners, and veterinarians and their clients about legend drugs, about the safe and effective use of drugs and devices; the prescribing and dispensing of any nicotine replacement therapy product under section 338.665; and the offering or performing of those acts, services, operations, or transactions necessary in the conduct, operation, management and control of a pharmacy. No person shall engage in the practice of pharmacy unless he or she is licensed under the provisions of this chapter. This chapter shall not be construed to prohibit the use of auxiliary personnel under the direct supervision of a pharmacist from assisting the pharmacist in any of his or her duties. This assistance in no way is intended to relieve the pharmacist from his or her responsibilities for compliance with this chapter and he or she will be responsible for the actions of the auxiliary personnel acting in his or her assistance. This chapter shall also not be construed to prohibit or interfere with any legally registered practitioner of medicine, dentistry, or podiatry, or veterinary medicine only for use in animals, or the practice of optometry in accordance with and as provided in sections 195.070 and 336.220 in the compounding, administering, prescribing, or dispensing of his or her own prescriptions.

2. Any pharmacist who accepts a prescription order for a medication therapeutic plan shall have a written protocol from the physician who refers the patient for medication therapy services. The written protocol and the prescription order for a medication therapeutic plan shall come from the physician only, and shall not come from a nurse engaged in a collaborative practice arrangement under section 334.104, or from a physician assistant engaged in a ~~[supervision agreement]~~ collaborative practice arrangement under section 334.735.

3. Nothing in this section shall be construed as to prevent any person, firm or corporation from owning a pharmacy regulated by sections 338.210 to 338.315, provided that a licensed pharmacist is in charge of such pharmacy.

4. Nothing in this section shall be construed to apply to or interfere with the sale of nonprescription drugs and the ordinary household remedies and such drugs or medicines as are normally sold by those engaged in the sale of general merchandise.

5. No health carrier as defined in chapter 376 shall require any physician with which they contract to enter into a written protocol with a pharmacist for medication therapeutic services.

6. This section shall not be construed to allow a pharmacist to diagnose or independently prescribe pharmaceuticals.

7. The state board of registration for the healing arts, under section 334.125, and the state board of pharmacy, under section 338.140, shall jointly promulgate rules regulating the use of protocols for prescription orders for medication therapy services and administration of viral influenza vaccines. Such rules shall require protocols to include provisions allowing for timely communication between the pharmacist and the referring physician, and any other patient protection provisions deemed appropriate by both boards. In order to take effect, such rules shall be approved by a majority vote of a quorum of each board. Neither board shall separately promulgate rules regulating the use of protocols for prescription orders for medication therapy services and administration of viral influenza vaccines. Any rule or portion of a rule, as that term is defined in section 536.010, that is created under the authority delegated in this section shall become effective only if it complies with and is subject to all of the provisions of chapter 536 and, if applicable, section 536.028. This section and chapter 536 are nonseverable and if any of the powers vested with the general assembly pursuant to chapter 536 to review, to delay the effective date, or to disapprove and annul a rule are subsequently held unconstitutional, then the grant of rulemaking authority and any rule proposed or adopted after August 28, 2007, shall be invalid and void.

8. The state board of pharmacy may grant a certificate of medication therapeutic plan authority to a licensed pharmacist who submits proof of successful completion of a board-approved course of academic clinical study beyond a bachelor of science in pharmacy, including but not limited to clinical assessment skills, from a nationally accredited college or university, or a certification of equivalence issued by a nationally recognized professional organization and approved by the board of pharmacy.

9. Any pharmacist who has received a certificate of medication therapeutic plan authority may engage in the designing, initiating, implementing, and monitoring of a medication therapeutic plan as defined by a prescription order from a physician that is specific to each patient for care by a pharmacist.

10. Nothing in this section shall be construed to allow a pharmacist to make a therapeutic substitution of a pharmaceutical prescribed by a physician unless authorized by the written protocol or the physician's prescription order.

11. "Veterinarian", "doctor of veterinary medicine", "practitioner of veterinary medicine", "DVM", "VMD", "BVSe", "BVMS", "BSe (Vet Science)", "VMB", "MRCVS", or an equivalent title means a person who has received a doctor's degree in veterinary medicine from an accredited school of veterinary medicine or holds an Educational Commission for Foreign Veterinary Graduates (EDFVG) certificate issued by the American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA).

12. In addition to other requirements established by the joint promulgation of rules by the board of pharmacy and the state board of registration for the healing arts:

(1) A pharmacist shall administer vaccines by protocol in accordance with treatment guidelines established by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC);

(2) A pharmacist who is administering a vaccine shall request a patient to remain in the pharmacy a safe amount of time after administering the vaccine to observe any adverse reactions. Such pharmacist shall have adopted emergency treatment protocols;

(3) In addition to other requirements by the board, a pharmacist shall receive additional training as required by the board and evidenced by receiving a certificate from the board upon completion, and shall display the certification in his or her pharmacy where vaccines are delivered.

13. A pharmacist shall inform the patient that the administration of the vaccine will be entered into the ShowMeVax system, as administered by the department of health and senior services. The patient shall attest to the inclusion of such information in the system by signing a form provided by the pharmacist. If the patient indicates that he or she does not want such information entered into the ShowMeVax system, the pharmacist shall provide a written report within fourteen days of administration of a vaccine to the patient's primary health care provider, if provided by the patient, containing:

- (1) The identity of the patient;
- (2) The identity of the vaccine or vaccines administered;
- (3) The route of administration;
- (4) The anatomic site of the administration;
- (5) The dose administered; and
- (6) The date of administration.

338.015. 1. The provisions of sections 338.010 to 338.015 shall not be construed to inhibit the patient's freedom of choice to obtain prescription services from any licensed pharmacist. However, nothing in sections 338.010 to 338.315 abrogates the patient's ability to waive freedom of choice under any contract with regard to payment or coverage of prescription expense.

2. All pharmacists may provide pharmaceutical consultation and advice to persons concerning the safe and therapeutic use of their prescription drugs.

3. All patients shall have the right to receive a written prescription from their prescriber to take to the facility of their choice or to have an electronic prescription transmitted to the facility of their choice.

338.055. 1. The board may refuse to issue any certificate of registration or authority, permit or license required pursuant to this chapter for one or any combination of causes stated in subsection 2 of this section or if the designated pharmacist-in-charge, manager-in-charge, or any officer, owner, manager, or controlling shareholder of the applicant has committed any act or practice in subsection 2 of this section. The board shall notify the applicant in writing of the reasons for the refusal and shall advise the applicant of his or her right to file a complaint with the administrative hearing commission as provided by chapter 621.

2. The board may cause a complaint to be filed with the administrative hearing commission as provided by chapter 621 against any holder of any certificate of registration or authority, permit or license required by this chapter or any person who has failed to renew or has surrendered his or her certificate of registration or authority, permit or license for any one or any combination of the following causes:

(1) Use of any controlled substance, as defined in chapter 195, or alcoholic beverage to an extent that such use impairs a person's ability to perform the work of any profession licensed or regulated by this chapter;

(2) The person has been finally adjudicated and found guilty, or entered a plea of guilty or nolo contendere, in a criminal prosecution under the laws of any state or of the United States, for any offense reasonably related to the qualifications, functions or duties of any profession licensed or regulated under this chapter, for any offense an essential element of which is fraud, dishonesty or an act of violence, or for any offense involving moral turpitude, whether or not sentence is imposed;

(3) Use of fraud, deception, misrepresentation or bribery in securing any certificate of registration or authority, permit or license issued pursuant to this chapter or in obtaining permission to take any examination given or required pursuant to this chapter;

(4) Obtaining or attempting to obtain any fee, charge, tuition or other compensation by fraud, deception or misrepresentation;

(5) Incompetence, misconduct, gross negligence, fraud, misrepresentation or dishonesty in the performance of the functions or duties of any profession licensed or regulated by this chapter;

(6) Violation of, or assisting or enabling any person to violate, any provision of this chapter, or of any lawful rule or regulation adopted pursuant to this chapter;

(7) Impersonation of any person holding a certificate of registration or authority, permit or license or allowing any person to use his or her certificate of registration or authority, permit, license, or diploma from any school;

(8) Denial of licensure to an applicant or disciplinary action against an applicant or the holder of a license or other right to practice any profession regulated by this chapter granted by another state, territory, federal agency, or country whether or not voluntarily agreed to by the licensee or applicant, including, but not limited to, surrender of the license upon grounds for which denial or discipline is authorized in this state;

(9) A person is finally adjudged incapacitated by a court of competent jurisdiction;

(10) Assisting or enabling any person to practice or offer to practice any profession licensed or regulated by this chapter who is not registered and currently eligible to practice under this chapter;

(11) Issuance of a certificate of registration or authority, permit or license based upon a material mistake of fact;

(12) Failure to display a valid certificate or license if so required by this chapter or any rule promulgated hereunder;

(13) Violation of any professional trust or confidence;

(14) Use of any advertisement or solicitation which is false, misleading or deceptive to the general public or persons to whom the advertisement or solicitation is primarily directed;

(15) Violation of the drug laws or rules and regulations of this state, any other state or the federal government;

(16) The intentional act of substituting or otherwise changing the content, formula or brand of any drug prescribed by written, electronic, or oral prescription without prior written or oral approval from the prescriber for the respective change in each prescription; provided, however, that nothing contained herein shall prohibit a pharmacist from substituting or changing the brand of any drug as provided under section 338.056, and any such substituting or changing of the brand of any drug as provided for in section 338.056 shall not be deemed unprofessional or dishonorable conduct unless a violation of section 338.056 occurs;

(17) Personal use or consumption of any controlled substance unless it is prescribed, dispensed, or administered by a health care provider who is authorized by law to do so.

3. After the filing of such complaint, the proceedings shall be conducted in accordance with the provisions of chapter 621. Upon a finding by the administrative hearing commission that the grounds, provided in subsection 2 of this section, for disciplinary action are met, the board may, singly or in combination, censure or place the person named in the complaint on probation on such terms and conditions as the board deems appropriate for a period not to exceed five years, or may suspend, for a period not to exceed three years, or revoke the license, certificate, or permit. The board may impose additional discipline on a licensee, registrant, or permittee found to have violated any disciplinary terms previously imposed under this section or by agreement. The additional discipline may include, singly or in combination, censure, placing the licensee, registrant, or permittee named in the complaint on additional probation on such terms and conditions as the board deems appropriate, which additional probation shall not exceed five years, or suspension for a period not to exceed three years, or revocation of the license, certificate, or permit.

4. If the board concludes that a licensee or registrant has committed an act or is engaging in a course of conduct which would be grounds for disciplinary action which constitutes a clear and present danger to the public health and safety, the board may file a complaint before the administrative hearing commission requesting an expedited hearing and specifying the activities which give rise to the danger and the nature of the proposed restriction or suspension of the licensee's or registrant's license. Within fifteen days after service of the complaint on the licensee or registrant, the administrative hearing commission shall conduct a preliminary hearing to determine whether the alleged activities of the licensee or registrant appear to constitute a clear and present danger to the public health and safety which justify that the licensee's or registrant's license or registration be immediately restricted or suspended. The burden of proving that the actions of a licensee or registrant constitute a clear and present danger to the public health and safety shall be upon the state board of pharmacy. The administrative hearing commission shall issue its decision immediately after the hearing and shall either grant to the board the authority to suspend or restrict the license or dismiss the action.

5. If the administrative hearing commission grants temporary authority to the board to restrict or suspend the licensee's or registrant's license, such temporary authority of the board shall become final authority if there is no request by the licensee or registrant for a full hearing within thirty days of the preliminary hearing. The administrative hearing commission shall, if requested by the licensee or registrant named in the complaint, set a date to hold a full hearing under the provisions of chapter 621 regarding the activities alleged in the initial complaint filed by the board.

6. If the administrative hearing commission dismisses the action filed by the board pursuant to subsection 4 of this section, such dismissal shall not bar the board from initiating a subsequent action on the same grounds.

338.056. 1. Except as provided in subsection 2 of this section, the pharmacist filling prescription orders for drug products prescribed by trade or brand name may select another drug product with the same active chemical ingredients of the same strength, quantity and dosage form, and of the same generic drug or interchangeable biological product type, as determined by the United States Adopted Names and accepted by the Federal Food and Drug Administration. Selection pursuant to this section is within the discretion of the pharmacist, except as provided in subsection 2 of this section. The pharmacist who selects the drug or interchangeable biological product to be dispensed pursuant to this section shall assume the same responsibility for selecting the dispensed drug or biological product as would be incurred in filling a prescription for a drug or interchangeable biological product prescribed by generic or interchangeable biologic name. The pharmacist shall not select a drug or interchangeable biological product pursuant to this section unless the product selected costs the patient less than the prescribed product.

2. A pharmacist who receives a prescription for a brand name drug or biological product may select a less expensive generically equivalent or interchangeable biological product unless:

- (1) The patient requests a brand name drug or biological product; or
- (2) The prescribing practitioner indicates that substitution is prohibited or displays "brand medically necessary", "dispense as written", "do not substitute", "DAW", or words of similar import on the prescription.

3. No prescription shall be valid without the signature of the prescriber, except an electronic prescription.

4. If an oral prescription is involved, the practitioner or the practitioner's agent, communicating the instructions to the pharmacist, shall instruct the pharmacist as to whether or not a therapeutically equivalent generic drug or interchangeable biological product may be substituted. The pharmacist shall note the instructions on the file copy of the prescription.

5. Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection 2 of this section to the contrary, a pharmacist may fill a prescription for a brand name drug by substituting a generically equivalent drug or interchangeable biological product when substitution is allowed in accordance with the laws of the state where the prescribing practitioner is located.

6. Violations of this section are infractions.

338.095. 1. The terms "prescription" and "prescription drug order" are hereby defined as a lawful order for medications or devices issued and signed by an authorized prescriber within the scope of his professional practice which is to be dispensed or administered by a pharmacist or dispensed or administered pursuant to section 334.104 to and for the ultimate user. The terms "prescription" and "drug order" do not include an order for medication requiring a prescription to be dispensed, which is provided for the immediate administration to the ultimate user or recipient.

2. The term "telephone prescription" is defined as an order for medications or devices transmitted to a pharmacist by telephone or similar electronic medium by an authorized prescriber or his authorized agent acting in the course of his professional practice which is to be dispensed or administered by a pharmacist or dispensed or administered pursuant to section 334.104 to and for the ultimate user. A telephone prescription shall be promptly reduced to written or electronic medium by the pharmacist and shall comply with all laws governing prescriptions and record keeping.

3. A licensed pharmacist may lawfully provide prescription or medical information to a licensed health care provider or his agent who is legally qualified to administer medications and treatments and who is involved in the treatment of the patient. The information may be derived by direct contact with the prescriber or through a written protocol approved by the prescriber. Such information shall authorize the provider to administer appropriate medications and treatments.

197.318. 1. As used in this section, the term "licensed and available" means beds which are actually in place and for which a license has been issued.

2. The committee shall review all letters of intent and applications for long-term care hospital beds meeting the requirements described in 42 CFR, Section 412.23(e) under its criteria and standards for long-term care beds.

3. Sections 197.300 to 197.366 shall not be construed to apply to litigation pending in state court on or before April 1, 1996, in which the Missouri health facilities review committee is a defendant in an action concerning the application of sections 197.300 to 197.366 to long-term care hospital beds meeting the requirements described in 42 CFR, Section 412.23(e).

4. Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter to the contrary:

(1) A facility licensed pursuant to chapter 198 may increase its licensed bed capacity by:

(a) Submitting a letter of intent to expand to the department of health and senior services and the health facilities review committee;

(b) Certification from the department of health and senior services that the facility:

a. Has no patient care class I deficiencies within the last eighteen months; and

b. Has maintained ~~a ninety percent~~ an eighty-five percent average occupancy rate for the previous six quarters;

(c) Has made an effort to purchase beds for eighteen months following the date the letter of intent to expand is submitted pursuant to paragraph (a) of this subdivision. For purposes of this paragraph, an "effort to purchase" means a copy certified by the offeror as an offer to purchase beds from another licensed facility in the same licensure category; and

(d) If an agreement is reached by the selling and purchasing entities, the health facilities review committee shall issue a certificate of need for the expansion of the purchaser facility upon surrender of the seller's license; or

(e) If no agreement is reached by the selling and purchasing entities, the health facilities review committee shall permit an expansion for:

a. A facility with more than forty beds may expand its licensed bed capacity within the same licensure category by twenty-five percent or thirty beds, whichever is greater, if that same licensure category in such facility has experienced an average occupancy of ninety-three percent or greater over the previous six quarters;

b. A facility with fewer than forty beds may expand its licensed bed capacity within the same licensure category by twenty-five percent or ten beds, whichever is greater, if that same licensure category in such facility has experienced an average occupancy of ninety-two percent or greater over the previous six quarters;

c. A facility adding beds pursuant to subparagraphs a. or b. of this paragraph shall not expand by more than fifty percent of its then licensed bed capacity in the qualifying licensure category;

(2) Any beds sold shall, for five years from the date of relicensure by the purchaser, remain unlicensed and unused for any long-term care service in the selling facility, whether they do or do not require a license;

(3) The beds purchased shall, for two years from the date of purchase, remain in the bed inventory attributed to the selling facility and be considered by the department of social services as licensed and available for purposes of this section;

(4) Any residential care facility licensed pursuant to chapter 198 may relocate any portion of such facility's current licensed beds to any other facility to be licensed within the same licensure category if both facilities are under the same licensure ownership or control, and are located within six miles of each other;

(5) A facility licensed pursuant to chapter 198 may transfer or sell individual long-term care licensed and available beds to facilities qualifying pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of subdivision (1) of this subsection. Any facility which transfers or sells licensed and available beds shall not expand its licensed bed capacity in that licensure category for a period of five years from the date the licensure is relinquished and until the average occupancy of licensed and available beds in that licensure category within a fifteen-mile radius is eighty-five percent for the prior six quarters. Any facility which transfers or sells licensed and available beds shall have an average occupancy rate of less than seventy percent in the last six quarters.

5. Any existing licensed and operating health care facility offering long-term care services may replace one-half of its licensed beds at the same site or a site not more than thirty miles from its current location if, for at least the most recent four consecutive calendar quarters, the facility operates only fifty percent of its then licensed capacity with every resident residing in a private room. In such case:

(1) The facility shall report to the health and senior services vacant beds as unavailable for occupancy for at least the most recent four consecutive calendar quarters;

(2) The replacement beds shall be built to private room specifications and only used for single occupancy; and

(3) The existing facility and proposed facility shall have the same owner or owners, regardless of corporate or business structure, and such owner or owners shall stipulate in writing that the existing facility beds to be replaced will not later be used to provide long-term care services. If the facility is being operated under a lease, both the lessee and the owner of the existing facility shall stipulate the same in writing.

6. Nothing in this section shall prohibit a health care facility licensed pursuant to chapter 198 from being replaced in its entirety within fifteen miles of its existing site so long as the existing facility and proposed or replacement facility have the same owner or owners regardless of corporate or business structure and the health care facility being replaced remains unlicensed and unused for any long-term care services whether they do or do not require a license from the date of licensure of the replacement facility.

208.225. 1. To implement fully the provisions of section 208.152, the MO HealthNet division shall calculate the Medicaid per diem reimbursement rates of each nursing home participating in the Medicaid program as a provider of nursing home services based on its costs reported in the Title XIX cost report filed with the MO HealthNet division for its fiscal year as provided in subsection 2 of this section.

2. The recalculation of Medicaid rates to all Missouri facilities will be performed as follows: effective July 1, 2004, the department of social services shall use the Medicaid cost report containing adjusted costs for the facility fiscal year ending in 2001 and redetermine the allowable per-patient day costs for each facility. The department shall recalculate the class ceilings in the patient care, one hundred twenty percent of the median; ancillary, one hundred twenty percent of the median; and administration, one hundred ten percent of the median cost centers. Each facility shall receive as a rate increase one-third of the amount that is unpaid based on the recalculated cost determination.

3. Any intermediate care facility or skilled nursing facility, as such terms are defined in section 198.006, participating in MO HealthNet that incurs total capital expenditures, as such term is defined in section 197.305, in excess of two thousand dollars per bed shall be entitled to obtain from the MO HealthNet division a recalculation of its Medicaid per diem reimbursement rate based on its additional capital costs or all costs incurred during the facility fiscal year during which such capital expenditures were made. Such recalculated reimbursement rate shall become effective and payable when granted by the MO HealthNet division as of the date of application for a rate adjustment."; and

"334.034. 1. An assistant physician with a license in good standing may be eligible to become a licensed physician if the assistant physician has completed:

(1) Step 3 of the United States Medical Licensing Examination or the equivalent of such step of any board-approved medical licensing examination in less than three attempts and within a three-year period after receiving his or her initial assistant physician license;

(2) Five years of continuous, full-time, active collaborating practice. Any time the assistant physician was not working within a collaborative practice arrangement with a collaborating physician shall not count toward the five-year requirement;

(3) One hundred hours of didactics during the five-year postgraduate training. Didactic training shall be presented by the collaborating physician or any individual that the collaborating physician deems qualified to teach. Didactic hours shall be logged and retained for a period of five years; and

2. Upon completion of subdivisions (1) to (4) of subsection 1 of this section, the assistant physician shall be eligible for licensure as a physician with the state of Missouri and eligible to sit for board certification or any other appropriate advanced fellowships or certifications.

3. Any assistant physician obtaining licensure as a physician under this section shall be fully licensed as a physician and shall be subject to all statutes and regulations pertaining to physicians.

4. Any assistant physician obtaining licensure as a physician under this section shall practice as a physician in Missouri for a minimum of two years. Failure to practice for a minimum of two years shall be cause for the revocation of the license.

334.035. Except as otherwise provided in section 334.034 or 334.036, every applicant for a permanent license as a physician and surgeon shall provide the board with satisfactory evidence of having successfully completed such postgraduate training in hospitals or medical or osteopathic colleges as the board may prescribe by rule.

334.037. 1. A physician may enter into collaborative practice arrangements with assistant physicians. Collaborative practice arrangements shall be in the form of written agreements, jointly agreed-upon protocols, or standing orders for the delivery of health care services. Collaborative practice arrangements, which shall be in writing, may delegate to an assistant physician the authority to administer or dispense drugs and provide treatment as long as the delivery of such health care services is within the scope of practice of the assistant physician and is consistent with that assistant physician's skill, training, and competence and the skill and training of the collaborating physician.

2. The written collaborative practice arrangement shall contain at least the following provisions:

- (1) Complete names, home and business addresses, zip codes, and telephone numbers of the collaborating physician and the assistant physician;
- (2) A list of all other offices or locations besides those listed in subdivision (1) of this subsection where the collaborating physician authorized the assistant physician to prescribe;

- (4) All specialty or board certifications of the collaborating physician and all certifications of the assistant physician;
- (5) The manner of collaboration between the collaborating physician and the assistant physician, including how the collaborating physician and the assistant physician shall:
 - (a) Engage in collaborative practice consistent with each professional's skill, training, education, and competence;
 - (b) Maintain geographic proximity; except, the collaborative practice arrangement may allow for geographic proximity to be waived for a maximum of twenty-eight days per calendar year for rural health clinics as defined by Pub. L. 95-210 (42 U.S.C. Section 1395x), as amended, as long as the collaborative practice arrangement includes alternative plans as required in paragraph (c) of this subdivision. Such exception to geographic proximity shall apply only to independent rural health clinics, provider-based rural health clinics if the provider is a critical access hospital as provided in 42 U.S.C. Section 1395i-4, and provider-based rural health clinics if the main location of the hospital sponsor is greater than fifty miles from the clinic. The collaborating physician shall maintain documentation related to such requirement and present it to the state board of registration for the healing arts when requested; and
 - (c) Provide coverage during absence, incapacity, infirmity, or emergency by the collaborating physician;
- (6) A description of the assistant physician's controlled substance prescriptive authority in collaboration with the physician, including a list of the controlled substances the physician authorizes the assistant physician to prescribe and documentation that it is consistent with each professional's education, knowledge, skill, and competence;
- (7) A list of all other written practice agreements of the collaborating physician and the assistant physician;
- (8) The duration of the written practice agreement between the collaborating physician and the assistant physician;
- (9) A description of the time and manner of the collaborating physician's review of the assistant physician's delivery of health care services. The description shall include provisions that the assistant physician shall submit a minimum of ten percent of the charts documenting the assistant physician's delivery of health care services to the collaborating physician for review by the collaborating physician, or any other physician designated in the collaborative practice arrangement, every fourteen days; and
- (10) The collaborating physician, or any other physician designated in the collaborative practice arrangement, shall review every fourteen days a minimum of twenty percent of the charts in which the assistant physician prescribes controlled substances. The charts reviewed under this subdivision may be counted in the number of charts required to be reviewed under subdivision (9) of this subsection.

3. The board shall complete all applications submitted by an assistant physician who has entered into a collaborative practice arrangement with a collaborating physician within thirty days of submission.

4. The state board of registration for the healing arts under section 334.125 shall promulgate rules regulating the use of collaborative practice arrangements for assistant physicians. Such rules shall specify:

(1) Geographic areas to be covered;

(2) The methods of treatment that may be covered by collaborative practice arrangements;

(3) In conjunction with deans of medical schools and primary care residency program directors in the state, the development and implementation of educational methods and programs undertaken during the collaborative practice service which shall facilitate the advancement of the assistant physician's medical knowledge and capabilities, and which may lead to credit toward a future residency program for programs that deem such documented educational achievements acceptable; and

(4) The requirements for review of services provided under collaborative practice arrangements, including delegating authority to prescribe controlled substances.

Any rules relating to dispensing or distribution of medications or devices by prescription or prescription drug orders under this section shall be subject to the approval of the state board of pharmacy. Any rules relating to dispensing or distribution of controlled substances by prescription or prescription drug orders under this section shall be subject to the approval of the department of health and senior services and the state board of pharmacy. The state board of registration for the healing arts shall promulgate rules applicable to assistant physicians that shall be consistent with guidelines for federally funded clinics. The rulemaking authority granted in this subsection shall not extend to collaborative practice arrangements of hospital employees providing inpatient care within hospitals as defined in chapter 197 or population-based public health services as defined by 20 CSR 2150- 5.100 as of April 30, 2008.

~~[4-]~~ 5. The state board of registration for the healing arts shall not deny, revoke, suspend, or otherwise take disciplinary action against a collaborating physician for health care services delegated to an assistant physician provided the provisions of this section and the rules promulgated thereunder are satisfied.

~~[5-]~~ 6. Within thirty days of any change and on each renewal, the state board of registration for the healing arts shall require every physician to identify whether the physician is engaged in any collaborative practice arrangement, including collaborative practice arrangements delegating the authority to prescribe controlled substances, and also report to the board the name of each assistant physician with whom the physician has entered into such arrangement. The board may make such information available to the public. The board shall track the reported information and may routinely conduct random reviews of such arrangements to ensure that arrangements are carried out for compliance under this chapter.

~~[6-]~~ 7. A collaborating physician or supervising physician shall not enter into a collaborative practice arrangement or supervision agreement with more than six full-time equivalent assistant physicians, full-time equivalent physician assistants, or full-time equivalent advance practice registered nurses, or any combination thereof. Such limitation shall not apply to collaborative arrangements of hospital employees providing inpatient care service in hospitals as defined in chapter 197 or population-based public health services as defined by 20 CSR 2150-5.100 as of April 30, 2008, or to a certified registered nurse anesthetist providing anesthesia services under the supervision of an anesthesiologist or other physician, dentist, or podiatrist who is immediately available if needed as set out in subsection 7 of section 334.104.

~~[7-]~~ 8. The collaborating physician shall determine and document the completion of at least a one-month period of time during which the assistant physician shall practice with the collaborating physician continuously present before practicing in a setting where the collaborating physician is not continuously present. Once the assistant physician has completed the one-month time period required under this subsection, the assistant physician shall be exempt from the training required under this subsection in the event there is a change in collaborating physicians. No rule or regulation shall require the collaborating physician to review more than ten percent of the assistant physician's patient charts or records during such one-month period. Such limitation shall not apply to collaborative arrangements of providers of population-based public health services as defined by 20 CSR 2150-5.100 as of April 30, 2008. The collaborating physician may utilize any other qualified, fully licensed physician on his or her staff to help oversee, train, and review the records of an assistant physician during the assistant physician's one-month training period.

~~[8-]~~ 9. No agreement made under this section shall supersede current hospital licensing regulations governing hospital medication orders under protocols or standing orders for the purpose of delivering inpatient or emergency care within a hospital as defined in section 197.020 if such protocols or standing orders have been approved by the hospital's medical staff and pharmaceutical therapeutics committee.

~~[9-]~~ 10. No contract or other agreement shall require a physician to act as a collaborating physician for an assistant physician against the physician's will. A physician shall have the right to refuse to act as a collaborating physician, without penalty, for a particular assistant physician. No contract or other agreement shall limit the collaborating physician's ultimate authority over any protocols or standing orders or in the delegation of the physician's authority to any assistant physician, but such requirement shall not authorize a physician in implementing such protocols, standing orders, or delegation to violate applicable standards for safe medical practice established by a hospital's medical staff.

~~[10-]~~ 11. No contract or other agreement shall require any assistant physician to serve as a collaborating assistant physician for any collaborating physician against the assistant physician's will. An assistant physician shall have the right to refuse to collaborate, without penalty, with a particular physician.

~~[11-]~~ 12. All collaborating physicians and assistant physicians in collaborative practice arrangements shall wear identification badges while acting within the scope of their collaborative practice arrangement. The identification badges shall prominently display the licensure status of such collaborating physicians and assistant physicians.

~~[12-]~~ 13. (1) An assistant physician with a certificate of controlled substance prescriptive authority as provided in this section may prescribe any controlled substance listed in Schedule III, IV, or V of section 195.017, and may have restricted authority in Schedule II, when delegated the authority to prescribe controlled substances in a collaborative practice arrangement. Prescriptions for Schedule II medications prescribed by an assistant physician who has a certificate of controlled substance prescriptive authority are restricted to only those medications containing hydrocodone. Such authority shall be filed with the state board of registration for the healing arts. The collaborating physician shall maintain the right to limit a specific scheduled drug or scheduled drug category that the assistant physician is permitted to prescribe. Any limitations shall be listed in the collaborative practice arrangement. Assistant physicians shall not prescribe controlled substances for themselves or members of their families. Schedule III controlled substances and Schedule II - hydrocodone prescriptions shall be limited to a five-day supply without refill, except that buprenorphine may be prescribed for up to a thirty-day supply without refill for patients receiving medication-assisted treatment for substance use disorders under the direction of the collaborating physician. Assistant physicians who are authorized to prescribe controlled substances under this section shall register with the federal Drug Enforcement Administration and the state bureau of narcotics and dangerous drugs, and shall include the Drug Enforcement Administration registration number on prescriptions for controlled substances.

(2) The collaborating physician shall be responsible to determine and document the completion of at least one hundred twenty hours in a four-month period by the assistant physician during which the assistant physician shall practice with the collaborating physician on-site prior to prescribing controlled substances when the collaborating physician is not on-site. Such limitation shall not apply to assistant physicians of population-based public health services as defined in 20 CSR 2150-5.100 as of April 30, 2009, or assistant physicians providing opioid addiction treatment.

(3) An assistant physician shall receive a certificate of controlled substance prescriptive authority from the state board of registration for the healing arts upon verification of licensure under section 334.036.

~~[13-]~~ 14. Nothing in this section or section 334.036 shall be construed to limit the authority of hospitals or hospital medical staff to make employment or medical staff credentialing or privileging decisions.

334.040. 1. Except as provided in section 334.034 or 334.260, all persons desiring to practice as physicians and surgeons in this state shall be examined as to their fitness to engage in such practice by the board. All persons applying for examination shall file a completed application with the board upon forms furnished by the board.

2. The examination shall be sufficient to test the applicant's fitness to practice as a physician and surgeon. The examination shall be conducted in such a manner as to conceal the identity of the applicant until all examinations have been scored. In all such examinations an average score of not less than seventy-five percent is required to pass; provided, however, that the board may require applicants to take the Federation Licensing Examination, also known as FLEX, or the United States Medical Licensing Examination (USMLE). If the FLEX examination is required, a weighted average score of no less than seventy-five is required to pass. Scores from one test administration of an examination shall not be combined or averaged with scores from other test administrations to achieve a passing score. Applicants graduating from a medical or osteopathic college, as described in section 334.031 prior to January 1, 1994, shall provide proof of successful completion of the FLEX, USMLE, the National Board of Osteopathic Medical Examiners Comprehensive Licensing Exam (COMLEX), a state board examination approved by the board, compliance with subsection 2 of section 334.031, or compliance with 20 CSR 2150-2.005. Applicants graduating from a medical or osteopathic college, as described in section 334.031 on or after January 1, 1994, must provide proof of successful completion of the USMLE or the COMLEX or provide proof of compliance with subsection 2 of section 334.031. The board shall not issue a permanent license as a physician and surgeon or allow the Missouri state board examination to be administered to any applicant who has failed to achieve a passing score within three attempts on licensing examinations administered in one or more states or territories of the United States, the District of Columbia or Canada. The steps one, two and three of the United States Medical Licensing Examination or the National Board of Osteopathic Medical Examiners Comprehensive Licensing Exam shall be taken within a seven-year period with no more than three attempts on any step of the examination; however, the board may grant an extension of the seven-year period if the applicant has obtained a MD/PhD degree in a program accredited by the Liaison Committee on Medical Education (LCME) and a regional university accrediting body or a DO/PhD degree accredited by the American Osteopathic Association and a regional university accrediting body. The board may waive the provisions of this section if the applicant is licensed to practice as a physician and surgeon in another state of the United States, the District of Columbia or Canada and the applicant has achieved a passing score on a licensing examination administered in a state or territory of the United States or the District of Columbia and no license issued to the applicant has been disciplined in any state or territory of the United States or the District of Columbia.

3. If the board waives the provisions of this section, then the license issued to the applicant may be limited or restricted to the applicant's board specialty. The board shall not be permitted to favor any particular school or system of healing.

4. If an applicant has not actively engaged in the practice of clinical medicine or held a teaching or faculty position in a medical or osteopathic school approved by the American Medical Association, the Liaison Committee on Medical Education, or the American Osteopathic Association for any two years in the three-year period immediately preceding the filing of his or her application for licensure, the board may require successful completion of another examination, continuing medical education, or further training before issuing a permanent license. The board shall adopt rules to prescribe the form and manner of such reexamination, continuing medical education, and training."; and

Further amend said bill by amending the title, enacting clause, and intersectional references accordingly.

House Amendment No. 12

AMEND Senate Bill No. 358, Page 2, Section 191.607, Line 16, by inserting after all of said line the following:

"382.010. As used in sections 382.010 to 382.300, the following words and terms have the meanings indicated unless the context clearly requires otherwise:

(1) An "affiliate" of, or person "affiliated" with, a specific person, is a person that directly, or indirectly through one or more intermediaries, controls, or is controlled by, or is under common control with, the person specified;

(2) "Control", "controlling", "controlled by", or "under common control with", the possession, direct or indirect, of the power to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of a person, whether through the ownership of voting securities, by contract other than a commercial contract for goods or nonmanagement services, or otherwise, unless the power is the result of an official position with or corporate office held by the person. Control shall be presumed to exist if any person, directly or indirectly, owns, controls, holds with power to vote, or holds proxies representing, ten percent or more of the voting securities of any other person. This presumption may be rebutted by a showing made in the manner provided by section 382.170 that control does not exist in fact. The director may determine, after furnishing all persons in interest notice and opportunity to be heard and making specific findings of fact to support such determination, that control exists in fact, notwithstanding the absence of a presumption to that effect;

(3) "Director", the director of the department of insurance, financial institutions and professional registration, his or her deputies, or the department of insurance, financial institutions and professional registration, as appropriate;

(4) "Enterprise risk", any activity, circumstance, event, or series of events involving one or more affiliates of an insurer that, if not remedied promptly, is likely to have a material adverse effect upon the financial condition or liquidity of the insurer or its insurance holding company system as a whole including, but not limited to, anything that would cause the insurer's risk-based capital to fall into company action level as set forth in section 375.1255 or would cause the insurer to be in hazardous financial condition as set forth in section 375.539;

(5) "Group-wide supervisor", the regulatory official authorized to engage in conducting and coordinating group-wide supervisory activities who is determined or acknowledged by the director, under section 382.227, to have sufficient significant contacts with the internationally active insurance group;

(6) "Insurance holding company system", two or more affiliated persons, one or more of which is an insurer;

~~[(6)]~~ (7) "Insurer", an insurance company as defined in section 375.012, including a reciprocal or interinsurance exchange, and which is qualified and licensed by the department of insurance, financial institutions and professional registration of Missouri to transact the business of insurance in this state; but it shall not include any company organized and doing business under chapter 377, 378, or 380, agencies, authorities, or instrumentalities of the United States, its possessions and territories, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the District of Columbia, or a state or political subdivision of a state;

~~[(7)]~~ (8) "Internationally active insurance group", an insurance holding company system that includes an insurer registered under sections 382.100 to 382.180, and meets the following criteria:

(a) Premiums written in at least three countries;

(b) The percentage of gross premiums written outside the United States is at least ten percent of the insurance holding company system's total gross written premiums; and

(c) Based on a three-year rolling average, the total assets of the insurance holding company system are at least fifty billion dollars, or the total gross written premiums of the insurance holding company system are at least ten billion dollars;

(9) "Person", an individual, corporation, limited liability company, partnership, association, joint stock company, trust, unincorporated organization, or any similar entity, or any combination of the foregoing acting in concert, but shall not include any joint venture partnership exclusively engaged in owning, managing, leasing, or developing real or tangible personal property;

~~[(8)]~~ (10) A "securityholder" of a specified person is one who owns any security of that person, including common stock, preferred stock, debt obligations, and any other security convertible into or evidencing the right to acquire any of the foregoing;

382.227. 1. The director is authorized to act as the group-wide supervisor for any internationally active insurance group in accordance with the provisions of this section. However, the director may otherwise acknowledge another regulatory official as the group-wide supervisor if the internationally active insurance group:

(1) Does not have substantial insurance operations in the United States;

(2) Has substantial insurance operations in the United States but not in this state; or

(3) Has substantial insurance operations in the United States and in this state but the director has determined, pursuant to the factors set forth in subsections 3 and 9 of this section, that another regulatory official is the appropriate group-wide supervisor.

2. An insurance holding company system that does not otherwise qualify as an internationally active insurance group may request that the director make a determination or acknowledgment as to a group-wide supervisor pursuant to this section.

3. In cooperation with other state, federal, and international regulatory agencies, the director shall identify a single group-wide supervisor for an internationally active insurance group. The director may determine that the director is the appropriate group-wide supervisor for an internationally active insurance group that conducts substantial insurance operations concentrated in this state. However, the director may acknowledge that a regulatory official from another jurisdiction is the appropriate group-wide supervisor for the internationally active insurance group. The director shall consider the following factors when making a determination or acknowledgment under this subsection:

(1) The domicile of the insurers within the internationally active insurance group that hold the largest share of the internationally active insurance group's written premiums, assets, or liabilities;

(2) The domicile of the top-tiered insurers in the insurance holding company system of the internationally active insurance group;

(3) The location of the executive offices or largest operational offices of the internationally active insurance group;

(4) Whether another regulatory official is acting as or is seeking to act as the group-wide supervisor under a regulatory system that the director determines to be:

- (a) Substantially similar to the system of regulation provided under the laws of this state; or
- (b) Otherwise sufficient in terms of providing for group-wide supervision, enterprise risk analysis, and cooperation with other regulatory officials; and

(5) Whether another regulatory official acting or seeking to act as the group-wide supervisor provides the director with reasonably reciprocal recognition and cooperation.

4. A director identified under this section as the group-wide supervisor may determine that it is appropriate to acknowledge another regulatory official to serve as the group-wide supervisor. The acknowledgment of the group-wide supervisor shall be made after consideration of the factors listed in subdivisions (1) to (5) of subsection 3 of this section, and shall be made in cooperation with and subject to the acknowledgment of other regulatory officials involved with supervision of members of the internationally active insurance group, and in consultation with the internationally active insurance group.

5. Notwithstanding any other provision of the law, when another regulatory official is acting as the group-wide supervisor of an internationally active insurance group, the director shall acknowledge that regulatory official as the group-wide supervisor, subject to subsection 6 of this section. In the event of a material change in the internationally active insurance group that results in either the internationally active insurance group's insurers domiciled in this state holding the largest share of the internationally active insurance group's premiums, assets, or liabilities, or this state being the domicile of the top-tiered insurers in the insurance holding company system of the internationally active insurance group, the director shall make a determination or acknowledgment as to the appropriate group-wide supervisor for such an internationally active insurance group under subsections 3 and 4 of this section.

6. In the event of a dispute as to the proper regulatory official to act as group-wide supervisor, a determination by the director not to acknowledge the current group-wide supervisor shall be made only after notice and a public hearing, and such determination shall be accompanied by specific findings of fact and conclusions of law including, but not limited to, application of the factors listed in subdivisions (1) to (5) of subsection 3 of this section.

7. Under section 382.220, the director is authorized to collect from any insurer registered under sections 382.100 to 382.180 all information necessary to determine whether the director may act as the group-wide supervisor of an internationally active insurance group or if the director may acknowledge another regulatory official to act as the group-wide supervisor. Prior to issuing a determination that an internationally active insurance group is subject to group-wide supervision by the director, the director shall notify the insurer registered under sections 382.100 to 382.180 and the ultimate controlling person within the internationally active insurance group. The internationally active insurance group shall have not less than thirty days to provide the director with additional information pertinent to the pending determination. The director shall publish on the department's website the identity of internationally active insurance groups that the director has determined are subject to group-wide supervision by the director.

8. If the director is the group-wide supervisor for an internationally active insurance group, the director is authorized to engage in any of the following group-wide supervisory activities:

- (1) Assess the enterprise risks within the internationally active insurance group to ensure that:
 - (a) The material financial condition and liquidity risks to the members of the internationally active insurance group that are engaged in the business of insurance are identified by management; and
 - (b) Reasonable and effective mitigation measures are in place;
- (2) Request, from any member of an internationally active insurance group subject to the director's supervision, information necessary and appropriate to assess enterprise risk including, but not limited to, information about the members of the internationally active insurance group regarding:
 - (a) Governance, risk assessment, and management;
 - (b) Capital adequacy; and
 - (c) Material intercompany transactions;
- (3) Coordinate and, through the authority of the regulatory officials of the jurisdictions where members of the internationally active insurance group are domiciled, compel development and implementation of reasonable measures designed to ensure that the internationally active insurance group is able to timely recognize and mitigate enterprise risks to members of such internationally active insurance group that are engaged in the business of insurance;

(4) Communicate with other state, federal, and international regulatory agencies for members within the internationally active insurance group and share relevant information subject to the confidentiality provisions of section 382.230, through supervisory colleges as set forth in section 382.226 or otherwise;

(5) Enter into agreements with or obtain documentation from any insurer registered under sections 382.100 to 382.180, any member of the internationally active insurance group, and any other state, federal, and international regulatory agencies for members of the internationally active insurance group, providing the basis for or otherwise clarifying the director's role as group-wide supervisor, including provisions for resolving disputes with other regulatory officials. Such agreements or documentation shall not serve as evidence in any proceeding that any insurer or person within an insurance holding company system not domiciled or incorporated in this state is doing business in this state or is otherwise subject to jurisdiction in this state; and

(6) Other group-wide supervision activities, consistent with the authorities and purposes enumerated in this subsection, as considered necessary by the director.

9. If the director acknowledges that another regulatory official from a jurisdiction that is not accredited by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners is the group-wide supervisor, the director is authorized to reasonably cooperate, through supervisory colleges or otherwise, with group-wide supervision undertaken by the group-wide supervisor, provided that:

(1) The director's cooperation is in compliance with the laws of this state; and

(2) The regulatory official acknowledged as the group-wide supervisor also recognizes and cooperates with the director's activities as a group-wide supervisor for other internationally active insurance groups where applicable. Where such recognition and cooperation are not reasonably reciprocal, the director is authorized to refuse recognition and cooperation.

10. The director is authorized to enter into agreements with, or obtain documentation from, any insurer registered under sections 382.100 to 382.180, any affiliate of the insurer, and other state, federal, and international regulatory agencies, regarding members of the internationally active insurance group, which provides the basis for or otherwise clarifies a regulatory official's role as group-wide supervisor.

11. The director may promulgate regulations necessary for the administration of this section. Any rule or portion of a rule, as that term is defined in section 536.010, that is created under the authority delegated in this section shall become effective only if it complies with and is subject to all of the provisions of chapter 536 and, if applicable, section 536.028. This section and chapter 536 are nonseverable, and if any of the powers vested with the general assembly pursuant to chapter 536 to review, to delay the effective date, or to disapprove and annul a rule are subsequently held unconstitutional, then the grant of rulemaking authority and any rule proposed or adopted after August 28, 2019, shall be invalid and void.

12. An insurer registered under sections 382.100 to 382.180 and subject to this section shall be liable for and shall pay the reasonable expenses of the director's participation in the administration of this section, including the engagements of attorneys, actuaries, and any other professionals and all reasonable travel expenses.

382.230. 1. All information, documents and copies thereof in the possession or control of the director that are obtained by or disclosed to the director or any other person in the course of an examination or investigation made under section 382.220 and all information reported or provided to the director under subdivisions (13) and (14) of subsection 1 of section 382.050 ~~and~~, sections 382.100 to 382.210, and section 382.227 shall be given confidential treatment and privileges; shall not be subject to the provisions of chapter 610; shall not be subject to subpoena; shall not be made public by the director, the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, or any other person, except to the chief insurance regulatory official of other states; and shall not be subject to discovery or admissible as evidence in any private civil action. However, the director is authorized to use the documents, materials, or other information in furtherance of any regulatory or legal action brought as a part of the director's official duties. The director shall not otherwise make the documents, materials, or other information public without the prior written consent of the insurer to which it pertains unless the director, after giving the insurer and its affiliates who would be affected thereby, notice and opportunity to be heard, determines that the interests of policyholders, shareholders or the public will be served by the publication thereof, in which event the director may publish all or any part thereof in such manner as he or she may deem appropriate.

2. Neither the director nor any person who receives documents, materials, or other information while acting under the authority of the director or with whom such documents, materials, or other information is shared under sections 382.010 to 382.300 shall be permitted or required to testify in any private civil action concerning any confidential documents, materials, or other information subject to subsection 1 of this section.

3. In order to assist in the performance of the director's duties, the director:

(1) May share documents, materials, or other information including the confidential and privileged documents, materials, or other information subject to subsection 1 of this section with other state, federal, and international financial regulatory agencies, with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries, and with state, federal, and international law enforcement authorities including members of any supervisory college described in section 382.225; provided that the recipient agrees in writing to maintain the confidentiality and privileged status of such documents, materials, or other information, and has verified in writing the legal authority to maintain confidentiality;

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection 1 of this section and subdivision (1) of this subsection, may share confidential and privileged documents, materials, or other information reported under section 382.175 only with the directors of states having statutes or regulations substantially similar to subsection 1 of this section and who have agreed in writing not to disclose such information;

(3) May receive documents, materials, or other information including otherwise confidential and privileged documents, materials, or information from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries and from regulatory and law enforcement officials of other foreign or domestic jurisdictions, and shall maintain as confidential or privileged any documents, materials, or other information received with notice or the understanding that it is confidential or privileged under the laws of the jurisdiction that is the source of the document, material, or other information; and

(4) Shall enter into a written agreement with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners governing sharing and use of information provided under sections 382.010 to 382.300 consistent with this subsection that shall:

(a) Specify procedures and protocols regarding the confidentiality and security of information shared with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries under sections 382.010 to 382.300 including procedures and protocols for sharing by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners with other state, federal, and international regulators;

(b) Specify that ownership of information shared with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries under sections 382.010 to 382.300 remains with the director and that the National Association of Insurance Commissioners' use of such information is subject to the direction of the director;

(c) Require prompt notice to be given to an insurer whose confidential information in the possession of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners under sections 382.010 to 382.300 is subject to a request or subpoena to the National Association of Insurance Commissioners for disclosure or production; and

(d) Require the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries to consent to intervention by an insurer in any judicial or administrative action in which the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries may be required to disclose confidential information about the insurer shared with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries under sections 382.010 to 382.300.

4. The sharing of information by the director under sections 382.010 to 382.300 shall not constitute a delegation of regulatory or rulemaking authority, and the director is solely responsible for the administration, execution, and enforcement of the provisions of sections 382.010 to 382.300.

5. No waiver of any applicable privilege or claim of confidentiality in the documents, materials, or other information shall occur as a result of disclosure of such documents, materials, or other information to the director under this section or as a result of sharing as authorized in sections 382.010 to 382.300.

6. Documents, materials, or other information in the possession or control of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners under sections 382.010 to 382.300 shall be confidential by law and privileged, shall not be subject to disclosure under chapter 610, shall not be subject to subpoena, and shall not be subject to discovery or admissible in evidence in any private civil action."; and

(2) Providing access to power sources for the video surveillance camera or other electronic monitoring device.

COMMUNICATIONS

May 15, 2019

Emily White
Assistant Chief Clerk
Missouri House of Representatives
201 W. Capitol Ave.
Jefferson City, MO 65101

Dear Emily,

House Resolution No. 3287, sponsored by Representative Barbara Washington, has been referred to the Committee on Consent and House Procedures. This resolution concerns the use of the House Chamber by the Emerging Leaders Youth Conference on June 24, 2019. Due to the fact that we are so near the end of session, I believe it is unnecessary for the Consent and House Procedures committee to meet solely to hear and take a vote on this resolution.

To that end, I have spoken with Representative Washington and received her assurance that she will personally attend this program in the House Chamber on June 24. This is an annual educational program that was started by former House Minority Floor Leader Gail McCann Beatty, and as such is a program that deserves the use of the Chamber and that will use the Chamber responsibly.

I ask that you permit the Emerging Leaders Youth Conference the use of the House Chamber on June 24, 2019, without approval for HR 3287 by the Committee on Consent and House Procedure.

Thank you,

/s/ Donna Pfautsch
State Representative – District 33
Chair, Committee on Consent and House Procedure

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

First Regular Session, 100th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

SEVENTY-FIRST DAY, THURSDAY, MAY 16, 2019

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Prayer by Reverend Monsignor Robert A. Kurwicky, Chaplain.

This is the day which the Lord has made; we will rejoice and be glad in it. (Psalm 118:24)

Our Heavenly Creator, we bow before this altar of prayer with hearts overflowing with gratitude because You have been so wonderfully good to us. We are what we are and we have what we have not because we deserve it, not because we have earned it, but because Your goodness has come to us, Your strength has made us strong, Your love has guided us, and Your presence has blessed us all our days.

Help us to be worthy of Your gifts and to use each day for Your glory, for the good of our great state and for the welfare of our fellow citizens. Thus may these last hours be a glorious adventure in great political living in this historic chamber.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Speaker appointed the following to act as an Honorary Page for the Day, to serve without compensation: Blane Ray.

The Journal of the seventieth day was approved as printed by the following vote:

SS SB 414, relating to innovations in health insurance, was taken up by Representative Hill.

On motion of Representative Hill, the title of SS SB 414 was agreed to.

Representative Roden offered House Amendment No. 1.

House Amendment No. 1

AMEND Senate Substitute for Senate Bill No. 414, Page 1, Section A, Line 2, by inserting after all of said section and line the following:

"105.261. 1. For purposes of this section, the term "public employer" shall mean the state of Missouri, or any office, agency, department, bureau, division, board, or commission of the state, or any school district, political subdivision, or special district within the state.

2. Notwithstanding any provisions of law to the contrary, employees of a public employer shall be allowed to donate their accrued sick leave to a shared pool which can be used by other public employees in this state who are eligible for sick leave but who have exhausted their own personal sick leave balances. The commissioner of administration shall design the shared pool described in this subsection. The commissioner shall collaborate with the chief administrative officers of all public employers to allow for the employees of such employers to donate to and draw from the shared pool. No employee of a public employer shall be allowed to donate his or her accrued sick leave to such a pool in any amount which would reduce such employee's own personal sick leave balance below an amount equal to the greater of eighty hours or the standard number of hours worked by such employee within a two-week period.

3. The commissioner of administration may promulgate rules as necessary to implement the provisions of this section. Any rule or portion of a rule, as that term is defined in section 536.010, that is created under the authority delegated in this section shall become effective only if it complies with and is subject to all of the provisions of chapter 536 and, if applicable, section 536.028. This section and chapter 536 are nonseverable, and if any of the powers vested with the general assembly pursuant to chapter 536 to review, to delay the effective date, or to disapprove and annul a rule are subsequently held unconstitutional, then the grant of rulemaking authority and any rule proposed or adopted after August 28, 2019, shall be invalid and void.

105.263. 1. For purposes of this section, the term "public employee" shall mean any employee of the state of Missouri, or of any office, agency, department, bureau, division, board, or commission of the state, or of any school district, political subdivision, or special district within the state.

2. Notwithstanding any provisions of law to the contrary, any public employee who has exhausted all available leave granted under the provisions of the Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993, as amended, 29 U.S.C. Section 2601, et seq., in connection with a cancer diagnosis for such employee's spouse or child shall be granted an extension of such leave for a period of up to one year.

3. No public employee shall be penalized for requesting or obtaining an extension of leave under this section.

4. The commissioner of administration may promulgate rules as necessary to implement the provisions of this section. Any rule or portion of a rule, as that term is defined in section 536.010, that is created under the authority delegated in this section shall become effective only if it complies with and is subject to all of the provisions of chapter 536 and, if applicable, section 536.028. This section and chapter 536 are nonseverable, and if any of the powers vested with the general assembly pursuant to chapter 536 to review, to delay the effective date, or to disapprove and annul a rule are subsequently held unconstitutional, then the grant of rulemaking authority and any rule proposed or adopted after August 28, 2019, shall be invalid and void.

287.067. 1. (1) In this chapter the term "occupational disease" is hereby defined to mean, unless a different meaning is clearly indicated by the context, an identifiable disease arising with or without human fault out of and in the course of the employment. Ordinary diseases of life to which the general public is exposed outside of the employment shall not be compensable, except where the diseases follow as an incident of an occupational disease as defined in this section. The disease need not to have been foreseen or expected but after its contraction it must appear to have had its origin in a risk connected with the employment and to have flowed from that source as a rational consequence.

(2) For purposes of this section, the following terms mean:

(a) "Hazardous duty", the same meaning given to the term under 5 CFR 550.902, as amended;

(b) "Psychological stress" or "mental disorder", a condition, whether sudden or gradual in onset, that is diagnosed by a psychiatrist or psychologist and that requires medical services or results in physical or mental disability.

2. An injury or death by occupational disease is compensable only if the occupational exposure was the prevailing factor in causing both the resulting medical condition and disability. The "prevailing factor" is defined to be the primary factor, in relation to any other factor, causing both the resulting medical condition and disability. Ordinary, gradual deterioration, or progressive degeneration of the body caused by aging or by the normal activities of day-to-day living shall not be compensable.

3. An injury due to repetitive motion is recognized as an occupational disease for purposes of this chapter. An occupational disease due to repetitive motion is compensable only if the occupational exposure was the prevailing factor in causing both the resulting medical condition and disability. The "prevailing factor" is defined to be the primary factor, in relation to any other factor, causing both the resulting medical condition and disability. Ordinary, gradual deterioration, or progressive degeneration of the body caused by aging or by the normal activities of day-to-day living shall not be compensable.

4. "Loss of hearing due to industrial noise" is recognized as an occupational disease for purposes of this chapter and is hereby defined to be a loss of hearing in one or both ears due to prolonged exposure to harmful noise in employment. "Harmful noise" means sound capable of producing occupational deafness.

5. "Radiation disability" is recognized as an occupational disease for purposes of this chapter and is hereby defined to be that disability due to radioactive properties or substances or to Roentgen rays (X-rays) or exposure to ionizing radiation caused by any process involving the use of or direct contact with radium or radioactive properties or substances or the use of or direct exposure to Roentgen rays (X-rays) or ionizing radiation.

6. (1) Disease of the lungs or respiratory tract, hypotension, hypertension, or disease of the heart or cardiovascular system, including carcinoma, may be recognized as occupational diseases for the purposes of this chapter and are defined to be disability due to exposure to smoke, gases, carcinogens, or inadequate oxygen, of paid or volunteer firefighters of a [paid] fire department or paid or volunteer police officers of a [paid] police department certified under chapter 590 if a direct causal relationship is established[~~ed~~]. Psychological stress and mental disorders may be recognized as occupational diseases for the purposes of this chapter and are defined to be disability due to exposure to stressful events of paid or volunteer firefighters, paramedics, and emergency medical technicians of a [paid] fire department or fire district or [paid] peace officers of a police department who are certified under chapter 590 if [a direct causal relationship] the psychological stress or mental disorder is established as having arisen from exposure to the stressful event or events.

(2) (a) Notwithstanding the provisions of any other law, cancer contracted by a paid firefighter who has been assigned to at least five years of hazardous duty as a firefighter or cancer contracted by a volunteer firefighter who has been assigned to at least ten years of hazardous duty as a firefighter constitutes a presumption that the cancer meets the definition of occupational disease under subsection 1 of this section and is compensable under the requirements of subsections 1 and 2 of this section if the firefighter was exposed to an agent classified by the International Agency for Research on Cancer or its successor organization as a group 1 or 2A carcinogen.

(b) The presumption described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision is rebuttable in any of the following situations:

a. There is evidence that the firefighter's exposure, outside the scope of the firefighter's official duties, to cigarettes, tobacco products, or other conditions presenting an extremely high risk for the development of the cancer alleged, was probably a significant factor in the cause or progression of the cancer;

b. There is evidence that the firefighter was not exposed to an agent classified by the International Agency for Research on Cancer as a group 1 or 2A carcinogen;

c. There is evidence that the firefighter incurred the type of cancer alleged before becoming a member of the fire department; or

d. The firefighter is sixty-five years of age or older.

(c) The presumption described under paragraph (a) of this subdivision does not apply if it has been more than ten years since the firefighter was last assigned to hazardous duty as a firefighter or if the firefighter has retired from his or her employment as a firefighter.

(d) Compensation for cancer contracted by a firefighter in the course of hazardous duty under paragraph (a) of this subdivision is payable only in the event of temporary total disability, permanent total disability, or death, in accordance with sections 287.170, 287.200, and 287.230.

(e) This subdivision shall apply to paid and volunteer firefighters of all fire departments of all counties, cities, towns, fire districts, and other government units.

(f) This subdivision applies only to claims arising on or after August 28, 2019.

7. Any employee who is exposed to and contracts any contagious or communicable disease arising out of and in the course of his or her employment shall be eligible for benefits under this chapter as an occupational disease.

8. With regard to occupational disease due to repetitive motion, if the exposure to the repetitive motion which is found to be the cause of the injury is for a period of less than three months and the evidence demonstrates that the exposure to the repetitive motion with the immediate prior employer was the prevailing factor in causing the injury, the prior employer shall be liable for such occupational disease.

9. (1) Psychological stress or mental disorder of a paid, volunteer, or retired firefighter, paramedic, or emergency medical technician of a fire department or fire district or paid peace officer of a paid police department certified under chapter 590 shall be presumed as an occupational disease that was contracted in the course and scope of employment.

(2) A paid, volunteer, or retired firefighter, paramedic, or emergency medical technician of a fire department or fire district or paid peace officer of a paid police department certified under chapter 590 who is diagnosed with post-traumatic stress disorder, psychological stress, or mental disorder during employment or during volunteer service or within three years of the last active date of employment or volunteer service shall be eligible for compensation benefits as otherwise provided for in this chapter, with no showing regarding causality required.

10. The psychological stress or mental disorder presumption described in subdivision (1) of subsection 9 of this section shall be rebuttable if:

(1) There is evidence that the condition existed before the commencement of employment or volunteer service;

(2) The prevailing factor in causing the condition is a factor unrelated to the employment or volunteer service; or

(3) The prevailing factor in causing the condition is an exposure occurring outside the scope of employment or volunteer service.

590.1200. 1. For purposes of this section, the following terms mean:

(1) "Live video broadcast", any video broadcast made during a tactical law enforcement operation, including time-delayed broadcasts;

(2) "Tactical law enforcement operation":

(a) A situation in which law enforcement officers are deployed by reason of a person holding one or more hostages;

(b) A situation in which law enforcement officers are deployed for the purpose of taking into custody an armed person who refuses to surrender to law enforcement; or

(c) Any other situation in which tactical law enforcement forces are deployed by reason of an emergency involving danger to the law enforcement officers or to the public.

2. Any law enforcement agency may declare that a tactical law enforcement operation is subject to the provisions of this section and may designate a boundary for the purpose of the prohibitions of this section. Any person who is aware that a law enforcement agency has made a declaration under this section shall not make live video broadcasts displaying events within the boundary established by the law enforcement agency.

3. Any person who knowingly violates the provisions of subsection 2 of this section is strictly liable for any injury, death, or other damage that may arise out of the violation, including any injury, death, or other damage that may arise out of the live video broadcasts of the tactical law enforcement operation.

4. Any person who complies with the requirements of subsection 2 of this section is immune from any civil liability for any injury, death, or other damage that may arise out of the live video broadcasts or other reporting that relates to the tactical law enforcement operation or the events surrounding the operation.

5. Penalties under this section may be imposed against the person making the live video broadcast and against any employee of a media outlet responsible for directing or authorizing the broadcast.

6. Any person who violates the provisions of subsection 2 of this section shall be subject to a civil penalty not to exceed ten thousand dollars."; and

Further amend said bill, Page 4, Section B, Lines 2 and 5, by inserting before each instance of the words "section A" the words "sections 376.1180 and 376.1182"; and

Further amend said bill by amending the title, enacting clause, and intersectional references accordingly.

Representative Ross assumed the Chair.

SB 228, relating to methods of service of notice under employment security laws, was taken up by Representative Andrews.

On motion of Representative Andrews, the title of SB 228 was agreed to.

Representative Lynch offered House Amendment No. 1.

AMEND Senate Bill No. 228, Page 1, Section A, Line 2, by inserting after all of said line the following:

"288.100. 1. (1) The division shall maintain a separate account for each employer which is paying contributions, and shall credit each employer's account with all contributions which each employer has paid. A separate account shall be maintained for each employer making payments in lieu of contributions to which shall be credited all such payments made. The account shall also show payments due as provided in section 288.090. The division may close and cancel such separate account after a period of four consecutive calendar years during which such employer has had no employment in this state subject to contributions. Nothing in this law shall be construed to grant any employer or individuals in the employer's service prior claims or rights to the amounts paid by the employer into the fund either on the employer's own behalf or on behalf of such individuals. Except as provided in subdivision (4) of this subsection, regular benefits and that portion of extended benefits not reimbursed by the federal government paid to an eligible individual shall be charged against the accounts of the individual's base period employers who are paying contributions subject to the provisions of subdivision (4) of subsection 3 of section 288.090. With respect to initial claims filed after December 31, 1984, for benefits paid to an individual based on wages paid by one or more employers in the base period of the claim, the amount chargeable to each employer shall be obtained by multiplying the benefits paid by a ratio obtained by dividing the base period wages from such employer by the total wages appearing in the base period. Except as provided in this subdivision, the maximum amount of extended benefits paid to an individual and charged against the account of any employer shall not exceed one-half of the product obtained by multiplying the benefits paid by a ratio obtained by dividing the base period wages from such employer by the total wages appearing in the base period. The provisions of this subdivision notwithstanding, with respect to weeks of unemployment beginning after December 31, 1978, the maximum amount of extended benefits paid to an individual and charged against the account of an employer which is an employer ~~[pursuant to]~~ under subdivision (3) of subsection 1 of section 288.032 and which is paying contributions ~~[pursuant to]~~ under subsections 1 and 2 of section 288.090 shall not exceed the calculated entitlement for the extended benefit claim based upon the wages appearing within the base period of the extended benefit claim.

(2) Beginning as of June 30, 1951, and as of June thirtieth of each year thereafter, any unassigned surplus in the unemployment compensation fund which is five hundred thousand dollars or more in excess of five-tenths of one percent of the total taxable wages paid by all employers for the preceding calendar year as shown on the division's records on such June thirtieth shall be credited on a pro rata basis to all employer accounts having a credit balance in the same ratio that the balance in each such account bears to the total of the credit balances subject to use for rate calculation purposes for the following year in all such accounts on the same date. As used in this subdivision, the term "unassigned surplus" means the amount by which the total cash balance in the unemployment compensation fund exceeds a sum equal to the total of all employer credit account balances. The amount thus prorated to each separate employer's account shall for tax rating purposes be considered the same as contributions paid by the employer and credited to the employer's account for the period preceding the calculation date except that no such amount can be credited against any contributions due or that may thereafter become due from such employer.

(3) At the conclusion of each calendar quarter the division shall, within thirty days, notify each employer by mail of the benefits paid to each claimant by week as determined by the division which have been charged to such employer's account subsequent to the last notice.

(4) (a) No benefits based on wages paid for services performed prior to the date of any act for which a claimant is disqualified ~~[pursuant to]~~ under section 288.050 shall be chargeable to any employer directly involved in such disqualifying act.

(b) In the event the deputy has in due course determined ~~[pursuant to]~~ under paragraph (a) of subdivision (1) of subsection 1 of section 288.050 that a claimant quit his or her work with an employer for the purpose of accepting a more remunerative job with another employer which the claimant did accept and earn some wages therein, no benefits based on wages paid prior to the date of the quit shall be chargeable to the employer the claimant quit.

(c) In the event the deputy has in due course determined ~~[pursuant to]~~ under paragraph (b) of subdivision (1) of subsection 1 of section 288.050 that a claimant quit temporary work in employment with an employer to return to the claimant's regular employer, then, only for the purpose of charging base period employers, all of the wages paid by the employer who furnished the temporary employment shall be combined with the wages actually paid by the regular employer as if all such wages had been actually paid by the regular employer. Further, charges for benefits based on wages paid for part-time work shall be removed from the account of the employer furnishing such part-time work if that employer continued to employ the individual claiming such benefits on a regular recurring basis each week of the claimant's claim to at least the same extent that the employer had previously employed the claimant and so informs the division within thirty days from the date of notice of benefit charges.

(d) No charge shall be made against an employer's account in respect to benefits paid an individual if the gross amount of wages paid by such employer to such individual is four hundred dollars or less during the individual's base period on which the individual's benefit payments are based. Further, no charge shall be made against any employer's account in respect to benefits paid any individual unless such individual was in employment with respect to such employer longer than a probationary period of ~~[twenty-eight]~~ ninety days, if such probationary period of employment has been reported to the division as required by regulation.

(e) In the event the deputy has in due course determined ~~[pursuant to]~~ under paragraph (c) of subdivision (1) of subsection 1 of section 288.050 that a claimant is not disqualified, no benefits based on wages paid for work prior to the date of the quit shall be chargeable to the employer the claimant quit.

(f) In the event the deputy has in due course determined under paragraph (e) of subdivision (1) of subsection 1 of section 288.050 that a claimant is not disqualified, no benefits based on wages paid for work prior to the date of the quit shall be chargeable to the employer the claimant quit.

(g) Nothing in paragraph (b), (c), (d), (e), or (f) of this subdivision shall in any way affect the benefit amount, duration of benefits or the wage credits of the claimant.

2. The division may prescribe regulations for the establishment, maintenance, and dissolution of joint accounts by two or more employers, and shall, in accordance with such regulations and upon application by two or more employers to establish such an account, or to merge their several individual accounts in a joint account, maintain such joint account as if it constituted a single employer's account.

3. The division may by regulation provide for the compilation and publication of such data as may be necessary to show the amounts of benefits not charged to any individual employer's account classified by reason no such charge was made and to show the types and amounts of transactions affecting the unemployment compensation fund."; and

Further amend said bill by amending the title, enacting clause, and intersectional references accordingly.

Speaker Haahr in the Chair.

Prayer by Reverend Monsignor Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

Where two or three are gathered together in My name, there am I in the midst of them. (Matthew 18:20)

O Loving God, once again the eyes of our great nation are focused on our House of Representatives. We understand Your word that where two or three are gathered together in Your name there You are in the midst of them. Now make us aware of Your presence during this moment as we assemble in Your name, invoking Your blessing upon us and praying that You would make us adequate for the tasks of this day. Give us wisdom for the decisions we have to make and courage always to do what is right on this last day of session.

Bless our Governor, our Speaker and all the Members of this House, their staff and families. Support us during this long day until the shadows lengthen and 6:00 p.m. arrives, and the busy world is quiet, and the fever of political life is over, and our legislative work is done. Then, by Your great mercy, grant us satisfaction, rest, peace and quiet at last.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Speaker appointed the following to act as an Honorary Page for the Day, to serve without compensation: John Francis Jackson.

MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE

Mr. Speaker: I am instructed by the Senate to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has taken up and passed SCS HB 355 entitled:

An act to repeal sections 386.020, 386.510, and 386.515, RSMo, and to enact in lieu thereof four new sections relating to matters within the scope of the public service commission.

With Senate Amendment No. 1, Senate Amendment No. 2, Senate Amendment No. 3, Senate Amendment No. 4, Senate Amendment No. 5 and Senate Amendment No. 6.

Senate Amendment No. 1

AMEND Senate Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 355, Page 4, Section 386.020, Lines 92-99, by striking said lines and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

“(c) Persons or corporations not otherwise engaged in the production or sale of electricity at wholesale or retail that sell, lease, own, control, operate, or manage one or more electric vehicle charging stations;”; and

Further amend said section by renumbering the remaining subdivisions accordingly; and Further amend said bill, Page 12, Section 386.805, Line 4, by striking “the” and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

AMEND Senate Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 355, Page 13, Section 386.805, Line 8, by inserting after all of said line the following:

“537.340. 1. If any person shall cut down, injure or destroy or carry away any tree placed or growing for use, shade or ornament, or any timber, rails or wood standing, being or growing on the land of any other person, including any governmental entity, or shall dig up, quarry or carry away any stones, ore or mineral, gravel, clay or mold, or any ice or other substance or material being a part of the realty, or any roots, fruits or plants, or cut down or carry away grass, grain, corn, flax or hemp in which such person has no interest or right, standing, lying or being on land not such person's own, or shall knowingly break the glass or any part of it in any building not such person's own, the person so offending shall pay to the party injured treble the value of the things so injured, broken, destroyed or carried away, with costs. Any person filing a claim for damages pursuant to this section need not prove negligence or intent.

2. Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection 1 of this section, the following rules shall apply to the trimming, removing, and controlling of trees and other vegetation by any electric supplier:

(1) Every electric supplier that operates electric transmission or distribution lines shall have the authority to maintain the same by trimming, removing, and controlling trees and other vegetation posing a hazard to the continued safe and reliable operation thereof;

(2) An electric supplier may exercise its authority under subdivision (1) of this subsection if the trees and other vegetation are within the legal description of any recorded easement or, in the absence of a recorded easement, the following:

(a) Within ten feet, plus one-half the length of any attached cross arm, of either side of the centerline of electricity lines potentially energized at or below 34.5 kilovolts measured line to line and located within the limits of any city; or

(b) Within thirty feet of either side of the centerline of electricity lines potentially energized at or below 34.5 kilovolts measured line to line and located outside the limits of any city; or

(c) Within fifty feet of either side of the centerline of electricity lines potentially energized between 34.5 and one hundred kilovolts measured line to line; or

(d) Within the greater of the following for any electricity lines potentially energized at one hundred kilovolts or more measured line to line:

a. Seventy-five feet to either side of the centerline; or

b. Any required clearance distance adopted by either the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission or an Electric Reliability Organization authorized by the Energy Policy Act of 2005, 16 U.S.C. Section 824o. Such exercise shall be considered reasonable and necessary for the proper and reliable operation of electric service and shall create a rebuttable presumption, in claims for property damage, that the electric supplier acted with reasonable care, operated within its rights regarding the operation and maintenance of its electricity lines, and has not committed a trespass;

(3) An electric supplier may trim, remove, and control trees and other vegetation outside the provisions in subdivision (2) of this subsection if such actions are necessary to maintain the continued safe and reliable operation of its electric lines;

(4) An electric supplier may secure from the owner or occupier of land greater authority to trim, remove, and control trees and other vegetation than the provisions set forth in subdivision (2) of this subsection and may exercise any and all rights regarding the trimming, removing, and controlling of trees and other vegetation granted in any easement held by the electric supplier;

(5) An electric supplier may trim or remove any tree of sufficient height outside the provisions of subdivision (2) of this subsection when such tree, if it were to fall, would threaten the integrity and safety of any electric transmission or distribution line and would pose a hazard to the continued safe and reliable operation thereof;

(6) Prior to the removal of any tree under the provisions of subdivision (5) of this subsection, an electric supplier shall notify the owner or occupier of land, if available, at least fourteen days prior to such removal unless either the electric supplier deems the removal to be immediately necessary to continue the safe and reliable operation of its electricity lines, or the electric supplier is trimming or removing trees and other vegetation following a major weather event or other emergency situation;

(7) If any tree which is partially trimmed by an electric supplier dies within three months as a result of said trimming, the owner or occupier of land upon which the tree was trimmed may request in writing that the electric supplier remove said tree at the electric supplier's expense. The electric supplier shall respond to such request within ninety days;

(8) Nothing in this subsection shall be interpreted as requiring any electric supplier to fully exercise the authorities granted in this subsection.

3. For purposes of this section, the term "electric supplier" means any rural electric cooperative that is subject to the provisions of chapter 394~~[-and]~~; any electrical corporation which is required by its bylaws to operate on the not-for-profit cooperative business plan, with its consumers who receive service as the stockholders of such corporation, and which holds a certificate of public convenience and necessity to serve a majority of its customer-owners in counties of the third classification as of August 28, 2003; any municipally owned or operated electric power system that is subject to the provisions of chapter 91; and any municipally owned utility whose service area is set by state statute, service agreement, or other authority to include areas which are not incorporated into city limits."; and

Senate Amendment No. 3

AMEND Senate Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 355, Page 11, Section 386.020, Line 352, by inserting immediately after said line the following:

Further amend said bill and page, Section A, Line 3, by inserting after all of said line the following:

The board of aldermen may provide for and regulate the lighting of streets and the erection of lamp posts, poles and lights therefor, and may make contracts with any person, association or corporation, either private or municipal, for the lighting of the streets and other public places of the city with gas, electricity or otherwise, except that each initial contract shall be ratified by a majority of the voters of the city voting on the question and any renewal contract or extension shall be subject to voter approval of the majority of the voters voting on the question, pursuant to the provisions of section 88.251. The board of aldermen may erect, maintain and operate gas works, electric light works, or light works of any other kind or name, and to erect lamp posts, electric light poles, or any other apparatus or appliances necessary to light the streets, avenues, alleys or other public places, and to supply private lights for the use of the inhabitants of the city and its suburbs, and may regulate the same, and may prescribe and regulate the rates to be paid by the consumers thereof, and may acquire by purchase, donation or condemnation suitable grounds within or without the city upon which to erect such works and the right-of-way to and from such works, and also the right-of-way for laying gas pipes, electric wires under or above the grounds, and erecting posts and poles and such other apparatus and appliances as may be necessary for the efficient operation of such works. The board of aldermen may, in its discretion, grant the right to any person, persons or corporation, to erect such works and lay the pipe, wires, and erect the posts, poles and other necessary apparatus and appliances therefor, upon such terms as may be prescribed by ordinance. Such rights shall not extend for a longer time than twenty years, but may be renewed for another period or periods not to exceed twenty years per period. Every initial grant shall be approved by a majority of the voters of the municipality voting on the question, and each renewal or extension of such rights shall be subject to voter approval of the majority of the voters voting on the question, pursuant to the provisions of section 88.251. Nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to prevent the board of aldermen from contracting with any person, persons or corporation for furnishing the city with gas or electric lights in cities where franchises have already been granted, and where gas or electric light plants already exist, without a vote of the people, except that the board of aldermen may sell, convey, encumber, lease, abolish or otherwise dispose of any public utilities owned by the city including electric light systems, electric distribution systems or transmission lines, or any part of the electric light systems, electric or other heat systems, electric or other power systems, electric or other railways, gas plants, telephone systems, telegraph systems, transportation systems of any kind, waterworks, equipments and all public utilities not herein enumerated and everything acquired therefor, after first having passed an ordinance setting forth the terms of the sale, conveyance or encumbrance and when ratified by two-thirds of the voters voting on the question, except for the sale of a water or wastewater system, or the sale of a gas plant, which shall be authorized by a simple majority vote of the voters voting on the question. In the event of the proposed sale of a water or wastewater system, or a gas plant, the board of alderman shall hold a public meeting on such proposed sale at least thirty days prior to the vote. The municipality in question shall notify its customers of the informational meeting through radio, television, newspaper, regular mail, electronic mail, or any combination of notification methods to most effectively notify customers at least fifteen days prior to the informational meeting. In advance of putting a proposed sale of a water or wastewater system, or a gas plant before the voters, the board of aldermen may seek an appraisal as set forth in subsections 3 and 4 of section 393.320. The board may also seek and provide additional reasonable analyses to inform voters of such sale, including but not limited to, the impact of such sale on all city funds and revenues, other city services, and annexation. Nothing in this section shall be so construed as to discourage the board of aldermen from seeking multiple bids when considering the disposal of a water or wastewater system or a gas plant by sale.

2. The board of aldermen's determination of the fair market value of a water or wastewater system or a gas plant for the purposes of this section shall not be dispositive of the price of a water or wastewater system, or a gas plant, which may be subject to negotiation by the board of aldermen.

3. The board of aldermen may consider alternatives to disposing of a water or wastewater system, or a gas plant by sale, including entering into a finance agreement, purchase agreement, management agreement, or lease agreement with another entity.

4. The board of aldermen may make available on its internet site, if such internet site exists, at least forty-five days prior to submitting a proposal for election pursuant to this section, a copy of the appraisal or additional reasonable analyses under subsection 1 of this section and the fair market value of a water or wastewater system or a gas plant. Such information may also be posted in the building where the board of aldermen has its monthly meetings.

5. The board of aldermen may make a good-faith effort to notify each property owner of the city and each ratepayer of a water or wastewater system or a gas plant of the proposal to dispose of the water or wastewater system, or a gas plant, by sale through radio, television, newspaper, regular mail, electronic mail, or any combination of such notification methods. Such notice may also include instructions for locating a summary of the proposal and a summary of any appraisal and analyses as under subsection 1 of this section on the board of aldermen's internet site, if such internet site exists. In the event the board of aldermen does not have an internet site, the notice may inform the recipient that written copies of such information may be made available at the building where the board of aldermen has its monthly meetings.

6. Nothing in this section shall be construed as a violation of section 115.646, relating to the use of public funds to advocate, support, or oppose the ballot measure prescribed in subsection 7 of this section.

7. The ballots shall be substantially in the following form and shall indicate the property, or portion thereof, and whether the same is to be sold, leased or encumbered:

Shall _____ (Indicate the property by stating whether electric distribution system, electric transmission lines or waterworks, etc.) be _____ (Indicate whether sold, leased or encumbered.)?"; and

With Senate Amendment No. 1.

Senate Amendment No. 1

AMEND Senate Substitute No. 2 for Senate Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 604, Page 83, Section 168.133, Line 21 of said page, by inserting immediately after said line the following:

"168.221. 1. The first five years of employment of all teachers entering the employment of the metropolitan school district shall be deemed a period of probation during which period all appointments of teachers shall expire at the end of each school year. During the probationary period any probationary teacher whose work is unsatisfactory shall be furnished by the superintendent of schools with a written statement setting forth the nature of his or her incompetency. If improvement satisfactory to the superintendent is not made within one semester after the receipt of the statement, the probationary teacher shall be dismissed. The semester granted the probationary teacher in which to improve shall not in any case be a means of prolonging the probationary period beyond five years and six months from the date on which the teacher entered the employ of the board of education. The superintendent of schools on or before the fifteenth day of April in each year shall notify probationary teachers who will not be retained by the school district of the termination of their services. Any probationary teacher who is not so notified shall be deemed to have been appointed for the next school year. Any principal who prior to becoming a principal had attained permanent employee status as a teacher shall upon ceasing to be a principal have a right to resume his or her permanent teacher position with the time served as a principal being treated as if such time had been served as a teacher for the purpose of calculating seniority and pay scale. The rights and duties and remuneration of a teacher who was formerly a principal shall be the same as any other teacher with the same level of qualifications and time of service.

2. After completion of satisfactory probationary services, appointments of teachers shall become permanent, subject to removal for any one or more causes herein described and to the right of the board to terminate the services of all who attain the age of compulsory retirement fixed by the retirement system. In determining the duration of the probationary period of employment in this section specified, the time of service rendered as a substitute teacher shall not be included.

3. No teacher whose appointment has become permanent may be removed except for one or more of the following causes: immorality, incompetency, or inefficiency in line of duty, violation of the published regulations of the school district, violation of the laws of Missouri governing the public schools of the state, or physical or mental condition which incapacitates him for instructing or associating with children, and then only by a vote of not less than a majority of all the members of the board, upon written charges presented by the superintendent of schools, to be heard by the board after thirty days' notice, with copy of the charges served upon the person against whom they are preferred, who shall have the privilege of being present at the hearing, together with counsel, offering evidence and making defense thereto. At the request of any person so charged the hearing shall be public. During any time in which powers granted to the district's board of education are vested in a special administrative board, the special administrative board may appoint a hearing officer to conduct the hearing. Should the special administrative board relinquish power to the district's elected board of education, such board of education may also appoint a hearing officer to conduct the hearing. The hearing officer shall conduct the hearing as a contested case under chapter 536 and shall issue a written recommendation to the board rendering the charges against the teacher. The board shall render a decision on the charges upon the review of the hearing officer's recommendations and the record from the hearing. The action and decision of the board upon the charges shall be final. Pending the hearing of the charges, the person charged may be suspended if the rules of the board so prescribe, but in the event the board does not by a majority vote of all the members remove the teacher upon charges presented by the superintendent, the person shall not suffer any loss of salary by reason of the suspension. Incompetency or inefficiency in line of duty is cause for dismissal only after the teacher has been notified in writing at least thirty days prior to the presentment of charges against him by the superintendent. The notification shall specify the nature of the incompetency or inefficiency with such particularity as to enable the teacher to be informed of the nature of his or her incompetence or inefficiency.

4. No teacher whose appointment has become permanent shall be demoted nor shall his or her salary be reduced unless the same procedure is followed as herein stated for the removal of the teacher because of inefficiency in line of duty, and any teacher whose salary is reduced or who is demoted may waive the presentment of charges against him by the superintendent and a hearing thereon by the board. The foregoing provision shall apply only to permanent teachers prior to the compulsory retirement age under the retirement system. Nothing herein contained shall in any way restrict or limit the power of the board of education to make reductions in the number of teachers or principals, or both, because of insufficient funds, decrease in pupil enrollment, or abolition of particular subjects or courses of instruction, except that the abolition of particular subjects or courses of instruction shall not cause those teachers who have been teaching the subjects or giving the courses of instruction to be placed on leave of absence as herein provided who are qualified to teach other subjects or courses of instruction, if positions are available for the teachers in the other subjects or courses of instruction.

5. Whenever it is necessary to decrease the number of teachers because of insufficient funds or a substantial decrease of pupil population within the school district, the board of education upon recommendation of the superintendent of schools may cause the necessary number of teachers beginning with those serving probationary periods to be placed on leave of absence without pay, but only in the inverse order of their appointment. Nothing herein stated shall prevent a readjustment by the board of education of existing salary schedules. No teacher placed on a leave of absence shall be precluded from securing other employment during the period of the leave of absence. Each teacher placed on leave of absence shall be reinstated in inverse order of his or her placement on leave of absence. Such reemployment shall not result in a loss of status or credit for previous years of service. No appointment of new teachers shall be made while there are available teachers on unrequested leave of absence who are properly qualified to fill such vacancies. Such leave of absence shall not impair the tenure of a teacher. The leave of absence shall continue for a period of not more than three years unless extended by the board.

6. If any regulation which deals with the promotion of teachers is amended by increasing the qualifications necessary to be met before a teacher is eligible for promotion, the amendment shall fix an effective date which shall allow a reasonable length of time within which teachers may become qualified for promotion under the regulations.

7. A teacher whose appointment has become permanent may give up the right to a permanent appointment to participate in the teacher choice compensation package under sections 168.745 to 168.750.

8. Should the state mandate that professional development for teachers be provided in local school districts and any funds be utilized for such, a metropolitan school district shall be allowed to utilize a professional development plan for teachers which is known within the administration as the "St. Louis Plan", should the district and the teacher decide jointly to participate in such plan."; and

Further amend the title and enacting clause accordingly.

Emergency clause adopted.

In which the concurrence of the House is respectfully requested.

Mr. Speaker: I am instructed by the Senate to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has taken up and adopted the Conference Committee Report #2 on HCS SCS SB 147, as amended, and has taken up and passed CCS#2 HCS SCS SB 147.

MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE

Mr. Speaker: I am instructed by the Senate to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has taken up and passed SCS HCS HB 547 entitled:

An act to repeal sections 56.765 and 478.001, RSMo, and to enact in lieu thereof three new sections relating to alternative methods for the disposal of cases in the judicial system.

With Senate Amendment No. 1.

Senate Amendment No. 1

AMEND Senate Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 547, Page 9, Section 557.014, Line 104, by inserting after all of said line the following:

“650.058. 1. Notwithstanding the sovereign immunity of the state, any individual who was found guilty of a felony in a Missouri court and was later determined to be actually innocent of such crime solely as a result of DNA profiling analysis may be paid restitution. The individual may receive an amount of ~~[fifty]~~ one hundred dollars per day for each day of postconviction incarceration for the crime for which the individual is determined to be actually innocent. The petition for the payment of said restitution shall be filed with the sentencing court. For the purposes of this section, the term “actually innocent” shall mean:

- (1) The individual was convicted of a felony for which a final order of release was entered by the court;
- (2) All appeals of the order of release have been exhausted;
- (3) The individual was not serving any term of a sentence for any other crime concurrently with the sentence for which he or she is determined to be actually innocent, unless such individual was serving another concurrent sentence because his or her parole was revoked by a court or the board of probation and parole in connection with the crime for which the person has been exonerated. Regardless of whether any other basis may exist for the revocation of the person's probation or parole at the time of conviction for the crime for which the person is later determined to be actually innocent, when the court's or the board of probation and parole's sole stated reason for the revocation in its order is the conviction for the crime for which the person is later determined to be actually innocent, such order shall, for purposes of this section only, be conclusive evidence that their probation or parole was revoked in connection with the crime for which the person has been exonerated; and
- (4) Testing ordered under section 547.035, or testing by the order of any state or federal court, if such person was exonerated on or before August 28, 2004, or testing ordered under section 650.055, if such person was or is exonerated after August 28, 2004, demonstrates a person's innocence of the crime for which the person is in custody.

Any individual who receives restitution under this section shall be prohibited from seeking any civil redress from the state, its departments and agencies, or any employee thereof, or any political subdivision or its employees. This section shall not be construed as a waiver of sovereign immunity for any purposes other than the restitution provided for herein. The department of corrections shall determine the aggregate amount of restitution owed during a fiscal year. If insufficient moneys are appropriated each fiscal year to pay restitution to such persons, the department shall pay each individual who has received an order awarding restitution a pro rata share of the amount appropriated. Provided sufficient moneys are appropriated to the department, the amounts owed to such individual shall be paid on June thirtieth of each subsequent fiscal year, until such time as the restitution to the individual has been paid in full. However, no individual awarded restitution under this subsection shall receive more than thirty-six thousand five hundred dollars during each fiscal year. No interest on unpaid restitution shall be awarded to the individual. No individual who has been determined by the court to be actually innocent shall be responsible for the costs of care under section 217.831.

2. If the results of the DNA testing confirm the person's guilt, then the person filing for DNA testing under section 547.035, shall:

- (1) Be liable for any reasonable costs incurred when conducting the DNA test, including but not limited to the cost of the test. Such costs shall be determined by the court and shall be included in the findings of fact and conclusions of law made by the court; and
- (2) Be sanctioned under the provisions of section 217.262.

3. A petition for payment of restitution under this section may only be filed by the individual determined to be actually innocent or the individual's legal guardian. No claim or petition for restitution under this section may be filed by the individual's heirs or assigns. An individual's right to receive restitution under this section is not assignable or otherwise transferrable. The state's obligation to pay restitution under this section shall cease upon the individual's death. Any beneficiary designation that purports to bequeath, assign, or otherwise convey the right to receive such restitution shall be void and unenforceable.

4. An individual who is determined to be actually innocent of a crime under this chapter shall automatically be granted an order of expungement from the court in which he or she pled guilty or was sentenced to expunge from all official records all recordations of his or her arrest, plea, trial or conviction. Upon granting of the order of expungement, the records and files maintained in any administrative or court proceeding in an associate or circuit division of the court shall be confidential and only available to the parties or by order of the court for good cause shown. The effect of such order shall be to restore such person to the status he or she occupied prior to such arrest, plea or conviction and as if such event had never taken place. No person as to whom such order has been entered shall be held thereafter under any provision of any law to be guilty of perjury or otherwise giving a false statement by reason of his or her failure to recite or acknowledge such arrest, plea, trial, conviction or expungement in response to any inquiry made of him or her for any purpose whatsoever and no such inquiry shall be made for information relating to an expungement under this section.”; and

Further amend the title and enacting clause accordingly.

In which the concurrence of the House is respectfully requested.

MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE

Mr. Speaker: I am instructed by the Senate to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has taken up and passed HB 563 entitled:

An act to repeal sections 215.030 and 260.035, RSMo, and to enact in lieu thereof two new sections relating to employer eligibility in the Missouri State Employees' Retirement System.

With Senate Amendment No. 1.

AMEND House Bill No. 563, Page 1, Section Title, Line 2, by inserting after "RSMo," the following:

"and section 169.560 as enacted by house bill no. 77, one hundredth general assembly, first regular session,"; and

Further amend Line 3 by striking all of said line and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"relating to public employee retirement systems."; and

Further amend said bill and page, Section A, Line 1, by inserting after "RSMo," the following:

"and section 169.560 as enacted by house bill no. 77, one hundredth general assembly, first regular session,"; and

Further amend Line 2 by inserting after all of said line the following:

"169.560. 1. Any person retired and currently receiving a retirement allowance pursuant to sections 169.010 to 169.141, other than for disability, may be employed in any capacity for an employer included in the retirement system created by those sections on either a part-time or temporary-substitute basis not to exceed a total of five hundred fifty hours in any one school year, and through such employment may earn up to fifty percent of the annual compensation payable under the employer's salary schedule for the position or positions filled by the retiree, given such person's level of experience and education, without a discontinuance of the person's retirement allowance. If the employer does not utilize a salary schedule, or if the position in question is not subject to the employer's salary schedule, a retiree employed in accordance with the provisions of this subsection may earn up to fifty percent of the annual compensation paid to the person or persons who last held such position or positions. If the position or positions did not previously exist, the compensation limit shall be determined in accordance with rules duly adopted by the board of trustees of the retirement system; provided that, it shall not exceed fifty percent of the annual compensation payable for the position by the employer that is most comparable to the position filled by the retiree. In any case where a retiree fills more than one position during the school year, the fifty-percent limit on permitted earning shall be based solely on the annual compensation of the highest paid position occupied by the retiree for at least one-fifth of the total hours worked during the year. Such a person shall not contribute to the retirement system or to the public education employee retirement system established by sections 169.600 to 169.715 because of earnings during such period of employment. If such a person is employed in any capacity by such an employer in excess of the limitations set forth in this subsection, the person shall not be eligible to receive the person's retirement allowance for any month during which the person is so employed. In addition, such person shall contribute to the retirement system if the person satisfies the retirement system's membership eligibility requirements. In addition to the conditions set forth above, this subsection shall apply to any person retired and currently receiving a retirement allowance under sections 169.010 to 169.141, other than for disability, who is employed by a third party or is performing work as an independent contractor, if such person is performing work for an employer included in the retirement system as a temporary or long-term substitute teacher or in any other position that would normally require that person to be duly certificated under the laws governing the certification of teachers in Missouri if such person was employed by the district. The retirement system may require the employer, the third-party employer, the independent contractor, and the retiree subject to this subsection to provide documentation showing compliance with this subsection. If such documentation is not provided, the retirement system may deem the retiree to have exceeded the limitations provided in this subsection.

2. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, any person retired and currently receiving a retirement allowance in accordance with sections 169.010 to 169.141, other than for disability, may be employed by an employer included in the retirement system created by those sections in a position that does not normally require a person employed in that position to be duly certificated under the laws governing the certification of teachers in Missouri, and through such employment may earn up to sixty percent of the minimum teacher's salary as set forth in section 163.172, without a discontinuance of the person's retirement allowance. Such person shall not contribute to the retirement system or to the public education employee retirement system established by sections 169.600 to 169.715 because of earnings during such period of employment, and such person shall not earn membership service for such employment. The employer's contribution rate shall be paid by the hiring employer into the public education employee retirement system established by sections 169.600 to 169.715. If such a person is employed in any capacity by an employer in excess of the limitations set forth in this subsection, the person shall not be eligible to receive the person's retirement allowance for any month during which the person is so employed. In addition, such person shall become a member of and contribute to any retirement system described in this subsection if the person satisfies the retirement system's membership eligibility requirements. The provisions of this subsection shall not apply to any person retired and currently receiving a retirement allowance in accordance with sections 169.010 to 169.141 employed by a public community college.

3. Notwithstanding any other provisions of the law to the contrary, for the 2019 calendar year, the amount to be paid by each community college to the board of trustees of the retirement system for funding purposes of the public education employee retirement system of Missouri shall be adjusted as follows:

(1) No later than August 30, 2019, the board of trustees of the retirement system shall calculate the amount paid by the college pursuant to this section from August 27, 2018, until the effective date of this act and provide the amount calculated to each college; and

(2) The amount to be remitted by each college for the remainder of the 2019 calendar year shall be reduced by the amount stated by the board of trustees of the retirement system.

The adjustment made pursuant to this subsection shall not affect any payments by the colleges to the board of trustees of the retirement system after December 31, 2019, nor shall such adjustments affect payments by the board of trustees of the retirement system to any retiree.”; and

Further amend the title and enacting clause accordingly.

In which the concurrence of the House is respectfully requested.

Mr. Speaker: I am instructed by the Senate to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has taken up and adopted HCS for SB 282, as amended, and has taken up and passed HCS SB 282, as amended.

Jefferson City, MO 65101

Dear Mrs. Miller:

Pursuant to Article III, Section 30 of the Missouri Constitution, we do hereby object to the constitutionality of the truly agreed to and finally passed version of Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for House Bill 126 as the measure constitutes an undue burden on a woman’s right to access a legal abortion – running squarely in contradiction to clearly established and entrenched case law. See generally, Whole Woman’s Health v. Hellerstedt, 136 S. Ct. 2292 (2016); Gonzales v. Carhart 550 U.S. 124 (2007); Stenberg v. Carhart, 530 U.S. 914 (2000); Planned Parenthood of Se. Pa v. Casey, 505 U.S. 833 (1992); Roe v. Wade, 410 U.S. 113 (1973). This measure fails to offer any health care benefits to Missouri taxpayers yet will subject them to ongoing litigation costs on an issue already long-settled by the Supreme Court of the United States.

Therefore, as Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for House Bill 126 is constitutionally infirm for the above stated reasons the measure should not be signed by the governor.

Please note said objection in the House Journal and annex it to truly agreed to and finally passed version of Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for House Bill 126 to be considered by the governor in connection therewith as mandated by Article III, Section 30 of the Missouri Constitution.

Best Regards,

The Benediction was given by Reverend Monsignor Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

Thou are my God, and I will praise You: Thou are my God, I will exalt You. (Psalm 118:28)

Ever-seeing God, in whom we live and move and have our being, You filled us with Your spirit, that we have not yielded to temptation but been strengthened with inward power for outward tasks. We have met our obligations with honor, our duties with faith, and our responsibilities with a high regard for the good of all citizens.

Bless us with those deep and abiding convictions which keep our state strong, which makes our institutions vital, and fill our homes with love and joy and peace. May noble virtues live in us as we return home to the love and comfort of our families with a sense of a job well done.

And the House says, "Amen!"

CONSTITUTIONAL OBJECTION – SS SCS HCS HB 192

Missouri's Constitution states in Article III, section 21 states, "... no bill shall be so amended through its passage through either house as to change its original purpose."

The original purpose of House Bill 192 was “relating to the payment of fines.” When the bill was passed out of the House, the original purpose remained intact. While in the Senate, however, the title was changed to “relating to court procedures.”

The apparent changes made in the Senate were necessary for increasing the scope of the bill to include not only the payment of fines, but also unrelated items such as County sheriff’s ability to receive $10 for service of any summons, writs, subpoenas, or other court orders, the removal of a provision requiring the Director of the Public Defender’s Office to prepare a plan to establish district offices that would coincide with existing judicial circuits, specifies that traffic court judges in St. Louis County may review decisions of the Director of Revenue or Department of Revenue to revoke a person’s driver’s license for refusal to submit to a chemical test, modifies provisions related to the Public Service Commission, removal of a provision requiring the Director of the Public Defender’s Office to prepare a plan to establish district offices that would coincide with existing judicial circuits, and finally, the bill specifies circumstances under which a court may depart from mandatory minimum prison sentences or terms.

Lastly, Missouri constitution, Article III, section 23 states, “No bill shall contain more than one subject which shall be clearly expressed in its title.”

It is clear that SS SCS HCS HB 192 contains more than one subject, that is, if the original purpose of the bill was “relating to the payment of fines” and therefore has violated the constitution and will of the people.

CONSTITUTIONAL OBJECTION – CCS SS SCS HCS HB 399

Missouri’s Constitution states in Article III, section 21 states, “... no bill shall be so amended through its passage through either house as to change its original purpose.”

The original purpose of House Bill 399 was relating to health care for persons with disabilities. The Truly Agreed and Finally Passed version of HB 399 had a broader title of relating to healthcare.

The title change allowed the inclusion of personal care assistance vendors, consumer directed services, developing an interactive assessment tool for utilization by the Division of Senior and Disability Services, offender Missouri Healthnet benefits, unanticipated out-of-network healthcare services, and multiple employer welfare.

Lastly, Missouri constitution, Article III, section 23 states, “No bill shall contain more than one subject which shall be clearly expressed in its title.”

It is clear that CCS SS SCS HCS HB 399 contains more than one subject, that is, if the original purpose of the bill was “relating to the health care for persons with disabilities” and therefore has violated the constitution and will of the people.

CONSTITUTIONAL OBJECTION – CCS SS HCS#2 HB 499

CONSTITUTIONAL OBJECTION – SS HB 821

Missouri’s Constitution states in Article III, section 42 states, “No local or special law shall be passed unless a notice, setting forth the intention to apply therefore and the substance of the contemplated law, shall have been published in the locality where the matter or thing to be affected is situated at least thirty days prior to the introduction of the bill into the general assembly and in the manner provided by law. Proof of publication shall be filed with the general assembly before the act shall be passed and the notice shall be recited in the act.”

House Bill 821 deals with a land bank in the locality of St. Joseph only, thereby requiring a notice in the St. Joseph area and proof of the notice (in the bill).

No notice was found in SS HB 821, thereby rendering the bill in violation of the Missouri constitution.

ONE HUNDREDTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY of the

FIRST REGULAR SESSION
FIRST EXTRAORDINARY SESSION

FIRST DAY, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 2019

Representative Eggleston in the Chair.

Prayer by Reverend Monsignor Robert A. Kurwicky, Chaplain.

O give thanks unto the Lord; for He is good: for His mercy endureth forever. (Psalm 118:29)

O God, our awesome creator, who knows us better than we know ourselves, whose mercy never lets us down, and whose love never lets us go, by Your Spirit help us to take an honest look at ourselves and at our frustrations, our fears and the failures that sometimes mark our daily lives, so much of which separate us from You and from one another here and at home.

Grant us the assurance of Your forgiving spirit, the consciousness of Your redeeming love, and the confidence of Your empowering presence, that we may begin again this day to walk in Your ways, to believe Your truth, and to live Your life revealed to us in the sacred Scriptures.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, on June 25, 2019, the Missouri Supreme Court ruled in the case of Kehlenbrink v. Director of Revenue (SC 97287), which held that Section 144.025, RSMo, permits the sale proceeds of only one vehicle as a credit against the purchase price of a new vehicle for the purposes of calculating sales tax; and

WHEREAS, the Department of Revenue has historically allowed for the sale of more than one vehicle to be used as credit against the sales tax owed on the purchase of another vehicle; and

WHEREAS, given the Missouri Supreme Court's interpretation of the statute, the Department of Revenue will be limited to only allowing the sale of one vehicle to be used as a credit against sales tax owed; and

WHEREAS, we believe that if a taxpayer purchases a motor vehicle and sells one or more motor vehicles within 180 days, the taxpayer should only owe sales tax on the difference between the purchase price and the sale price of the respective motor vehicles; and

WHEREAS, this is in line with the Department of Revenue's prior practice and what consumers have come to expect; and

WHEREAS, after the Kehlenbrink decision, a statutory change is necessary in order to effectuate this policy.

NOW THEREFORE, on the extraordinary occasion that exists in the State of Missouri:

I, MICHAEL L. PARSON, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF MISSOURI, pursuant to the authority vested in me as Governor by the Constitution of the State of Missouri, do, by this Proclamation, convene the One Hundredth General Assembly of the State of Missouri in the First Extra Session of the First Regular Session; and

I HEREBY call upon the Senators and Representatives of said General Assembly to meet in the State Capitol in the City of Jefferson at the hour of 12:00 p.m. on Monday, September 9, 2019; and

I HEREBY state that the action of said General Assembly is deemed necessary concerning each matter specifically designated and limited hereinafter as follows:

1. To enact legislation amending Section 144.025, RSMo for the sole purpose of allowing the sale of more than one motor vehicle, trailer, boat, or outboard motor to be used as credit against the sales tax owed on the purchase of another motor vehicle, trailer, boat, or outboard motor.
2. To allow the Senate to consider appointments to boards, commissions, departments, and divisions that require the advice and consent of the Senate.
3. Such additional and other matters as may be recommended by the Governor by special message to the General Assembly after it shall have been convened.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State of Missouri, in the City of Jefferson, on this 21st day of August, 2019.

/s/ Michael L. Parson

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

FIRST EXTRAORDINARY SESSION OF THE FIRST REGULAR SESSION
100th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

THIRD DAY, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 2019

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Prayer by Reverend Monsignor Robert A. Kurwicky, Chaplain.

The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? (Psalm 27:1)

Eternal God, facing responsibilities that are above us like storm clouds and beyond our power to meet adequately, we humbly bow in Your presence, praying for the strengthening uplift of Your Holy Spirit. In quiet confidence we come with humble and contrite hearts.

As we face the tasks of this long day, help us to be conscious of Your presence and eager to do Your will and to work for the common good of our citizens.

On this September 11th we pray for those in our Armed Forces who are fighting for freedom and sacrificing their lives that the spirit of liberty may be kept alive in our world and in our great state. On this Patriot Day, give us a steadiness of purpose, a devotion to duty, and a determination to complete the legislative work we are called upon to do in the People's House. May God bless America!

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

Such notice shall be provided in a font and format sufficient to alert a record owner of the ~~[potential]~~ projected impact upon tax liability and the appellate processes available.

4. Effective January first of the year following receipt of software necessary for the implementation of the requirements provided under this subsection and subsection 5 of this section from the state tax commission, for all counties not subject to the provisions of subsection 2 of this section or subsection 2 of section 137.355, whenever any assessor shall increase the valuation of any real property, he or she shall forthwith notify the record owner on or before June fifteenth of both the amount and the percent of such increase and, in a year of general reassessment, the county shall notify the record owner of the projected tax liability likely to result from such an increase, both as a dollar amount and as the percentage by which the tax liability is projected to increase, either in person[;] or by

6. In addition to the requirements provided under subsections 1, 2, and 5 of this section, effective January 1, 2011, in any county with a charter form of government and with more than one million inhabitants, whenever any assessor shall notify a record owner of any change in assessed value, such assessor shall provide notice that information regarding the assessment method and computation of value for such property is available on the assessor's website and provide the exact website address at which such information may be accessed. Such notification shall provide the assessor's contact information to enable taxpayers without internet access to request and receive information regarding the assessment method and computation of value for such property.

137.275. 1. ~~Every~~ Any person who ~~[thinks himself]~~ feels aggrieved by the assessment of his or her property may appeal to the county board of equalization, in person, by attorney or agent, or in writing. Such appeals shall be lodged with the county board of equalization on or before the second Monday in July.

2. (1) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, whenever a county board of equalization receives an appeal as described under subsection 1 of this section that challenges an assessment of property that would increase the tax liability on such property by twenty-seven and one-half percent or more, such county board of equalization shall send a notice of the appeal to any mortgage holder on such property who receives escrow payments for such property.

(2) No mortgage holder, upon receiving such a notice, shall increase the amount of any escrow payments collected for property tax on any property referenced by the notice until the county board of equalization renders a final decision with respect to the appeal referenced by the notice. Representative Sauls offered House Amendment No. 2.

House Amendment No. 2

AMEND House Bill No. 1, Page 1, Section A, Line 2, by inserting after said section and line the following:

"137.115. 1. All other laws to the contrary notwithstanding, the assessor or the assessor's deputies in all counties of this state including the City of St. Louis shall annually make a list of all real and tangible personal property taxable in the assessor's city, county, town or district. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 3 of this section and section 137.078, the assessor shall annually assess all personal property at thirty-three and one-third percent of its true value in money as of January first of each calendar year. The assessor shall annually assess all real property, including any new construction and improvements to real property, and possessory interests in real property at the percent of its true value in money set in subsection 5 of this section. The true value in money of any possessory interest in real property in subclass (3), where such real property is on or lies within the ultimate airport boundary as shown by a federal airport layout plan, as defined by 14 CFR 151.5, of a commercial airport having a FAR Part 139 certification and owned by a political subdivision, shall be the otherwise applicable true value in money of any such possessory interest in real property, less the total dollar amount of costs paid by a party, other than the political subdivision, towards any new construction or improvements on such real property completed after January 1, 2008, and which are included in the above-mentioned possessory interest, regardless of the year in which such costs were incurred or whether such costs were considered in any prior year. The assessor shall annually assess all real property in the following manner: new assessed values shall be determined as of January first of each odd-numbered year and shall be entered in the assessor's books; those same assessed values shall apply in the following even-numbered year, except for new construction and property improvements which shall be valued as though they had been completed as of January first of the preceding odd-numbered year. The assessor may call at the office, place of doing business, or residence of each person required by this chapter to list property, and require the person to make a correct statement of all taxable tangible personal property owned by the person or under his or her care, charge or management, taxable in the county. On or before January first of each even-numbered year, the assessor shall prepare and submit a two-year assessment maintenance plan to the county governing body and the state tax commission for their respective approval or modification. The county governing body shall approve and forward such plan or its alternative to the plan to the state tax commission by February first. If the county governing body fails to forward the plan or its alternative to the plan to the state tax commission by February first, the assessor's plan shall be considered approved by the county governing body. If the state tax commission fails to approve a plan and if the state tax commission and the assessor and the governing body of the county involved are unable to resolve the differences, in order to receive state cost-share funds outlined in section 137.750, the county or the assessor shall petition the administrative hearing commission, by May first, to decide all matters in dispute regarding the assessment maintenance plan. Upon agreement of the parties, the matter may be stayed while the parties proceed with mediation or arbitration upon terms agreed to by the parties. The final decision of the administrative hearing commission shall be subject to judicial review in the circuit court of the county involved. In the event a valuation of subclass (1) real property within any county with a charter form of government, or within a city not within a county, is made by a computer, computer-assisted method, or a computer program, the burden of proof, supported by clear, convincing, and cogent evidence to sustain such valuation, shall be on the assessor at any hearing or appeal. In any such county, unless the assessor proves otherwise, there shall be a presumption that the assessment was made by a computer, computer-assisted method, or a computer program. Such evidence shall include, but shall not be limited to, the following:

(1) The findings of the assessor based on an appraisal of the property by generally accepted appraisal techniques; and

(2) The purchase prices from sales of at least three comparable properties and the address or location thereof. As used in this subdivision, the word "comparable" means that:

(a) Such sale was closed at a date relevant to the property valuation; and

(b) Such properties are not more than one mile from the site of the disputed property, except where no similar properties exist within one mile of the disputed property, the nearest comparable property shall be used. Such property shall be within five hundred square feet in size of the disputed property, and resemble the disputed property in age, floor plan, number of rooms, and other relevant characteristics.

2. Assessors in each county of this state and the City of St. Louis may send personal property assessment forms through the mail.

3. The following items of personal property shall each constitute separate subclasses of tangible personal property and shall be assessed and valued for the purposes of taxation at the following percentages of their true value in money:

(1) Grain and other agricultural crops in an unmanufactured condition, one-half of one percent;

(2) Livestock, twelve percent;

(3) Farm machinery, twelve percent;

(4) Motor vehicles which are eligible for registration as and are registered as historic motor vehicles pursuant to section 301.131 and aircraft which are at least twenty-five years old and which are used solely for noncommercial purposes and are operated less than fifty hours per year or aircraft that are home built from a kit, five percent;

(5) Poultry, twelve percent; and

(6) Tools and equipment used for pollution control and tools and equipment used in retooling for the purpose of introducing new product lines or used for making improvements to existing products by any company which is located in a state enterprise zone and which is identified by any standard industrial classification number cited in subdivision (5) of section 135.200, twenty-five percent.

4. The person listing the property shall enter a true and correct statement of the property, in a printed blank prepared for that purpose. The statement, after being filled out, shall be signed and either affirmed or sworn to as provided in section 137.155. The list shall then be delivered to the assessor.

5. (1) All subclasses of real property, as such subclasses are established in Section 4(b) of Article X of the Missouri Constitution and defined in section 137.016, shall be assessed at the following percentages of true value:

(a) For real property in subclass (1), nineteen percent;

(b) For real property in subclass (2), twelve percent; and

(c) For real property in subclass (3), thirty-two percent.

(2) A taxpayer may apply to the county assessor, or, if not located within a county, then the assessor of such city, for the reclassification of such taxpayer's real property if the use or purpose of such real property is changed after such property is assessed under the provisions of this chapter. If the assessor determines that such property shall be reclassified, he or she shall determine the assessment under this subsection based on the percentage of the tax year that such property was classified in each subclassification.

6. Manufactured homes, as defined in section 700.010, which are actually used as dwelling units shall be assessed at the same percentage of true value as residential real property for the purpose of taxation. The percentage of assessment of true value for such manufactured homes shall be the same as for residential real property. If the county collector cannot identify or find the manufactured home when attempting to attach the manufactured home for payment of taxes owed by the manufactured home owner, the county collector may request the county commission to have the manufactured home removed from the tax books, and such request shall be granted within thirty days after the request is made; however, the removal from the tax books does not remove the tax lien on the manufactured home if it is later identified or found. For purposes of this section, a manufactured home located in a manufactured home rental park, rental community, or on real estate not owned by the manufactured home owner shall be considered personal property. For purposes of this section, a manufactured home located on real estate owned by the manufactured home owner may be considered real property.

7. Each manufactured home assessed shall be considered a parcel for the purpose of reimbursement pursuant to section 137.750, unless the manufactured home is real estate as defined in subsection 7 of section 442.015 and assessed as a realty improvement to the existing real estate parcel.

8. Any amount of tax due and owing based on the assessment of a manufactured home shall be included on the personal property tax statement of the manufactured home owner unless the manufactured home is real estate as defined in subsection 7 of section 442.015, in which case the amount of tax due and owing on the assessment of the manufactured home as a realty improvement to the existing real estate parcel shall be included on the real property tax statement of the real estate owner.

9. The assessor of each county and each city not within a county shall use the trade-in value published in the October issue of the National Automobile Dealers' Association Official Used Car Guide, or its successor publication, as the recommended guide of information for determining the true value of motor vehicles described in such publication. The assessor shall not use a value that is greater than the average trade-in value in determining the true value of the motor vehicle without performing a physical inspection of the motor vehicle. For vehicles two years old or newer from a vehicle's model year, the assessor may use a value other than average without performing a physical inspection of the motor vehicle. In the absence of a listing for a particular motor vehicle in such publication, the assessor shall use such information or publications which in the assessor's judgment will fairly estimate the true value in money of the motor vehicle.

10. Before the assessor may increase the assessed valuation of any parcel of subclass (1) real property by more than fifteen percent since the last assessment, excluding increases due to new construction or improvements, the assessor shall conduct a physical inspection of such property.

11. If a physical inspection is required, pursuant to subsection 10 of this section, the assessor shall notify the property owner of that fact in writing and shall provide the owner clear written notice of the owner's rights relating to the physical inspection. If a physical inspection is required, the property owner may request that an interior inspection be performed during the physical inspection. The owner shall have no less than thirty days to notify the assessor of a request for an interior physical inspection.

12. A physical inspection, as required by subsection 10 of this section, shall include, but not be limited to, an on-site personal observation and review of all exterior portions of the land and any buildings and improvements to which the inspector has or may reasonably and lawfully gain external access, and shall include an observation and review of the interior of any buildings or improvements on the property upon the timely request of the owner pursuant to subsection 11 of this section. Mere observation of the property via a drive-by inspection or the like shall not be considered sufficient to constitute a physical inspection as required by this section.

13. The provisions of subsections 11 and 12 of this section shall only apply in any county with a charter form of government and with more than ~~one million~~ nine hundred fifty thousand inhabitants and in any county with a charter form of government and with more than six hundred thousand but fewer than seven hundred thousand inhabitants.

14. A county or city collector may accept credit cards as proper form of payment of outstanding property tax or license due. No county or city collector may charge surcharge for payment by credit card which exceeds the fee or surcharge charged by the credit card bank, processor, or issuer for its service. A county or city collector may accept payment by electronic transfers of funds in payment of any tax or license and charge the person making such payment a fee equal to the fee charged the county by the bank, processor, or issuer of such electronic payment.

15. Any county or city not within a county in this state may, by an affirmative vote of the governing body of such county, opt out of the provisions of this section and sections 137.073, 138.060, and 138.100 ~~[as enacted by house bill no. 1150 of the ninety-first general assembly, second regular session and section 137.073 as modified by house committee substitute for senate substitute for senate committee substitute for senate bill no. 960, ninety-second general assembly, second regular session]~~, for the next year of the general reassessment, prior to January first of any year. No county or city not within a county shall exercise this opt-out provision after implementing the provisions of this section and sections 137.073, 138.060, and 138.100 ~~[as enacted by house bill no. 1150 of the ninety-first general assembly, second regular session and section 137.073 as modified by house committee substitute for senate substitute for senate committee substitute for senate bill no. 960, ninety-second general assembly, second regular session]~~, in a year of general reassessment. For the purposes of applying the provisions of this subsection, a political subdivision contained within two or more counties where at least one of such counties has opted out and at least one of such counties has not opted out shall calculate a single tax rate as in effect prior to the enactment of house bill no. 1150 of the ninety-first general assembly, second regular session. A governing body of a city not within a county or a county that has opted out under the provisions of this subsection may choose to implement the provisions of this section and sections 137.073, 138.060, and 138.100 ~~[as enacted by house bill no. 1150 of the ninety-first general assembly, second regular session, and section 137.073 as modified by house committee substitute for senate substitute for senate committee substitute for senate bill no. 960, ninety-second general assembly, second regular session]~~, for the next year of general reassessment, by an affirmative vote of the governing body prior to December thirty-first of any year.

16. The governing body of any city of the third classification with more than twenty-six thousand three hundred but fewer than twenty-six thousand seven hundred inhabitants located in any county that has exercised its authority to opt out under subsection 15 of this section may levy separate and differing tax rates for real and personal property only if such city bills and collects its own property taxes or satisfies the entire cost of the billing and collection of such separate and differing tax rates. Such separate and differing rates shall not exceed such city's tax rate ceiling.

17. Any portion of real property that is available as reserve for strip, surface, or coal mining for minerals for purposes of excavation for future use or sale to others that has not been bonded and permitted under chapter 444 shall be assessed based upon how the real property is currently being used. Any information provided to a county assessor, state tax commission, state agency, or political subdivision responsible for the administration of tax policies shall, in the performance of its duties, make available all books, records, and information requested, except such books, records, and information as are by law declared confidential in nature, including individually identifiable information regarding a specific taxpayer or taxpayer's mine property. For purposes of this subsection, "mine property" shall mean all real property that is in use or readily available as a reserve for strip, surface, or coal mining for minerals for purposes of excavation for current or future use or sale to others that has been bonded and permitted under chapter 444.

138.060. 1. The county board of equalization shall, in a summary way, determine all appeals from the valuation of property made by the assessor, and shall correct and adjust the assessment accordingly. There shall be no presumption that the assessor's valuation is correct. In any county with a charter form of government ~~[with a population greater than two hundred eighty thousand inhabitants but less than two hundred eighty five thousand]~~ and with more than three hundred thousand but fewer than four hundred fifty thousand inhabitants, ~~[and in]~~ any county with a charter form of government with ~~[greater than one million]~~ greater than nine hundred fifty thousand inhabitants, any county with a charter form of government and with more than six hundred thousand but fewer than seven hundred thousand inhabitants, and [in] any city not within a county, the assessor shall have the burden to prove that the assessor's valuation does not exceed the true market value of the subject property. In such county or city, in the event a physical inspection of the subject property is required by subsection 10 of section 137.115, the assessor shall have the burden to establish the manner in which the physical inspection was performed and shall have the burden to prove that the physical inspection was performed in accordance with section 137.115. In such county or city, in the event the assessor fails to provide sufficient evidence to establish that the physical inspection was performed in accordance with section 137.115, the property owner shall prevail on the appeal as a matter of law. At any hearing before the state tax commission or a court of competent jurisdiction of an appeal of assessment from a first class charter county or a city not within a county, the assessor shall not advocate nor present evidence advocating a valuation higher than that value finally determined by the assessor or the value determined by the board of equalization, whichever is higher, for that assessment period.

2. The county clerk shall keep an accurate record of the proceedings and orders of the board, and the assessor shall correct all erroneous assessments, and the clerk shall adjust the tax book according to the orders of such board and the orders of the state tax commission, except that in adding or deducting such percent to each tract or parcel of real estate as required by such board or state tax commission, he shall add or deduct in each case any fractional sum of less than fifty cents, so that the value of any separate tract shall contain no fractions of a dollar."; and

Further amend said bill, Page 2, Section 144.025, Line 40, by inserting after said section and line the following:

"Section B. Because immediate action is necessary to address property tax assessment challenges in certain parts of this state, the repeal and reenactment of section 138.060 of section A of this act is deemed necessary for the immediate preservation of the public health, welfare, peace, and safety, and is hereby declared to be an emergency act within the meaning of the constitution, and the repeal and reenactment of section 138.060 of section A of this act shall be in full force and effect upon its passage and approval."; and

Prayer by Reverend Monsignor Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

If any man walks in the day, he does not stumble because he sees the light of this world. (John 11:9)

O Everlasting God, whose mercy is from everlasting to everlasting and whose truth endures forever, in all humility and reverence we bow in Your presence, offering to You once again the devotion of our loving and humble hearts. Amid all the tasks of our day, stress without and within, make in our hearts a quiet place and come and dwell there. Confident of Your presence, may we face the tasks of this day with a dauntless courage, a quiet faith, and a never-failing good will.

In the struggle between light and darkness in our time, as we recall September 11th, may we walk in the light and live in the light, that we and our state may continue to be the light of the nation and the free world.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

Dear Governor Parson,

My time serving in the House has given me valuable insight and I shall be forever grateful to the citizens of the 22nd District for allowing me to represent their voices. I look forward to continue serving and representing the voices of voiceless in the political process so I humbly submit my resignation to the House of Representatives effective July 31, 2019, at 12:00 p.m., and I look forward to this new chapter of service.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

July 12, 2019

TO THE SECRETARY OF STATE
OF THE STATE OF MISSOURI
100th GENERAL ASSEMBLY
FIRST REGULAR SESSION

Herewith I return to you Conference Committee Substitute for Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 399 entitled:

AN ACT

To repeal sections 192.007, 208.909, 208.918, 208.924, 208.930, 376.690, 376.1040, 376.1042, and 376.1224, RSMo, and to enact in lieu thereof seventeen new sections relating to healthcare, with an emergency clause for a certain section.

I disapprove of Conference Committee Substitute for Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 399. My reasons for disapproval are as follows:

Section 192.007 of the bill amends the qualifications of the Director of the Department of Health and Senior Services to require that he or she have a medical doctor or doctor of osteopathy degree, a Ph.D. in a health-related field, or an equivalent academic degree. While having a health-related academic degree would certainly be beneficial in managing our state's Department of Health and Senior Services, it may limit the appointment of otherwise qualified candidates. For example, an individual with an advanced degree in business or in public policy with decades of experience managing a hospital would be unable to be appointed to the position. Similarly, an attorney who has spent his or her entire career practicing health care law would not be eligible unless he or she also possessed a medical degree. Furthermore, the Senate confirmation process serves as an additional layer of approval for gubernatorial appointees. Limiting the Governor's ability to appoint otherwise qualified candidates in this manner is not in the best interests of the state.

There are many other provisions contained within this bill of which I approve and fortunately also appear in Senate Bill No. 514, which I have signed. Unfortunately, two provisions that only appeared in House Bill No. 399 will not become law as a result of my disapproval. Sections 208.909, 208.918, and 208.924 relating to consumer-directed services vendor requirements would likely result in improved program quality assurance and decreased fraud. Section 208.935 relating to the development of an interactive mobile assessment tool for MO HealthNet home- and community-based services would likely lead to greater efficiencies for the Department of Health and Senior Services. I look forward to working with the legislature next session on such beneficial provisions.

In accordance with the above stated reasons for disapproval, I am returning Conference Committee Substitute for Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 399 without my approval.

Respectfully Submitted,

/s/Michael L. Parson

OF THE STATE OF MISSOURI
100th GENERAL ASSEMBLY
FIRST REGULAR SESSION

Herewith I return to you Senate Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 447 entitled:

AN ACT

To repeal sections 58.095, 58.451, 58.720, 192.067, 193.145, 193.265, 194.119, 210.192, 210.194, 210.195, and 333.011, RSMo, and to enact in lieu thereof fifteen new sections relating to the deceased.

I disapprove of Senate Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 447. My reasons for disapproval are as follows:

Sections 333.011 and 333.072 of the bill allow for licensed funeral establishments to perform outdoor cremations. The burial of our loved ones or the disposal of their remains is deeply personal and should be treated with the utmost care and respect. Without more thorough vetting to ensure that outdoor cremations can be conducted in a manner that fully disposes of the entire remains while also addressing the health and safety concerns of individuals who may be impacted nearby, I am not comfortable with allowing these types of ceremonies to be conducted in our state.

In accordance with the above stated reasons for disapproval, I am returning Senate Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 447 without my approval.

Respectfully Submitted,

/s/Michael L. Parson

Herewith I return to you Conference Committee Substitute for Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 399 entitled:

AN ACT

To repeal sections 192.007, 208.909, 208.918, 208.924, 208.930, 376.690, 376.1040, 376.1042, and 376.1224, RSMo, and to enact in lieu thereof seventeen new sections relating to healthcare, with an emergency clause for a certain section.

I disapprove of Conference Committee Substitute for Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 399. My reasons for disapproval are as follows:

Section 192.007 of the bill amends the qualifications of the Director of the Department of Health and Senior Services to require that he or she have a medical doctor or doctor of osteopathy degree, a Ph.D. in a health-related field, or an equivalent academic degree. While having a health-related academic degree would certainly be beneficial in managing our state's Department of Health and Senior Services, it may limit the appointment of otherwise qualified candidates. For example, an individual with an advanced degree in business or in public policy with decades of experience managing a hospital would be unable to be appointed to the position. Similarly, an attorney who has spent his or her entire career practicing health care law would not be eligible unless he or she also possessed a medical degree. Furthermore, the Senate confirmation process serves as an additional layer of approval for gubernatorial appointees. Limiting the Governor's ability to appoint otherwise qualified candidates in this manner is not in the best interests of the state.

There are many other provisions contained within this bill of which I approve and fortunately also appear in Senate Bill No. 514, which I have signed. Unfortunately, two provisions that only appeared in House Bill No. 399 will not become law as a result of my disapproval. Sections 208.909, 208.918, and 208.924 relating to consumer-directed services vendor requirements would likely result in improved program quality assurance and decreased fraud. Section 208.935 relating to the development of an interactive mobile assessment tool for MO HealthNet home- and community-based services would likely lead to greater efficiencies for the Department of Health and Senior Services. I look forward to working with the legislature next session on such beneficial provisions.

In accordance with the above stated reasons for disapproval, I am returning Conference Committee Substitute for Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 399 without my approval.

AN ACT

To repeal sections 58.095, 58.451, 58.720, 192.067, 193.145, 193.265, 194.119, 210.192, 210.194, 210.195, and 333.011, RSMo, and to enact in lieu thereof fifteen new sections relating to the deceased.

I disapprove of Senate Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 447. My reasons for disapproval are as follows:

Sections 333.011 and 333.072 of the bill allow for licensed funeral establishments to perform outdoor cremations. The burial of our loved ones or the disposal of their remains is deeply personal and should be treated with the utmost care and respect. Without more thorough vetting to ensure that outdoor cremations can be conducted in a manner that fully disposes of the entire remains while also addressing the health and safety concerns of individuals who may be impacted nearby, I am not comfortable with allowing these types of ceremonies to be conducted in our state.

In accordance with the above stated reasons for disapproval, I am returning Senate Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 447 without my approval.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, Article IV, Section 27, authorizes the Governor to control the rate at which any appropriation is expended by allotment and, further, authorizes the Governor to reduce the expenditures of the state or any of its agencies below their appropriations whenever the actual revenues are less than the revenue estimates upon which the appropriations were based; and

WHEREAS, in addition to the power to control the rate of expenditure established in Article IV, Section 27, three percent of each appropriation, with the exception of amounts for personal service to pay salaries fixed by law, shall be set aside pursuant to section 33.290, RSMo, as a reserve fund and not subject to expenditure except with the approval of the Governor; and

WHEREAS, Article IV, Section 27.2, provides that the Governor notify the General Assembly “whenever the rate at which any appropriation shall be expended is not equal quarterly allotments, the sum of which shall be equal to the amount of the appropriation”; and

WHEREAS, due to a variety of factors, including the three percent reserve that is legally required by section 33.290, RSMo, the rate at which most appropriations are expended is not in “equal quarterly allotments, the sum of which shall be equal to the amount of the appropriation”; and

WHEREAS, Article IV, Section 27.3, provides that the Governor notify the General Assembly “when the governor reduces one or more items or portions of items of appropriation of money as a result of actual revenues being less than the revenue estimates upon which the appropriations were based.”

NOW THEREFORE, I, Michael L. Parson, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF MISSOURI, pursuant to Article IV, Section 27, do hereby make the following notification to the One Hundredth General Assembly of the

State of Missouri:

I hereby notify the General Assembly, pursuant to Article IV, Section 27.2 of the Missouri Constitution, that through the fourth quarter of fiscal year 2019, the rate of expenditure for each of the appropriation lines in the fiscal year 2019 budget attached as Exhibit A is not in equal quarterly allotments, the sum of which shall be equal to the amount of the appropriation.

I further notify the General Assembly, pursuant to Article IV, Section 27.3 of the Missouri Constitution, that I have taken no action to permanently reduce one or more items or portions of items of appropriation of money as a result of actual revenues being less than the revenue estimates upon which the appropriations were based in the fiscal year 2019 budget.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State of Missouri, in the City of Jefferson, this 15th day of July, 2019.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, Article IV, Section 27, authorizes the Governor to control the rate at which any appropriation is expended by allotment and, further, authorizes the Governor to reduce the expenditures of the state or any of its agencies below their appropriations whenever the actual revenues are less than the revenue estimates upon which the appropriations were based; and

WHEREAS, in addition to the power to control the rate of expenditure established in Article IV, Section 27, three percent of each appropriation, with the exception of amounts for personal service to pay salaries fixed by law, shall be set aside pursuant to section 33.290, RSMo, as a reserve fund and not subject to expenditure except with the approval of the Governor; and

WHEREAS, Article IV, Section 27.2, provides that the Governor notify the General Assembly “whenever the rate at which any appropriation shall be expended is not equal quarterly allotments, the sum of which shall be equal to the amount of the appropriation”; and

WHEREAS, due to a variety of factors, including the three percent reserve that is legally required by section 33.290, RSMo, the rate at which most appropriations are expended is not in “equal quarterly allotments, the sum of which shall be equal to the amount of the appropriation”; and

WHEREAS, Article IV, Section 27.3, provides that the Governor notify the General Assembly “when the governor reduces one or more items or portions of items of appropriation of money as a result of actual revenues being less than the revenue estimates upon which the appropriations were based.”

NOW THEREFORE, I, Michael L. Parson, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF MISSOURI, pursuant to Article IV, Section 27, do hereby make the following notification to the One Hundredth General Assembly of the State of Missouri:

I hereby notify the General Assembly, pursuant to Article IV, Section 27.2 of the Missouri Constitution, that through the first quarter of fiscal year 2020, the rate of expenditure for each of the appropriation lines in the fiscal year 2020 budget attached as Exhibit A is not in equal quarterly allotments, the sum of which shall be equal to the amount of the appropriation.

I further notify the General Assembly, pursuant to Article IV, Section 27.3 of the Missouri Constitution, that I have taken no action to permanently reduce one or more items or portions of items of appropriation of money as a result of actual revenues being less than the revenue estimates upon which the appropriations were based in the fiscal year 2020 budget.

Representative Dan Shaul
Committee Chair

INTRODUCTION

In response to recent U.S. Supreme Court precedents and concerns over unregulated gaming machines, Speaker Elijah Haahr appointed the Special Interim Committee on Gaming. The committee was charged with gathering information on the current status of gaming in Missouri and the feasibility of legalized sports betting.

The members of the committee included Representatives Dan Shaul (Chair), Dan Houx (Vice-Chair), LaKeySha Bosley, Dirk Deaton, Wes Rogers, Jeff Shawan, and Robert Ross.

The committee held five public hearings in the House of Representatives hearing rooms at the Capitol building.

SUMMARY OF PUBLIC TESTIMONY

I. August 22, 2019

At the August 22nd, 2019, hearing, the committee heard invited testimony from the Missouri Gaming Commission.

The Missouri Gaming Commission provided a “State of the Industry” report and additional written testimony by David M. Grothaus, Executive Director, entitled “Testimony before the Special Interim Committee on Gaming”. Most financial reports and other materials for the commission may be found at: <https://www.mgc.dps.mo.gov/>

The Missouri Gaming Commission was founded in 1993 to regulate riverboat gambling. Its budget falls under the Missouri Department of Public Safety. The commission currently has oversight of bingo and fantasy sports operations licensed under the 2016 Missouri Sports Consumer Protection Act. As of the fiscal year 2018 report, the commission reported adjusted gross revenue from all casinos in excess of $1.7 billion. Casinos in Missouri currently employ over 6,000 individuals.

Missouri has a general prohibition on “games of chance” which include most traditional casino games and any games or contests involving prizes or winnings that have an element of uncertainty. Riverboat and casinos, bingo, horseracing, and the state lottery are specifically allowed by constitutional provisions and further regulated by statute and rule. Horseracing is currently dormant in Missouri.

The commission described its enforcement and regulation of bingo games which are authorized under Mo. Const. Art. II, Section 39(a) and Chapter 313. The report and testimony also included statistics on fantasy sports and a comparison of sports betting practices among the states legalizing sports betting subsequent to the United States Supreme Court ruling in Murphy v. National Collegiate Athletic Association, 584 U.S. ____ (2018).

The commission is training staff with regard to sports betting as eighteen states will have such programs in place by 2020. The commission believes that sports betting can be properly regulated and that it would likely provide significant revenue to the state. The commission would require two FTE and approximately $700,000 per year for regulatory purposes if sports betting were legalized in Missouri.

With regard to the “grey machine” issue involving unregulated gaming machines at many establishments in Missouri, it is the opinion of the commission that all such machines so far examined are illegal under section 572.030. The commission works in conjunction with prosecutors and the Missouri Office of Prosecuting Services Conference to provide assistance in ongoing legal cases and disputes over such machines. The commission believes that all such machines should be regulated to ensure consumer protection and prevent the loss of revenue to legal gaming operators and the state.

II. September 05, 2019

At the September 05, 2019, hearing, the committee heard invited testimony from the Missouri Lottery Commission. Paul Kinkaid, Chair of the Missouri Lottery Commission, provided a packet entitled “Missouri House Special Interim Committee on Gaming” and a “Missouri Lottery 2019 Fact Book”. An annual financial report was also provided for fiscal years 2017 and 2018.

The Missouri Lottery was created by constitutional amendment in 1984 with over 70% support. About 80% of the general population has played the lottery. Its overarching goal is to transfer funding to education and has provided approximately $6 billion over the last 33 years. The lottery is currently the sixth largest source of state income and has very low operating expenses. An audit report by the Missouri State Auditor’s Office has rated the lottery “excellent”.

Missouri currently has a problem with “grey machines” which claim to be in compliance with gaming laws, but constitute illegal gambling in the opinion of the commission. These machines are found in numerous locations such as convenience stores and have been increasing in number over a ten year period. We currently estimate that almost 14,000 machines may be in operation throughout Missouri. It is unknown whether or not these machines have a better payout than lottery programs or, indeed, whether they operate in a fair manner.

If case law eventually establishes that such machines are illegal, then the Missouri Lottery could revoke licenses in order to force the removal of some machines. Reductions in the advertising budget for the Missouri Lottery do make it more difficult to compete with these machines. If the General Assembly were to regulate these machines, then their payout could be adjusted, the machines could be examined for accuracy and fairness, and the funds from such machines could be diverted to education in a manner similar to current gaming proceeds.

With regard to sports betting, the commission estimates that its legalization could result in upwards of $100 million in revenue. The commission is capable of instituting parley wagering on sports and this system would likely result in significant proceeds for education.

III. October 10, 2019

At the October 10, 2019, hearing, the committee heard invited testimony from the Missouri Prosecutor’s Association, Missouri State Highway Patrol, and Spectrum Gaming. Public testimony was also taken.

The Missouri Prosecutors Association provided a handout describing legal cases on gaming and gambling machines. Under Missouri law, gaming has 3 elements which are (1) Consideration, (2) Chance, and (3) Prize. The possession of a gambling device is a class A misdemeanor under section 572.070, the promotion of gambling is a class E felony under section 572.030, and the definitions of terms such as “slot machine” are found under section 572.010.

The most recent Missouri case published on appeal is Thole v. Westfall, 682 S.W.2d 33 (Mo. App. E.D. 1984), which is best interpreted to indicate that any type of video poker or slot machine that awards replays or points that may be exchanged for prizes meets the definition of a gambling device. Most cases from other jurisdictions indicated that the “grey machines” currently populating many Missouri convenience stores and other locations are gaming machines.

The Prosecutors Association explained that these “grey machines” function using a “pre-reveal feature” so that the player is aware of the next result in the game, but must continue to pay money in order to discover subsequent results and possible payoffs. The outcome of playing is still based upon chance. There is currently a case at the trial level in Platte County, Missouri, which is set for trial, but it is reasonably estimated that this case could take until late 2021 for final judicial resolution by the appellate courts or the Missouri Supreme Court.

The Missouri Highway Patrol testified that it received 39 complaints of illegal gaming in 2018 and has received 145 so far in 2019. Most complaints are filed by other state agencies and involve “grey machines”. Two officers are assigned to enforce and investigate these complaints. The patrol concurs in the assessment that most or all “grey machines” are illegal and its investigators play the games in order to determine illegality. So far in 2019, they have provided 34 probable cause affidavits to prosecutors, but most prosecutors are demurring based on their desire for final judicial resolution of the “grey machine” case in Platte County. Enforcement of illegal gaming laws subsequent to a ruling in that case would require substantial additional resources and the hiring of new investigators by the patrol.

Mr. Matthew Roob of Spectrum Gaming provided the committee with information on gaming regulation in other jurisdictions and volunteered to answer questions involving gaming regulation.

The Missouri Petroleum Markets and Convenience Store Association testified that they support 2 major policy goals related to the potential regulation of VLT machines. They prefer that any legislation apply equally to all types of businesses and convenience stores and that minors should be restricted from gambling by requiring the placement of machines in separate, secure locations. Allowing municipalities to exercise local control over the machines is also permissible. It is likely that legalization of the machines would provide additional tax dollars to the state.

The Missouri Elks Association and VFW, represented by Mr. Jim Hahn, testified that fraternal organizations were often pressured to use “grey machines”. The Missouri Gaming Commission is currently authorized to regulate bingo games and works closely with organizations that implement bingo. Bingo licenses may be withheld or withdrawn if an organization mistakenly implements illegal “grey machines”, but this enforcement action is not available for use against any non-fraternal or charity based organization that does not have bingo. Since the “grey machines” are not subject to regulation or enforcement, they cost lawful organizations and the state money. It would be better to enforce a level playing field so that organizations with bingo licenses do not suffer additional harm.

Mr. Bob Purdy of the Missouri Historical Society testified making “grey machines” illegal would reduce competition and free market choice. He would approve of licensing such machines in order to prevent minors from gambling and to direct tax funds to education in a manner similar to the current use of Missouri Lottery funds. One option would be to place enforcement of the machines under the Missouri State Lottery Commission.

IV. October 24, 2019

At the October 24, 2019, hearing, the committee heard testimony from a variety of groups involved with sports betting and fantasy sports issues.

Fanduel provided the committee with an outline describing its fantasy sports operation in the state of New Jersey.

Penn National Gaming provided a written handout to the committee. They explained the benefits of sports betting in generating state revenue and creating employment and were able to provide statistics on their operations in six states. They recommend an overall tax rate of 6.75 to 7.5% as reasonable considering the generally tight margins for profit in the sports betting industry. Penn also recommends limiting sports betting to existing casinos, which have experience in regulating live action table games and slot machines, rather than other entities such as the state lottery. Mobile device gaming is also useful in order to prevent a larger black market from developing using offshore internet sites. Many estimates conclude that illegal internet sports gambling is rampant in most states that do not have a legal avenue for regulated gaming. Penn opposes a mandated royalty fee for the use of official league data and any legal mandates that requires operators to pay for official league data from the league. Penn mentions that most data is paid for and sold to data suppliers so that an additional fee is unnecessary. Payment for official data is reasonable, however, and should be allowed via negotiation in the free market.

Draftkings also provided information on fantasy sports operations and the benefits of mobile gaming. Statistics on revenue in other states is available.

Arnold & Associates provided a comprehensive handout on the history of gaming regulation in Missouri. Constitutional and statutory authority for casino gaming, bingo, raffles and sweepstakes conducted by charities and fraternal organizations, and the Missouri Lottery are covered. Recent issues involving electronic raffles were discussed.

Mr. Chris Krafcik of Eilers & Krejcik Gaming estimated that legalized sports gaming could generate $95 million if conducted at casinos and up to $289 million if mobile gaming were allowed. Recommendations for regulation include the promotion of competitive pricing, inclusion of numerous types of games, variety in betting options, widespread availability, and comprehensive consumer education. Specific details are provided in a handout.

Mr. Mark Balestra, Esq., representing Segev LLP, testified that regarding the comparison and contrast among the current states with legalized sports betting. He provided the committee with a letter emphasizing the types of regulation and questions which need to be addressed in order to establish an efficient regulatory regime for sports betting.

Ms. Sue Schneider provided the committee with a copy of her remarks which emphasize the advantage of legalized sports betting as compared to the current black market using offshore sites. Proper legislation should mandate geolocation technology, age verification procedures, ID checks, and responsible gaming options designed to assist problem gamblers.

Mr. Bob Priddy testified that sports betting may not differ from other forms of gambling in significant ways so that the committee should consider whether or not it needs its own regulatory structure and tax rate. He also provided a handout with statistics and information regarding casino attendance, game odds, and revenue estimates. Most casino games have low house advantages and they are still taxed at approximately 21%. The legislature may wish to consider implementing electronic, mobile gaming through the casinos while retaining admission fees and other fees designed to help locations where gaming boats are currently located. It would be possible to tax different games at different rates and apportion the revenue to public projects in a manner deemed feasible by the legislature.

V. November 07, 2019

At the November 07, 2019, hearing, the committee heard invited testimony from Major League Baseball, the National Basketball Association, and the Professional Golfers Association as well as other major league sports organizations under the organizational title "One Team". Public testimony was also taken.

The MLB, NBA, and PGA provided the committee with a handout which described a five point plan for the effective regulation of sports betting. They believe that legalized sports betting should allow an "opt-out" provisions for certain events, that integrity provisions and conflict-of-interest rules should be mandated, that official league data should be used for purposes of sports betting, that mobility should be allowed and that sports betting should not be restricted to casinos, and that a royalty should be paid by the operators of sports betting facilities in the amount of .25% of the total amount bet or approximately 4% of the total gaming revenue received. The royalty fee would be in addition to a legal mandate that official sports data be purchased from the professional associations or leagues.

Sports betting revenue, if legalized in Missouri, could approximate revenues of $376 million to sports betting operators, $37.6 million to the state of Missouri, and $3.4 million in royalty fees to professional sports organizations provided that the suggested royalty was implemented.

Joe Briggs, Esq., provided a handout for the organization "One Team" which described the possible impact of legalized sports betting on players. Regulations should seek to ensure the safety of players, allow players a safe and secure method to report prohibited contacts or requests to alter the outcome of sporting events, provide procedures and resources for investigations of illegal activities related to sports gambling, and protect the use of personal data (including biometric data) on individual players.

Mr. Michael Bolserac of Aristotle Integrity provided testimony and demonstrations on how computer technology can be used for age verification purposes so that minors are effectively prevented from engaging in online gambling.

His firm has developed a variety of age verification processes including quizzes, the use of identification documents, visual verification via skype or video, and facial recognition. It is certainly possible to effectively prevent minors from gambling with currently technology that is inexpensive and efficient.

Ms. Lindsay Slader of the firm GeoComply provided testimony and demonstrations of how “geofencing” can be used to restrict the location of online gambling to appropriate jurisdictions. The use of this technology is necessary for compliance with federal laws such as the Wire Act and the Unlawful Internet Gambling Enforcement Act. There are sophisticated systems currently in use in many states that can defeat attempts at providing false location data.

Mr. James Greer of MFA Oil testified that the 74 Break Time Convenience stores in Missouri take underage gambling seriously and are competent at selling all types of age restricted products such as alcohol and tobacco. If “grey machines” were legalized, it is possible that about 15/74 stores would utilize them. Some stores might not be able to have a proper separate location, but MFA has no objection to such a requirement.

Mr. Chris Marshall of Llywelyn’s Pub testified that legalizing “grey machines” might provide an additional source of entertainment and income for local bars which face a very competitive environment.

Mr. Jay Hahn of the Missouri Coin Operators Association testified that members of his organization currently provide vending machines, games, pool tables, and similar equipment to restaurants and bars and many members are third and fourth generation owners of such routes.

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

I. Sports Betting

The committee views the legalization of sports betting as a legitimate opportunity to increase state revenues and to direct such revenues in a manner similar to the Missouri Lottery and casino gaming so that the bulk will help to fund education. By 2020, 18 states will have implemented such gaming and Missouri would likely lose revenue if it does not remain competitive with the other states. The state should have as its main goal the preservation and growth of both the lotter and casino gaming in order to increase revenue for education.

It appears that technological developments such as geofencing and the identification of individuals by age are feasible and should be mandated in order to ensure compliance with federal and state law. Age restrictions are important and should be used to prevent minors from gambling. Conflict of interest and ethics regulations are also important and must be implemented in order to ensure customers a fair gaming experience.

The committee is cognizant of the issues posed by sports betting to both professional sports organizations and players and believes such concerns should be addressed in any legislative action. The committee is interested in mobile gaming and creating a level playing field insofar as that is possible. It is unknown which regulatory regime would be most beneficial from an economic standpoint at this time. Regulation by the Missouri Lottery, the Gaming Commission, or by a new agency are all valid options for consideration, but the main goal should be to avoid unnecessary competition among state agencies and provide revenue for education.

The committee views current fantasy sports regulation and operation as a promising start and would be open to additional legislation in this area if it is deemed necessary to facilitate the growth of that particular industry.

II. “Grey Machine” Issue

The growth of “grey machines” in Missouri has accelerated in recent years and it is likely that over 14,000 currently exist in the state. These machines are in competition with both the Missouri Lottery and casino gaming and likely result in a loss of revenue to the state.

Judicial resolution of the “grey machine” issue is unlikely prior to late 2021 and it may be desirable to act to regulate such machines immediately to resolve uncertainty and prevent further loss of revenue that could be used for educational purposes. It is unlikely that prosecutors or authorities currently have the resources to act against such machines given the legal uncertainty and lack of funding for enforcement actions.

The problem of illegal gaming is not likely to resolve itself. A lack of regulation means that customers may be exposed to unfair and illegitimate gaming and that revenues from such gaming will not be taxed appropriately. Age restrictions may also be problematic to enforce given that the “grey machine” operators believe that they do not constitute illegal gambling. Regulating existing machines would allow authorities to examine them and ensure that their payoff settings and win probabilities are correct and proper under state law.

The Missouri Lottery and Gaming Commission have offered to provide assistance with regulation, enforcement, and the drafted of legislation to address this issue. It may be possible to regulate existing machines by subjecting them to prospective licensing requirements and rulemaking by state agencies or commissions. This option could be modified to limit the number and type of machines in operation without involving authorities in a massive operation to seize existing machines and incur legal expenses for the state. It is possible that an option of local control could be implemented as well in order to allow municipalities to decide whether or not such machines should remain active within their boundaries.

In any case, if the General Assembly chooses to legalize and regulate existing machines, the revenue stream should be allocated in a manner similar to the Missouri Lottery and the Gaming Commission’s regulation of casinos so that there is a level playing field for different types of gaming in Missouri and so that revenue is directed for educational purposes.

REPORT OF THE SPECIAL INTERIM COMMITTEE ON THE OVERSIGHT OF LOCAL TAXATION

December 12, 2019

Elijah Haahr, Speaker
House of Representatives
State Capitol Building
Jefferson City, MO 65101

Dear Mister Speaker:

The Special Interim Committee on the Oversight of Local Taxation has met, taken testimony, deliberated and concluded its review of property taxes in Jackson County and around the state. The below listed committee members are pleased to submit the attached report:

/s/ Vice-Chairman, Representative Mike McGirl
/s/ Ranking Minority Member, Representative Robert Sauls
/s/ Representative Phil Christofanelli
/s/ Representative Jeff Coleman

Representative J. Eggleston
Committee Chair

INTRODUCTION

The Interim Committee on Oversight of Local Taxation (COLT) examined three primary ways in which Missourians are taxed, or could be taxed, at a local level – residential property tax, internet sales/use tax, and special taxing jurisdictions. Four COLT hearings were held – one in Kansas City on August 12, one in St. Louis on August 30, and three in Jefferson City on September 9, October 7, and November 20. This report outlines some of the information uncovered, testimony heard, and conclusions drawn relating to residential property tax from those hearings.

SUMMARY OF PUBLIC TESTIMONY

Every two years, county assessors determine a market value for each citizen's home. "Market value" is defined as the price a home would bring from someone who wanted, but is not forced, to buy a home from someone who wanted, but is not forced, to sell the home. Under current law, if a citizen disagrees with their assessed valuation, they may make an informal appeal to the assessor to have the valuation changed. An informal appeal is a simple visit with the assessor to discuss the assessment. In most counties, most disagreements are worked out with an informal appeal. If a taxpayer is still not happy or does not want an informal appeal, they may make a formal appeal to the Board of Equalization (BOE). In charter counties, voting members of the BOE are made up of those appointed by the county executive. In non-charter counties, the BOE is the three county commissioners and their citizen appointees. If a taxpayer is not happy with the BOE's decision, they may then appeal to the State Tax Commission. It is the committee's opinion that in most cases this three-tiered system of appeals works well.

The committee learned that most citizens get a minimum of three to four weeks to submit an appeal to the BOE. However, in first class counties, citizens have a minimum of zero to six days to submit an appeal if their assessor delays sending the notice of valuation increase until the deadline.

The committee learned that in all but two geographic areas the burden of proof to prove a valuation is incorrect is on the home owner. This requires the home owner to provide an appraisal or other documentation to the BOE to prove the assessor's valuation is incorrect, with the associated costs being borne by the home owner. But in St. Louis City and St. Charles County, a special law (Section 138.060.1, RSMo) requires the burden of proof to be on the assessor to prove their assessment is accurate. The committee can see no reason why the citizens of St. Louis City and St. Charles County would receive an advantage in law that would not be available to other Missourians, especially Missourians in counties of similarly large population.

The committee also learned that in most low population counties, only one or two BOE appeals will be made per year. In medium population counties, that number is about a dozen, and in larger population counties a couple hundred BOE appeals will be filed. The committee learned that this year more than 20,000 BOE appeals were filed in St. Louis County. According to St. Louis County Assessor Jake Zimmerman, who testified in the third hearing, this amount is the norm for that county. Assessor Zimmerman testified that a cottage industry of property tax appealers has sprung up to represent tax payers in appeals. They advertise to home owners that they can get their assessments lowered, and will split the property tax savings with the home owner. This industry swamps the assessor's office with appeals each year. However, Assessor Zimmerman also testified that his office will usually change their valuations and settle with these appealers. The committee believes this action is incentivizing more appeals, and recommends the assessor's office get their assessments right the first time and not negotiate a settlement unless a true error can be shown.

The committee also learned that this year more than 20,000 BOE appeals were also filed in Jackson County. This number is unusually high for Jackson County, and has swamped their appeals system. Several thousand of these BOE appeals will remain unresolved before final property tax bills will be mailed to taxpayers in December. This means taxpayers will need to pay tax bills they believe are too high with a letter of protest, and hope to get a refund or credit they later win their appeal. This also means that if a large number of appeals are won by taxpayers, the taxing districts may have set their levies too low based on incorrectly high district valuations.

Jackson County Assessor Gail McCann-Beatty also testified in the third hearing. This year was her first year as assessor, and she testified that prior assessors had failed to accurately increase valuations for many years. Therefore, with nearly every property notably undervalued, significant valuation increases were necessary to bring assessed valuations up to market value. The committee cannot confirm if prior assessors were undervaluing properties since valuations are an educated speculation, but the committee has no evidence to doubt Assessor McCann-Beatty's assertions.

Assessor McCann-Beatty was asked in committee, and asked by citizens in Jackson County, to stair step the valuation increases over multiple re-assessment cycles rather than imposing one large increase. She stated that the law does not allow her that discretion. She stated that property tax statutes and the Missouri Constitution require that valuations be set at market value. The committee agrees with that statement.

However, evidence provided by Jackson County citizens shows an inordinate number (over 28%) of property valuations were increased by exactly 14.9%. This is significant since the law says that assessors must conduct a physical inspection of any property if its valuation will increase by more than 15%. When asked about the high number of 14.9% valuation jumps, Assessor McCann-Beatty called it "a coincidence of the process". The committee does not believe this statement. Jackson County citizens also demonstrated that valuation increases on nearly identically sized residential lots on the same street varied significantly from home to home, with some increasing 14.9% while others increased nearly 300%. This has the effect of burden-shifting the property tax costs to those home owners that received the higher valuations even though the market value of their homes were about the same as their neighbors.

Another issue that came to light concerning physical inspections is that all counties must abide by the physical inspection law, but there is a special law for St. Louis County (Section 137.115.12-.13, RSMo) that further clarifies it must be an "on-site" did not apply to Jackson County, and so she felt viewing an aerial photograph of a home on a computer would count as a physical inspection. The committee believes that while this practice may comply with the legal letter of the law, it does not comply with its spirit, and if a citizen's home is going to receive a significant increase in valuation, that citizen deserves an on-site physical inspection if they want one.

The committee believes that the Jackson County assessor's staff did not have enough time to inspect – on-site or computer aided – all properties they believed should be increased by more than 15%. The committee believes the assessor increased properties she did inspect by more than 15% (some by more than 300%) to what she felt was market value, which followed the law; but the assessor artificially increased many properties she did not inspect by exactly 14.9%, which did not follow the law.

The committee also learned that every Missourian is protected against property tax increases without a vote, except for the residents of one particular district. As total property valuations of a district rise, the maximum levy the district may impose on taxpayers must fall so that the total taxes collected adjusted for inflation stays the same. This is true of every district – county, fire district, ambulance district, school district, etc. – except for the Kansas City Public School district, which is in Jackson County. Therefore, an assessment valuation increase acts as a de facto tax increase for residents of the KCPS district. This exception is defined in Article X, Section 11(g) of the Missouri Constitution, and was put in place in the 1990s as a result of a U.S. Supreme Court ruling on desegregation. This ruling did not affect any other Missouri school district in this manner.

The committee also learned that every county assessor in Missouri is elected, except for two – the assessors of St. Louis City and Jackson County. These two assessors are appointed by their mayor and county executive. In 2010, Amendment 1, which began in 2009 as Senate Joint Resolution 5, was successfully enacted by a vote of the people to mandate that all but these two assessors be elected. The original SJR 5 specified that all assessors be elected, but due to political influence by lobbyists and local government leaders, St. Louis City and Jackson County were exempted out of the bill to improve its likelihood of passage.

Therefore, the recent reassessment in Jackson County caused thousands of Kansas City's residents to pay millions in additional property taxes that those citizens never got to vote on, by a county government official that those citizens never got to elect. The Kansas City Public School board had the option to voluntarily lower their levy to ease this increased tax burden on the citizens they serve, but they declined and instead chose to extract the maximum amount of tax money they were legally allowed from their residents.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Given all that the committee has learned, the majority of committee members would like to see changes to property tax law to insure that all taxpayers are treated equally and fairly regardless of their demographics, including which county they reside in, and to insure that the re-assessment effects that have occurred in Jackson County do not occur again there or in any other Missouri county. The majority of committee members recommend the following constitutional and statutory changes to property tax law:

1. Every assessor in Missouri should be an elected position. This will require both a constitutional and statutory change.
2. The property tax levy exemption for the Kansas City Public School district should be eliminated, with a levy set to achieve 2018-level funding for the district. This will require a constitutional change.
3. All physical inspections should be “on-site” physical inspections in every county. This will require a statutory change.
4. Every resident should have the same three to four week minimum time to appeal their assessment to the board of equalization. This will require a statutory change.
5. The burden of proof of a valuation should be on the assessor in all charter and first class counties and St. Louis City. This will require a statutory change.

OTHER DISCUSSION

Other possible changes discussed by the committee were:

- a) Valuation increases of individual homes should be capped at either a small fixed percentage or a varying percentage based on inflation. The exception would be a major remodeling or new construction, which could produce an above-cap valuation increase, but would require an on-site physical inspection. This will require a constitutional and statutory change.
- b) Changing the reassessment cycle from 2-year to 4-year. This will require a statutory change.
- c) Changing a home’s valuation basis from “market value” to the price of the home the last time it was sold. This will require a constitutional and statutory change.
- d) Reauthorizing the homestead exemption act.
- e) Increasing the amount of the current “circuit breaker” property tax credit.

APPENDIX C: ARTICLE VI, SECTION 18(B) OF MISSOURI’S CONSTITUTION

Section 18(b). The charter shall provide for its amendment, for the form of the county government, the number, kinds, manner of selection, terms of office and salaries of the county officers, and for the exercise of all powers and duties of counties and county officers prescribed by the constitution and laws of the state; however, such charter shall, except for the charter of any county with a charter form of government and with more than six hundred thousand but fewer than seven hundred thousand inhabitants, require the assessor of the county to be an elected officer.

APPENDIX D: ARTICLE VI, SECTION 31 OF MISSOURI’S CONSTITUTION

Section 31. The city of St. Louis, as now existing, is recognized both as a city and as a county unless otherwise changed in accordance with the provisions of this constitution. As a city it shall continue for city purposes with its present charter, subject to changes and amendments provided by the constitution or by law, and with the powers, organization, rights and privileges permitted by this constitution or by law. As a county, it shall not be required to adopt a county charter but may, except for the office of circuit attorney, amend or revise its present charter to provide for the number, kinds, manner of selection, terms of office and salaries of its county officers, and for the exercise of all powers and duties of counties and county officers prescribed by the constitution and laws of the state.

APPENDIX E: ARTICLE X, SECTION 11(G) OF MISSOURI'S CONSTITUTION

Section 11(g). The school board of any school district whose operating levy for school purposes for the 1995 tax year was established pursuant to a federal court order may establish the operating levy for school purposes for the district at a rate that is lower than the court-ordered rate for the 1995 tax year. The rate so established may be changed from year to year by the school board of the district. Approval by a majority of the voters of the district voting thereon shall be required for any operating levy for school purposes equal to or greater than the rate established by court order for the 1995 tax year. The authority granted in this section shall apply to any successor school district or successor school districts of such school district.

APPENDIX F: SECTION 137.115, RSMo

137.115. 1. All other laws to the contrary notwithstanding, the assessor or the assessor's deputies in all counties of this state including the City of St. Louis shall annually make a list of all real and tangible personal property taxable in the assessor's city, county, town or assessor shall annually assess all personal property at thirty-three and one-third percent of its true real property, including any new construction and improvements to real property, and possessory interests in real property at the percent of its true value in money set in subsection 5 of this section. The true value in money of any possessory interest in real property in subclass (3), where such real property is on or lies within the ultimate airport boundary as shown by a federal airport layout plan, as defined by 14 CFR 151.5, of a commercial airport having a FAR Part 139 certification and owned by a political subdivision, shall be the otherwise applicable true value in money of any such possessory interest in real property, less the total dollar amount of costs paid by a party, other than the political subdivision, towards any new construction or improvements on such real property completed after January 1, 2008, and which are included in the above-mentioned possessory interest, regardless of the year in which such costs were incurred or whether such costs were considered in any prior year. The assessor shall annually assess all real property in the following manner: new assessed values shall be determined as of January first of each odd-numbered year and shall be entered in the assessor's books; those same assessed values shall apply in the following even-numbered year, except for new construction and property improvements which shall be valued as though they had been completed as of January first of the preceding odd-numbered year. The assessor may call at the office, place of doing business, or residence of each person required by this chapter to list property, and require the person to make a correct statement of all taxable tangible personal property owned by the person or under his or her care, charge or management, taxable in the county. On or before January first of each even-numbered year, the assessor shall prepare and submit a two-year assessment maintenance plan to the county governing body and the state tax commission for their respective approval or modification. The county governing body shall approve and forward such plan or its alternative to the plan to the state tax commission by February first. If the county governing body fails to forward the plan or its alternative to the plan to the state tax commission by February first, the assessor's plan shall be considered approved by the county governing body. If the state tax commission fails to approve a plan and if the state tax commission and the assessor and the governing body of the county involved are unable to resolve the differences, in order to receive state cost-share funds outlined in section 137.750, the county or the assessor shall petition the administrative hearing commission, by May first, to decide all matters in dispute regarding the assessment maintenance plan. Upon agreement of the parties, the matter may be stayed while the parties proceed with mediation or arbitration upon terms agreed to by the parties. The final decision of the administrative hearing commission shall be subject to judicial review in the circuit court of the county involved. In the event a valuation of subclass (1) real property within any county with a charter form of government, or within a city not within a county, is made by a computer, computer-assisted method or a computer program, the burden of proof, supported by clear, convincing and cogent evidence to sustain such valuation, shall be on the assessor at any hearing or appeal. In any such county, unless the assessor proves otherwise, there shall be a presumption that the assessment was made by a computer, computer-assisted method or a computer program. Such evidence shall include, but shall not be limited to, the following:

(1) The findings of the assessor based on an appraisal of the property by generally accepted appraisal techniques; and

(2) The purchase prices from sales of at least three comparable properties and the address or location thereof. As used in this subdivision, the word “comparable” means that:

(a) Such sale was closed at a date relevant to the property valuation; and
(b) Such properties are not more than one mile from the site of the disputed property, except where no similar properties exist within one mile of the disputed property, the nearest comparable property shall be used. Such property shall be within five hundred square feet in size of the disputed property, and resemble the disputed property in age, floor plan, number of rooms, and other relevant characteristics.

2. Assessors in each county of this state and the City of St. Louis may send personal property assessment forms through the mail.

3. The following items of personal property shall each constitute separate subclasses of tangible personal property and shall be assessed and valued for the purposes of taxation at the following percentages of their true value in money:

(1) Grain and other agricultural crops in an unmanufactured condition, one-half of one percent;
(2) Livestock, twelve percent;
(3) Farm machinery, twelve percent;
(4) Motor vehicles which are eligible for registration as and are registered as historic motor vehicles pursuant to section 301.131 and aircraft which are at least twenty-five years and which are used solely for noncommercial purposes and are operated less than fifty hours per year or aircraft that are home built from a kit, five percent;\n(5) Poultry, twelve percent; and
(6) Tools and equipment used for pollution control and tools and equipment used in retooling for the purpose of introducing new product lines or used for making improvements to existing products by any company which is located in a state enterprise zone and which is identified by any standard industrial classification number cited in subdivision (5) of section 135.200, twenty-five percent.

4. The person listing the property shall enter a true and correct statement of the property, in a printed blank prepared for that purpose. The statement, after being filled out, shall be signed and either affirmed or sworn to as provided in section 137.155. The list shall then be delivered to the assessor.

5. (1) All subclasses of real property, as such subclasses are established in Section 4(b) of Article X of the Missouri Constitution and defined in section 137.016, shall be assess at the following percentages of true value:

(a) For real property in subclass (1), nineteen percent;
(b) For real property in subclass (2), twelve percent; and
(c) For real property in subclass (3), thirty-two percent.

(2) A taxpayer may apply to the county assessor, or, if not located within a county, then the assessor of such city, for the reclassification of such taxpayer’s real property if the use or purpose of such real property is changed after such property is assessed under the provisions of this chapter. If the assessor determines that such property shall be reclassified, he or she shall determine the assessment under this subsection based on the percentage of the tax year that such property was classified in each subclassification.

6. Manufactured homes, as defined in section 700.010, which are actually used as dwelling units shall be assessed at the same percentage of true value as residential real property for the purpose of taxation. The percentage of assessment of true value for such manufactured homes shall be the same as for residential real property. If the county collector cannot identify or find the manufactured home when attempting to attach the manufactured home for payment of taxes owed by the manufactured home owner, the county collector may request the county commission to have the manufactured home removed from the tax books, and such request shall be granted within thirty days after the request is made; however, the removal from the tax books does not remove the tax lien on the manufactured home if it is later identified or found. For purposes of this section, a manufactured home located in a manufactured home rental park, rental community or on real estate not owned by the manufactured home owner shall be considered personal property. For purposes of this section, a manufactured home located on real estate owned by the manufactured home owner may be considered real property.

7. Each manufactured home assessed shall be considered a parcel for the purpose of reimbursement pursuant to section 137.750, unless the manufactured home is real estate as defined in subsection 7 of section 442.015 and assessed as a realty improvement to the existing real estate parcel.

8. Any amount of tax due and owing based on the assessment of a manufactured home shall be included on the personal property tax statement of the manufactured home owner unless the manufactured home is real estate as defined in subsection 7 of section 442.015, in which case the amount of tax due and owing on the assessment of the manufactured home as a realty improvement to the existing real estate parcel shall be included on the real property tax statement of the real estate owner.

9. The assessor of each county and each city not within a county shall use the trade-in value published in the October issue of the National Automobile Dealers' Association Official Used Car Guide, or its successor publication, as the recommended guide of information for determining the true value of motor vehicles described in such publication. The assessor shall not use a value that is greater than the average trade-in value in determining the true value of the motor vehicle without performing a physical inspection of the motor vehicle. For vehicles two years old or newer from a vehicle's model year, the assessor may use a value other than average without performing a physical inspection of the motor vehicle. In the absence of a listing for a particular motor vehicle in such publication, the assessor shall use such information or publications which in the assessor's judgment will fairly estimate the true value in money of the motor vehicle.

10. Before the assessor may increase the assessed valuation of any parcel of subclass (1) real property by more than fifteen percent since the last assessment, excluding increases due to new construction or improvements, the assessor shall conduct a physical inspection of such property.

11. If a physical inspection is required, pursuant to subsection 10 of this section, the assessor shall notify the property owner of that fact in writing and shall provide the owner clear written notice of the owner's rights relating to the physical inspection. If a physical inspection is required, the property owner may request that an interior inspection be performed during the physical inspection. The owner shall have no less than thirty days to notify the assessor of a request for an interior physical inspection.

12. A physical inspection, as required by subsection 10 of this section, shall include, but not be limited to, an on-site personal observation and review of all exterior portions of the land and any buildings and improvements to which the inspector has or may reasonably and lawfully gain external access, and shall include an observation and review of the interior of any buildings or improvements on the property upon the timely request of the owner pursuant to subsection 11 of this section. Mere observation of the property via a drive-by inspection or the like shall not be considered sufficient to constitute a physical inspection as required by this section.

13. The provisions of subsections 11 and 12 of this section shall only apply in any county with a charter form of government with more than one million inhabitants.

14. A county or city collector may accept credit cards as proper form of payment of outstanding property tax or license due. No county or city collector may charge surcharge for payment by credit card which exceeds the fee or surcharge charged by the credit card bank, processor, or issuer for its service. A county or city collector may accept payment by electronic transfers of funds in payment of any tax or license and charge the person making such payment a fee equal to the fee charged the county by the bank, processor, or issuer of such electronic payment.

15. Any county or city not within a county in this state may, by an affirmative vote of the governing body of such county, opt out of the provisions of this section and sections 137.073, 138.060, and 138.100 as enacted by house bill no. 1150 of the ninety-first general assembly, second regular session and section 137.073 as modified by house committee substitute for senate substitute for senate committee substitute for senate bill no. 960, ninety-second general assembly, second regular session, for the next year of the general reassessment, prior to January first of any year. No county or city not within a county shall exercise this opt-out provision after implementing the provisions of this section and sections 137.073, 138.060, and 138.100 as enacted by house bill no. 1150 of the ninety-first general assembly, second regular session and section 137.073 as modified by house committee substitute for senate substitute for senate committee substitute for senate bill no. 960, ninety-second general assembly, second regular session, in a year of general reassessment. For the purposes of applying the provisions of this subsection, a political subdivision contained within two or more counties where at least one of such counties has opted out and at least one of such counties has not opted out shall calculate a single tax rate as in effect prior to the enactment of house bill no. 1150 of the ninety-first general assembly, second regular session. A governing body of a city not within a county or a county that has opted out under the provisions of this subsection may choose to implement the provisions of this section and sections 137.073, 138.060, and 138.100 as enacted by house bill no. 1150 of the ninety-first general assembly, second regular session, and section 137.073 as modified by house committee substitute for senate substitute for senate committee substitute for senate bill no. 960, ninety-second general assembly, second regular session, for the next year of general reassessment, by an affirmative vote of the governing body prior to December thirty-first of any year.

16. The governing body of any city of the third classification with more than twenty-six thousand three hundred but fewer than twenty-six thousand seven hundred inhabitants located in any county that has exercised its authority to opt out under subsection 15 of this section may levy separate and differing tax rates for real and personal property only if such city bills and collects its own property taxes or satisfies the entire cost of the billing and collection of such separate and differing tax rates. Such separate and differing rates shall not exceed such city's tax rate ceiling.

17. Any portion of real property that is available as reserve for strip, surface, or coal mining for minerals for purposes of excavation for future use or sale to others that has not been bonded and permitted under chapter 444 shall be assessed based upon how the real property is currently being used. Any information provided to a county assessor, state tax commission, state agency, or political subdivision responsible for the administration of tax policies shall, in the performance of its duties, make available all books, records, and information requested, except such books, records, and information as are by law declared confidential in nature, including individually identifiable information regarding a specific taxpayer or taxpayer's mine property. For purposes of this subsection, "mine property" shall mean all real property that is in use or readily available as a reserve for strip, surface, or coal mining for minerals for purposes of excavation for current or future use or sale to others that has been bonded and permitted under chapter 444.

APPENDIX G: SECTION 138.060, RSMo

138.060. 1. The county board of equalization shall, in a summary way, determine all appeals from the valuation of property made by the assessor, and shall correct and adjust the assessment accordingly. There shall be no presumption that the assessor's valuation is correct. In any county with a charter form of government with a population greater than two hundred eighty thousand inhabitants but less than two hundred eighty-five thousand inhabitants, and in any county with a charter form of government with greater than one million inhabitants, and in any city not within a county, the assessor shall have the burden to prove that the assessor's valuation does not exceed the true market value of the subject property. In such county or city, in the event a physical inspection of the subject property is required by subsection 10 of section 137.115, the assessor shall have the burden to establish the manner in which the physical inspection was performed and shall have the burden to prove that the physical inspection was performed in accordance with section 137.115. In such county or city, in the event the assessor fails to provide sufficient evidence to establish that the physical inspection was performed in accordance with section 137.115, the property owner shall prevail on the appeal as a matter of law. At any hearing before the state tax commission or a court of competent jurisdiction of an appeal of assessment from a first class charter county or a city not within a county, the assessor shall not advocate nor present evidence advocating a valuation higher than that value finally determined by the assessor or the value determined by the board of equalization, whichever is higher, for that assessment period.

2. The county clerk shall keep an accurate record of the proceedings and orders of the board, and the assessor shall correct all erroneous assessments, and the clerk shall adjust the tax book according to the orders of such board and the orders of the state tax commission, except that in adding or deducting such percent to each tract or parcel of real estate as required by such board or state tax commission, he shall add or deduct in each case any fractional sum of less than fifty cents, so that the value of any separate tract shall contain no fractions of a dollar.

REPORT OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

/s/ Chairman Steve Helms

/s/ Representative Doug Clemens
/s/ Representative Ann Kelley
/s/ Representative Sarah Unsicker
/s/ Representative Dale Wright

Sincerely,

/s/ Representative Steve Helms
Committee Chair

INTRODUCTION

Speaker Elijah Haahr appointed the Subcommittee on Health Care Reform. The committee was charged with investigating solutions for improving access to health care and reducing health care costs.

The members of the committee included Representative Steven Helms (Chair), Representative Doug Clemens, Representative Ann Kelley, Representative Sarah Unsicker, and Representative Dale Wright. Representative Mike Stephens, Chair of the Standing Committee on Health and Mental Health Policy, attended as an ex-officio member.

The committee held four public hearings: August 15, September 11, October 8, and October 30.

I. August 15, 2019 Hearing

At the August 15, 2019 hearing, the committee heard and reviewed testimony submitted to the committee on the topics of (1) drivers of health care costs, (2) impediments to access, and (3) pharmacy benefit management.

II. September 11, 2019 Hearing

At the September 11, 2019 hearing, the committee heard and reviewed testimony submitted to the committee on the topics of (1) health care shopping, (2) price transparency, (3) surgery centers, and (4) direct primary care.

III. October 8, 2019 Hearing

At the October 8, 2019 hearing, the committee heard and reviewed testimony submitted to the committee on the topic of Medicaid and Medicaid expansion.

IV. October 30, 2019 Hearing

At the October 30, 2019 hearing, the committee discussed findings and recommendations for action of the committee.

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

I. Findings and Recommendations on Transparency

A. Findings

1. The high cost of healthcare impedes people's access.
2. Most patients lack basic information with which to make healthcare "buying" decisions.
3. It is difficult for patients to get real pricing on non-emergency healthcare procedures/services.

B. Recommendations

1. The General Assembly should remove the requirement that a patient submit a written request for an estimate of cost of a health care service or procedure. Instead, the statute should read that a patient can submit a request for an estimate of cost in any method that is convenient to the patient. (See language of current statute in Appendix B).

2. Not only do Missourians have the basic right to know how much a non-emergency procedure/service will cost before they obligate themselves, but by removing barriers to basic transaction transparency it enables patients to better utilize their limited resources while applying downward pressure on healthcare prices.

II. Findings and Recommendations on the Scope of Practice of Advanced Practice Registered Nurses

A. Findings

1. Some Missourians find it difficult to access healthcare providers.
2. Even with the passage of telehealth rules, some providers are unnecessarily restricted for providing care.
3. More information is needed on how to best utilize healthcare extenders.

B. Recommendations

1. The General Assembly should remove any mileage limitations with regards to how far away an advanced practice registered nurse can practice from their collaborating physician.
2. The Subcommittee on Health Care Reform or other similar committee should perform further research and investigation on the number of advanced practice registered nurses that can practice under one physician. The research and investigation should include a comparison to what other states currently do.
3. The Subcommittee on Health Care Reform or any other similar committee should perform further research and investigation on whether other states require a collaborative practice arrangement between an advanced practice registered nurse and a physician.
4. By eliminating the mileage barrier to care, healthcare providers would be better able to service those in need.

III. Findings and Recommendations on Emergency Services

A. Findings

1. Emergency transport services have a perverse incentive to transport some patients unnecessarily to emergency facilities.
2. Transporting “non-emergency” patients to an Emergency Room (E.R.) adds unnecessary cost and burden to the patient, facility, and state.
3. It is not always in the best interest to transport patients to an E.R.

B. Recommendations

1. The Subcommittee on Health Care Reform or any other similar committee should perform further research and investigation on what would be required to allow emergency medical services to transport a patient to a non-emergency facility or to triage, treat, and release a patient onsite without a transport.
2. MO HealthNet should provide coverage for an emergency medical service to triage, treat, and release a patient without transport.
3. MO HealthNet should provide coverage for an emergency medical service to transport a patient to an appropriate non-emergency provider.
4. Providing patients with the most appropriate level of care and treatment facility not only improves their chance for a better health outcome but will reduce unnecessary costs.

IV. Findings and Recommendations Medicaid Expansion

A. Findings

1. Access to affordable healthcare is a problem for many.
2. Many Missourians believe that Medicaid Expansion would benefit our people and state.
3. Many Missourians believe that there are better ways to provide access to affordable healthcare without expanding Medicaid in the state.

B. Recommendations

1. The Subcommittee on Health Care Reform or any other similar committee should perform further research and investigation into Medicaid Expansion.
2. Even though this is a very contentious subject, it is critical that Missourians and the elected officials have the best information on this subject with which to make informed decisions.

INTRODUCTION

On March 12, 2019, Missouri House Speaker Elijah Haahr announced the formation of a special Blue Ribbon Panel on Hyperloop (BRPH). The BRPH, chaired by Lieutenant Governor Mike Kehoe, was tasked with presenting a report detailing specific steps that would enable Missouri to become “the global epicenter for the research, development, and commercialization” of tubed transport technology. Specifically, the Blue Ribbon Panel was asked to focus on two primary objectives:

- Determine how to establish Missouri as the global epicenter for research and development of this technology, which would significantly benefit our higher education, logistics, tech, and advanced manufacturing sectors.
- Study how various funding and financing strategies for major civil infrastructure projects around the world could apply to building the envisioned Missouri route, with a particular emphasis on public-private partnership structures that alleviate risk to taxpayers.

At the organizational meeting of the BRPH, held in Jefferson City, Missouri on March 25th, 2019, members agreed to form a series of subcommittees or working groups focused on the following key topic areas:

- 1) Economic Impact and Cost-Benefit Analysis
- 2) Regulatory and Legislative Frameworks
- 3) Funding and Financing Strategies
- 4) Higher Education Partnerships and the R&D Ecosystem

Members also reviewed the first North American feasibility study on the technology, produced by Kansas City engineering firm Black & Veatch and Olsson. The study was released in October of 2018.

While Missouri enjoys a significant “first-mover advantage” due to the Black & Veatch feasibility study as well as broad public and private-sector engagement across the state, this advantage will dissipate should we fail to capitalize on our momentum.

This document, the final report of the BRPH to Speaker Haahr, is therefore intended to extend Missouri’s momentum by providing state officials, regulators, technology promoters, and other interested parties with a plan that will meet the two primary objectives of Speaker Haahr’s goal of establishing Missouri as the global epicenter for tubed transport technology.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The Speaker’s Blue Ribbon Panel on Hyperloop (BRPH) finds substantial benefits to building a tubed transport (i.e., “hyperloop”) system in Missouri:

- The new economic megaregion created by linking Kansas City, Columbia, and St. Louis via hyperloop would rank among the top 10 in the United States, significantly improving Missouri’s global competitiveness for high quality jobs and talent;
- By leveraging the strengths of the University of Missouri system to convene a research and development consortium among major institutions, the state’s flagship public university would establish itself as a leader in an emerging technical field that is attractive to students, professors, grant issuers, and corporate funders; and
- Missouri manufacturers and farmers would benefit by being linked to a new mode of light cargo delivery, which would ultimately allow their products to reach external markets more quickly and efficiently.

While construction of an inter-city commercial route (and ultimately a national network) remains the long-term objective, the BRPH believes that the logical and necessary next step in the process is the construction of a National Certification Track of up to 15 miles in length. The National Certification Track would serve as the natural center for research and development of the technology and should be supported by a robust ecosystem of academic and industry partners led by the University of Missouri system.

Construction of this hyperloop system in Missouri would result in these measurable economic, social, and educational benefits for the state:

- An estimated annual economic impact of $1.67 -- $3.68 billion;
- The creation of between 7,600 and 17,200 new jobs;
- Increased real estate values around portal locations;
- A significant strengthening of key industry clusters, including Automotive, Chemical Products, Business Services, Tech, Transportation and Logistics, and Aerospace;
- Increased tax revenues for state and local jurisdictions;
- A reduction of over 530,000 metric tons of CO₂ emissions.

Therefore, in light of these findings and based upon extensive independent research as detailed in the main report to follow, the BRPH recommends the following measures:

1. The state of Missouri should take steps to facilitate the construction of a National Certification Track in the state as the first phase of building The Missouri Hyperloop Project.

As described in the main report to follow, construction of the National Certification Track is the first major phase of a multi-phased project that will ensure Missouri’s connectivity to an envisioned national hyperloop network.

2. Should The Missouri Hyperloop Project move forward, it could be built through a public-private partnership that delivers the project in the safest, fastest and most responsible way possible, delivering the full array of project benefits while mitigating the risks to taxpayers.

Missouri cannot complete the National Certification Track, and certainly not the whole system alone. This will require a true Public-Private Partnership to realize all the benefits while protecting the interests of Missouri's taxpayers. However, it is clear that Missouri is the most attractive place to begin a national hyperloop system and therefore beginning in Missouri is the best interest of the nation. For this reason, we believe that the state should take the lead to establish a public-private partnership to explore further funding, finance and how to deliver the project while mitigating risk to taxpayers.

3. The University of Missouri system should take the lead in convening a consortium of universities around an International Tube Transport Center of Excellence.

The University of Missouri system has already established a clear lead in terms of hyperloop research and development via its participation in the Missouri Feasibility Study with Black & Veatch and Virgin Hyperloop One. It has also begun the process of reaching out to prospective university partners to form an International Tube Transport Center of Excellence, leveraging the resources and expertise of multiple institutions.

A NATIONAL CERTIFICATION TRACK IN MISSOURI

Before a new transportation technology can be brought to market, it must undergo a rigorous testing and certification process. During the design and construction phase of the US Interstate Highway System, the Department of Transportation (DOT) operated a number of test highways where new materials and engineering techniques were assessed.¹ More recent examples include the Transportation Technology Center, a railway test track and laboratory operated by the American Association of Railroads in Pueblo, Colorado as well as 10 unique automated vehicle proving grounds authorized by the US DOT.

When an incremental improvement in an existing mode of transportation comes to market, such as a new aircraft model or automobile engine type, it benefits from the history of safety and reliability of the underlying technology. Such improvements also tend to fall clearly within the jurisdiction of one (or more) of the 11 administrations of the US DOT.

Because tubed transport is truly a new mode of transportation, rather than an incremental improvement upon an existing one, it does not fall neatly into the regulatory portfolio of any existing DOT administration. Arguments have been made that tubed transport systems:

- Utilize a maglev guided rail system that would likely fall under the authority of the Federal Railroad Administration (FRA)
- Utilize specialized vehicles traveling at high speeds within a low-pressure environment that simulates high-altitude travel, potentially giving the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) jurisdiction
- Will likely follow the footprint of the Interstate Highway System and should therefore be regulated by the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA)
- Are contained within a pipeline, giving potential regulatory authority to the Pipeline and Hazardous Materials Safety Administration (PHMSA)

A counterargument is that, given the radical new nature of this technology, it should have its own, independent administration within the DOT with regulatory oversight. While each of these arguments have merit and deserve further consideration from regulators and lawmakers, our objective is to catalyze and accelerate the commercialization of the technology in Missouri within a relatively short time horizon of 3-5 years. In the Regulatory Framework section of this report, we describe potential scenarios under which Missouri could begin the work of building a tubed transport system through a "phased" approach that leverages the expertise of existing agencies and existing regulations.

Regardless of which agency(ies) are given regulatory authority over tubed transport, the fact remains that testing and certification of a full-scale, commercially-viable system using the current generation of technology are necessary and critical steps before rollout of a passenger or cargo-ready product.

Given the anticipated costs of the linear infrastructure required to build a tubed transport system², it makes sense to pool resources and focus on a single site for research, development, and certification of the technology. The state or region that successfully builds the certification track will virtually guarantee themselves as a key “node” on a future network, coupled with the resulting social and economic benefits.

If Missouri is to meet the Speaker’s objective of becoming the global epicenter for the research, development, and certification of tubed transport technology, it must focus on becoming the regulatory certification site for this new technology.

TRACK SPECIFICATIONS

Based on our research, which includes discussions with tubed transport technology providers as well as a review of studies in Europe, the Middle East, and India, we conclude a track of approximately 12-15 miles would be sufficient for regulatory review and safety certification.

The certification track should be built in phases, beginning with a one to three-mile segment to permit initial testing of core technology components. A track of this size would represent a significant advance over current beta testing facilities in the Netherlands (0.02 miles) and Nevada (0.31 miles).

The essential components of any certification track would include:

- Vacuum tubes
- Pylons
- High speed switches
- Airlocks
- Magnetic levitation and propulsion system
- Guidance system
- Pods
- Portal

The alignment geometry of any certification track is also an important consideration. Aside from the prospective length of the full certification track (anticipated at approximately 12-15 miles), the system should be able to demonstrate the ability to turn and move along natural elevation changes.

According to a 2017 paper prepared by Delft University for the Dutch Ministry of Infrastructure and Environment, it would be possible to house multiple technology platforms within a single vacuum tube.³ Under such a scenario, technology providers such as Virgin Hyperloop One (US), Hardt Hyperloop (EU), TransPod (CA) and others would be able to operate their own individual systems within the certification track. However, recent conversations with technology providers suggest that this approach is not viable due to space constraints within the tube.

At least one technology provider, Virgin Hyperloop One, has indicated its intention to issue a national Request-for-Proposals (RFP) to construct a National Certification Track using its proprietary technology. Based on the work done by Black & Veatch and Olsson in the Missouri Feasibility Study as well as the work done by this Blue Ribbon Panel, Missouri should be prepared to submit a robust and competitive proposal.

SECTION 1: International Tube Transport Center of Excellence (ITTCE)

² Missouri Feasibility Study

³ Hyperloop in the Netherlands, Anna van Buerenplein August 2017 pg. 6

For Missouri to realize its objective of becoming the global epicenter for the research, development, and commercialization of hyperloop technology, there must be seamless collaboration among the public sector, private sector, and the higher education community. The University of Missouri is well positioned to convene a consortium of research institutions around an International Tube Transport Center of Excellence (ITTCE). The volume of passenger and freight travel across Missouri is extraordinary. The cities of St. Louis, Kansas City, and Springfield are major hubs for freight traffic. St. Louis, for example, sees an estimated $8 billion in river cargo traveling through its ports each year. It is also at the intersection of I-64, I-70, I-44, and I-55, making it critical to the movement of truck-based freight across the country. Kansas City and St. Louis are the second and third largest rail transportation centers in the nation, and Missouri is near the geographical population center of the US. This results in high amounts of ground and air passenger movement across the state. Kansas City sits at the intersections of I-35, I-29, I-49, and I-70, making it the 3rd largest trucking center in the United States. It also has one of the largest air cargo facilities in the Midwest, second to Chicago. The University of Missouri has the expertise, capacity, and strategic partnerships in place to accelerate the successful establishment of tube transport in the US and worldwide.

CENTER OBJECTIVES

The International Tube Transport Center of Excellence (ITTCE) Program is being formed to develop long-term partnerships among industry, academy, and government. The ITTCE program seeks to achieve these goals by:

- Contributing to the nation's research enterprise by developing long-term partnerships among industry, academy, and government;
- Leveraging federal funding with industry to support graduate students performing industrially relevant pre-competitive research;
- Expanding the innovation capacity of our nation's competitive workforce through partnerships between industries and universities;
- Encouraging the nation's research enterprise to remain competitive through active engagement with academic and industrial leaders throughout the world;
- Increasing the resiliency and sustainability of the transportation sector by expediting the launch of tube transport in the US, enabled by cutting-edge, collaborative research and robust test-bed validation; and
- Contributing to national security and defense by researching alternative mass transportation technologies that reduce dependence on conventional transportation networks such as highways and railroads.

RESEARCH AREAS

Broadly speaking, the problem set to be addressed by ITTCE would include, but not be limited to, the following topics:

- Magnetic levitation and propulsion technology
- Geoengineering of the pressurized tubes and support systems
- Advanced materials
- Vehicle automation
- Light cargo logistics
- Multimodal connectivity (i.e., with airports, riverports, etc.)
- Funding and financing strategies, including public private partnerships
- Human safety
- Aerospace engineering related to pod design and operation in low pressure environments
- Interstate regulation of new modes of transportation
- Civil engineering for linear infrastructure
- Terminal design
- Enhanced reality computer modeling
- Renewable energy and environmental impact

ACADEMIC PARTNERS

The University of Missouri has assembled an outstanding team of academic partners in the region that provide significant depth to the critical research areas to be addressed by ITTCE. Each university partner would bring something unique to the consortium. Participating universities will have preferred access to the proposed tube transport certification track as well as commercial labs for research and development purposes. Grant funding may be available via the Department of Transportation's Tier 1 University Transportation Center Program. Perhaps most importantly, the consortium would play a formative role in the design and commercialization of a national tube transport system.

University of Missouri

The University of Missouri's College of Engineering has a long history of researching innovative transportation technologies. In the 1990s, Professor Henry Liu pioneered the pipeline transportation technology for efficiently moving freight. The College is home to the Center for Excellence in Logistics and Distribution (CELDi), a long-standing industry consortium formed with the support of the National Science Foundation. The Center, comprised of faculty from Industrial and Manufacturing Systems Engineering and Transportation, has partnered with the trucking industry, railroad industry, and Amtrak to optimize freight movement. In a recent study, Center Director Jim Noble designed an underground freight pipeline system that utilizes capsules to transport cargo in pressurized tubes.

The University of Missouri System is home to the newly established Missouri Center for Transportation Innovation (MCTI) – in partnership with the Missouri Department of Transportation, the Federal Highway Administration, and many other agency and industrial stakeholders in the transportation sector. Led by Center Director Bill Buttlar of Mizzou, Deputy Director John Myers of Missouri S&T, along with transportation colleagues at UMKC and UMSL, MCTI will coordinate and propel transportation research in Missouri and beyond. MCTI's research and education priorities include innovation in transportation safety, sustainability, affordability, resiliency, and durability.

Clearly, the hyperloop mode of transportation would have transformational impact on all of the MCTI priority areas, and is therefore of keen interest to the center, its researchers, and its partners.

University of Missouri is engaging with interested faculty and research centers at these top-tier research institutions for their participation in the Center.

CENTER STRUCTURE AND GOVERNANCE

The ITTCE will be structured as an Industry-University Consortium. The University of Missouri will form and coordinate multi-university research teams to pursue a variety of pre-competitive research projects. (Pre-competitive projects are those that represent industry needs rather than proprietary solutions provided by individual members.) The shared research portfolio is cooperatively defined and selected by the participating university partners. Industrial members pool their funding investments to address pre-competitive shared needs, such as constructing and operating the test track and certification operations. Members will meet quarterly to apprise status, set direction, and coordinate projects. Governance decisions are made by member vote.

The ITTCE (in cooperation with member Tech Transfer organizations) will develop a robust agreement to foster collaboration, while ensuring equitable assignment and proportioning of individually- and co-developed intellectual property (IP). Because co-development of IP will involve collaborating with industrial and agency partners, the agreement will also cover co-developed IP across all stakeholder groups, creating an attractive, innovative research ecosystem. Industry members will receive royalty-free nonexclusive access to any IP created by jointly-funded ITTCE programs. Individual members may also separately contract with the ITTCE or individual universities to sponsor proprietary research that may result in IP licensed solely to the member company.

The University of Missouri will coordinate securing and administering research funding, and managing/prioritizing requests for researcher access to the International Certification Track in Missouri, and other administrative functions of the ITTCE.

Promising areas of federal funding include:

- University Transportation Centers program
- NSF Engineering Research Center program
- NSF Industry-University Cooperative Research Center (I/U CRC)

Potential industry partners include:

- Hyperloop Technology Companies (Virgin Hyperloop One, Hyperloop Transportation Technologies, Hardt Hyperloop)
- Potential Pod Builders (Boeing, Airbus, Bombardier, Embraer-Empresa Brasileira)
- Electric Propulsion Technology Suppliers ()
- Battery Technology Providers ()
- Vacuum Pump Manufacturers ()

SECTION 2: Regulation and Legislation

MISSOURI'S PUBLIC-PRIVATE PARTNERSHIPS (P3) STATUTE

Missouri law allows public private partnerships for certain types of transportation projects.⁴ The law requires that the Missouri Highways and Transportation Commission (Commission) approval of state-sponsored projects, but was recently changed to allow political subdivisions to advance projects without Commission approval. The law allows P3s for “any...airport, railroad, light rail, vehicle parking facility, mass transit facility, or other similar facility currently available or to be made available to a government entity for public use, including any structure, parking area, appurtenance and other property required to operate the structure or facility to be financed, developed, and/or operated under agreement between the commission and a private partner.”⁵ The law does not allow projects for “any highway, interstate or bridge construction, or any rest area, rest stop, or truck parking facility connected to an interstate or other highway under the authority of the commission.” It states that any project not specifically listed, shall not be financed, developed, or operated by a private partner until such project is approved by a vote of the people.⁶

We likely would need the legislature to clarify that a Tube Transport System (TTS) is eligible for a P3. We also would need to be able to establish that a certification track is available for public use even if we could not make an initial showing that the project will improve or is needed as a necessary addition to the state transportation system (since it will be only a certification track).⁷ The law also requires that the governmental entity retain control over rates charged, which may be a barrier since the TTS ultimately will cross state lines.

LACK OF FEDERAL REGULATORY REGIME

Currently, no regulatory framework exists for the certification and governance of tubed transport technology in the United States. To address this jurisdictional gap, Secretary of Transportation Elaine Chao announced on March 12th, 2019 the formation the Non-traditional and Emerging Transportation Technologies Council (NETT Council), an internal working group within the US Department of Transportation. The purpose of the NETT Council is to facilitate safe and responsible innovation in mobility technology by coordinating more effectively with industry representatives, state officials, and regulators of existing modalities.

The USDOT consists of 11 operating administrations, such as the Federal Aviation Administration, the Federal Rail Administration, and the Federal Transit Administration, that each have their own traditional jurisdiction over certain environmental and regulatory approvals.

Because Tubed transport technology does not fit neatly into any of the existing portfolios of these operating administrations, the NETT Council is seeking input on the best approach to certify and regulate the technology.

STATE SPONSOR

In order to enter into any P3 contract for the Missouri Hyperloop Project, Missouri would need to certify a project sponsor. A project sponsor is any entity authorized by the state of Missouri to procure and implement the Missouri Hyperloop Project while ensuring that the public interest is protected. It will be important to designate a single Project Sponsor with the appropriate authority in order to avoid duplication and confusion as to which State entity is responsible for the Project.

ACCESS TO HIGHWAY RIGHT-OF-WAY FOR CONSTRUCTION AND OPERATION OF TUBED TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM

We understand that the Missouri Highways and Transportation Commission acquires rights-of-way for its highways either by condemnation or by acquiring easements. Missouri law authorizes the State Highways and Transportation Commission to “purchase, lease, or condemn, lands in the name of the state for certain enumerated purposes when necessary for the proper and economical construction and maintenance of state highways.” The enumerated purposes for which the Transportation Commission can acquire land include acquiring (1) “the right-of-way for the location, construction, reconstruction, widening, improvement or maintenance of any state highway or any part thereof,” and (2) “lands for any other purpose necessary for the proper and economical construction of the state highway system for which the commission may have authority granted by law”. Mo. Rev. Stat. 227.120. According to Missouri DOT, its right-of-way easements and deeds specify that property will be used for a highway purpose.

There appear to be different options for Missouri DOT to use state highway right-of-way to build a TTS track.

We also could argue that TTS is a highway purpose since it will transport goods or people. Since TTS was not envisioned when the legislation was enacted, the better approach may be for the Missouri legislature to amend section 227.120 to clarify that TTS is a highway purpose. That would remove any ambiguity that could lead to litigation. The best path would be to obtain clarification that construction of a TTS is eligible either as a highway purpose or a utility. Depending on how the easements are drafted, we may be able to argue that construction and operation of a TTS track is within the scope of the terms of the easement, and there is some support in Missouri caselaw for such an approach. Property owned by Missouri DOT in fee simple could be used for construction of a TTS track assuming Missouri DOT has confirmation that such a use was permissible under the statute.

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT

Major federal actions, which include applications for financial assistance and funding from the federal government, will trigger requirements for an environmental review under the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA). NEPA requires that federal agencies consider the environmental consequences of actions before those actions are taken, and identify, measure to avoid, minimize and/or mitigate the adverse effects of the proposed actions. General NEPA guidelines are established by the White House’s Council of Environmental Quality. The specific process for conducting a NEPA review for the Missouri Hyperloop project will depend upon which federal agency is designated as the lead agency but will generally be required to develop either a Categorical Exclusion, EA, or EIS process. Given the geographic extent and public visibility of the planned Missouri Hyperloop project, it is most likely that the more extensive and time consuming EIS process will be triggered. Depending upon the source of federal funding and agency asserting primary jurisdiction over the Missouri Hyperloop development, it is likely that either the FRA or the FHWA will serve as the lead federal agency for the NEPA review. The FRA uses a tiered NEPA review process. Tier 1 reviews provide a programmatic overview of the entire project and would identify all potential resources that might be impacted along the route corridor. For rail projects, a “Service NEPA” also is typically completed by the FRA with the Tier 1 to address questions and effects relating to alternatives for route, stations, and other facilities; and alternatives for service including type, level of service, and operating technology. The Tier 1 review may be followed by a Tier 2 review that examines the site-specific project impacts. The Tier 2 review would also address any agency consultations, approvals, and permits that will be required for the project to move forward. Sometimes large, expansive projects are addressed in a single Tier 1 EIS process that involves several rounds of review. Once all tiers have been completed and approved, the project may move forward. FHWA’s environmental review process is known as the Planning and Environmental Linkages (PEL) Program. PEL is designed to encourage transportation decision makers to incorporate environmental, community, and economic goals early in the planning process. As part of this process, the transportation planners, NEPA practitioners, FHWA staff, and the public to work together to identify and incorporate environmental and community values into the project from design to completion. By facilitating the incorporation of information and results produced during the transportation planning stage into the subsequent NEPA review process, the PEL approach seeks to provide for a more unified decision-making process that reduces duplication of efforts. Following completion of the PEL, the next tier/stage would involve preparation of an EIS that builds upon and incorporates the findings of the PEL review⁸.

A REGULATORY ROADMAP

We have outlined a regulatory roadmap for the Missouri Department of Transportation (MoDOT) to secure approvals from the U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT) to construct a Tubed Transportation System (TTS) national certification track and demonstrate and validate TTS technologies. We also discuss potential funding mechanisms for the certification track. Ideally, the track would be between 12 to 15 miles long, but could be built in phases with the first phase being 3 to 6 miles.

I. Federal Regulatory Approval of TTS

A. U.S. Department of Transportation Regulation of TTS

The Secretary of Transportation is authorized by law to regulate the safety of passenger and commercial transportation as well as the environmental impacts of certain actions.⁹ One of the enumerated authorities Congress granted to the Secretary is the authority “to stimulate technological advances in transportation.”¹⁰ The Secretary delegates the authority to regulate the different modes of transportation to the modal administrators within DOT. Recognizing that new and emerging technologies like TTS do not fit squarely within the jurisdiction of one modal administration, the Secretary of Transportation established the Non-Traditional and Emerging Transportation and Technology (“NETT”) Council in December 11, 2018.¹¹ The Council is an internal deliberative body tasked with “identifying and resolving jurisdictional and regulatory gaps, including with respect to safety oversight, environmental review and funding, that may impede the deployment of new technology, such as tunneling, hyperloop, autonomous vehicles, and other innovations.”¹²

The Council will form working groups that meet at least twice per month. For any project that the Council considers, it will designate a lead mode for safety and environmental review and arrange for the detailing of staff between modes or to the Office of the Secretary as needed to maximize the sharing of experience and expertise. The working groups are required to provide reports to the Chair on the status of their projects.¹³

B. Process for Securing DOT Authorization to Build, Test and Validate TTS

The Council will determine which modal agency is the lead for a TTS certification track. One such possibility is that the Pipeline and Hazardous Materials Safety Administration (PHMSA) could serve as the lead agency in light of its jurisdiction. PHMSA regulates pipeline construction as well as the transportation of hazardous materials. Since the construction of a TTS certification track involves construction of a pipe, PHMSA could model its regulatory approvals after the procedures it uses to set standards for pipelines and inspect them.¹⁴ Likewise, PHMSA's experience regulating transportation of hazardous materials and, in particular, issuance of special permits allowing persons to transport hazardous materials in a manner not authorized under the hazardous materials regulations should be comparable to the type of authorization required to operate the certification track.¹⁵ Since the pipe through which the transportation conveyance would travel is a pressurized vessel, PHMSA would be in a position to consider a special permit application that defined the operating environment and safeguards for the technology.

The Secretary may determine that the Federal Railroad Administration (FRA) is better equipped in light of the fact that it is regulating Magnetic Levitation (Maglev) train deployment, including establishing safety regulations.¹⁶ FRA also regulates rail safety by seeking consensus from industry stakeholders.¹⁷ The Secretary likely will recognize the role of the Federal Highway Administration in regulating the construction of a certification track in highway right-of-way and the Federal Aviation Administration in certifying aircraft, but we expect they would participate in the working group rather than lead it.

Whichever agency or agencies are responsible for permitting the certification track, they should work with university partners and industry to develop standards for testing and validating the technology. Ideally, the University of Missouri should lead a University Transportation Center focused on TTS. Such a Center should be authorized and funded by Congress in the next surface transportation authorization bill or through an appropriation.

C. Environmental Review and Permitting

We would expect DOT to require the certification track to undergo a review of environmental impacts under the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA). NEPA mandates that environmental impacts be considered before any major federal action likely to significantly affect the environment is undertaken.¹⁸ CEQ has interpreted the statutory definition of "major Federal action" to "include[] actions with effects that may be major and which are potentially subject to Federal control and responsibility."¹⁹ CEQ defines "actions" to include "projects and programs entirely or partly financed, assisted, conducted, regulated, or approved by federal agencies" and provides the example of "[a]pproval of specific projects, such as construction or management activities located in a defined geographic area" as a federal action.²⁰

CEQ defines "significantly" both in terms of "context and intensity."²¹ With respect to context, an action's significance must be analyzed through multiple frameworks, including "society as a whole (human, national), the affected region, the affected interests, and the locality."²² "Intensity" refers to "the severity of impact" and CEQ gives a list of factors to be considered in evaluating intensity, such as public health and safety effects, unique characteristics of the project's geographic setting, contentiousness of the project's effects on the environment, and whether the action may establish a precedent for future actions.

If the above threshold requirements are met, the lead federal agency must undertake NEPA review of the project. Even if the project does not secure federal funding, if it requires a permit from the Army Corps of Engineers or another resource agency or if it is viewed as an intrastate pipeline it would require NEPA review and potentially a permit from a resource agency (e.g., the Army Corps of Engineers, Fish and Wildlife Service, State Historic Resource Office if the project has a potential to cause discharges into Waters of the United States or affect endangered species, parkland or historic resources).²³ If the plan is to build the project in an existing right of way, the likelihood for environmental impacts may be reduced. We expect the certification track either would require either an Environmental Impact Statement or an Environmental Assessment.

We also may be able to expedite the project by designating the certification track as a “Special Experimental Project (SEP-15) to Explore Alternative and Innovative Approaches to the Overall Project Development Process.”²⁴ The SEP-15 process is intended to streamline contracting, compliance with environmental requirements, right-of-way acquisition and project finance. The TTS certification track would be a good candidate for SEP-15 in light of its potential transformative impact and could allow the project sponsor to request certain deviations from the project development and implementation process.

The TTS project will need a state or local government or authority to act as the project sponsor. The sponsor must have the authority to acquire property by eminent domain, serve undertake the environmental review process (in cooperation with DOT and federal participating agencies), be empowered to apply for and receive the necessary federal and state permits, issue bonds and have authority to exercise of eminent domain and build and operate a certification track. Of note, the state of Maharashtra in India labeled its hyperloop project a “public infrastructure project” and assigned oversight to the Pune Metropolitan Regional Development Authority. Industry press hailed the news as a clear sign of the importance lawmakers in the state assigned to the project.²⁵

II. State Sponsorship of Hyperloop Project

The Blue Ribbon Panel’s understanding of relevant state law suggests that there are a number of entities that could serve as the project sponsor, including:

- A. A newly formed or existing Transportation Corporation
- B. A Transportation Development District
- C. A Special-Purpose Authority

INTERNATIONAL COLLABORATION

An option for cost sharing and expedited validation would be for the U.S. DOT to enter into a memorandum of agreement with foreign counterparts in Canada and the EU addressing uniformity of regulations. There are MOU’s or other international agreements addressing regulation of pharmaceuticals, energy, ocean transport, aviation, and financial markets, so it would appear that a joint certification could be agreed upon by regulators in the US, EU and Canada.²⁶ Members of the regulatory working group discussed this possibility with the EU MOVE Directorate as well as Transport Canada. Both entities were open to further exploration of the concept. The Panel believes that international collaboration in the Certification Track would be a significant benefit to the state of Missouri, opening up potential foreign investment in the project.

SECTION 3: Funding and Financing

OVERVIEW

The purpose of this document and the study that has gone into it is to report the conclusions and recommendations of the Speaker's Blue-Ribbon Panel on Hyperloop regarding alternatives to fund, finance and deliver the proposed hyperloop system connecting Kansas City, Columbia, and St. Louis.

The Blue-Ribbon Panel was given two objectives:

- Study how various funding and financing strategies for major civil infrastructure projects around the world could apply to building the Virgin Hyperloop One route. Place an emphasis on public-private partnership structures that alleviate risk to taxpayers.
- Determining how to establish Missouri as the global epicenter for research and development of this technology, which would significantly benefit our higher education, logistics, tech, and advanced manufacturing sectors.

After reviewing the technology, costs, benefits and risks of The Missouri Hyperloop Project, the Blue Ribbon Panel recommends that if the Project is built that it:

- Be built in a phased approach, beginning with a certification track, as the surest way to establish Missouri and the United States as the global epicenter for research and development of this and related technology, significantly benefiting our citizens, higher education, logistics, tech, and advanced manufacturing sectors.
- Be built through a public-private partnership that delivers the project in the safest, fastest and most responsible way possible, especially delivering the project benefits and mitigating the risks to taxpayers.

As articulated in this section, we define The Missouri Hyperloop Project as three-phase project: (1) Create the certification track, (2) Build the commercial route, and (3) Operate the commercial route.

SECTION 4: Recommended Approach for Funding, Financing, and Delivery

Our considerations to fund, finance and deliver "The Missouri Hyperloop Project" are based on the specific steps that Missouri has done in the past to create the prosperity Missourians benefit from today.

Now at beginning of the 21st century, we recommend we repeat in principle these actions to create prosperity for the generations to come:

Recommendation #1: Define and organize The Missouri Hyperloop into three phases: (1) Building a National Certification Track, (2) Enabling a partnership to build and operate a commercial hyperloop route connecting Kansas City, Columbia, St. Louis as identified in the Missouri Hyperloop Feasibility Study, and (3) Ensuring capital is reinvested to maintain the commercial hyperloop route, Recommendation #2: State of Missouri appoints a new or existing entity to serve as the Project Sponsor to oversee the public interest, develop the initial finance plan and procure the private sector partners, all while trying to mitigate risk to taxpayers.

Recommendation #3: The Project Sponsor would develop a responsible financial plan and procure private sector partners in a delivery model which mitigates the risk to taxpayers.

THE BRP APPROACH TO DEVELOPING THESE RECOMMENDATIONS

To understand the range of possibilities regarding funding, financing and delivery the Blue-Ribbon Panel's workgroup formulated the following questions at our April 16, 2019 meeting, and our resulting recommendations emerged from the answers. The initial questions logically cluster around three components:

Project-Related Questions

What is the Project Definition?
What are the Project Benefits?
What are the Project Values/Guiding Principles?
What is the Project Timetable?
Are there comparable Projects?
Who is the Project Sponsor?
What are the various project delivery models under consideration?

Financial-Related Questions

What are the Costs?
What are the Potential Sources for Funding?
What are the Alternative Methods for Financing?

Governance and Oversight Questions

What is the public sector risk tolerance?
What are the advantages/disadvantages of various project delivery methods?
What is/are the regulatory framework(s)?

DEVELOPED KEY ASSUMPTIONS

The workgroup developed these key assumptions that underpin our recommendations:

- The "Missouri Hyperloop Feasibility Study" by Black & Veatch demonstrates technical feasibility.
- Any commercialization program for hyperloop technology in the United States will first require an extensive research, development, and certification phase, including physical demonstration of the safety and reliability of the underlying technology at a national certification facility.
- Full commercialization is the end goal, though it involves a longer process.
- The primary commercial application for this technology at least initially will be the transport of light cargo.
- Private sector investors have shown interest in similar projects.
- The risks that private sector investors are generally unwilling to absorb are those risks that they are not able to manage and/or mitigate. One such example of a risk that the private sector would not absorb is the risk of public sector uncertainty.
- Current regulatory and legal impediments to construction of a commercial route may be addressed via a combination of legislative action and rule promulgation.

Full commercialization (i.e., the construction of a commercial route connected to the national transportation grid) is the end goal, though it involves a longer process than merely building a Certification Track. When thinking about the likeliest path to commercialization, it is instructive to consider the history of the US space program. The first artifacts that were sent into space were inanimate. Only after the core concepts of achieving escape velocity, maintaining structural integrity, and sustaining orbit were conclusively proven (and demonstrated in reality) did the program begin the process of sending human beings into space. This involved an entirely new set of challenges, including understanding the effects of extra-atmospheric radiation on bodies and, of course, figuring out how to get living creatures back to Earth intact. The first animals in space were fruit flies. Then came dogs and cats; next, monkeys and chimps. Humans came much later²⁷.

The same principles are likely to apply to commercialization of hyperloop. Before humans begin zipping between cities in near-vacuum tubes at 670mph, an extensive testing and certification process must take place. During this phase of development—which could take as long as 5 to 7 years—we believe that the primary commercial application for this technology will be the transport of light cargo. For Missouri, this means connecting our manufacturing and agricultural output with external markets.

The sections that follow provide more detail for each for these three recommendations. Relevant background information is included in the appendices.

Recommendation #1

Define and organize The Missouri Hyperloop into three phases: (1) Certification Track, (2) commercial hyperloop route connecting Kansas City, Columbia, and St. Louis, (3) Operating and reinvesting capital to maintain the commercial hyperloop.

Project Definition

The Project is defined as delivering “The Missouri Hyperloop,” the nation’s first completed hyperloop system in an envisioned national hyperloop network. The Missouri Hyperloop Project is organized into three phases:

Phase I: Certification Track for International Tube Transport Center of Excellence

We envision an elevated, single-tube Certification Track that ultimately extends to a length of 12-15 miles. A track of this length would represent a significant improvement over currently-operating prototypes.

Based on our research, which includes discussions with tubed transport technology providers as well as a review of studies in Europe, the Middle East, and India, we conclude a track of approximately 12-15 miles would be sufficient for regulatory review and safety certification. The certification track could itself be built in phases, beginning with a roughly three mile segment that would permit initial testing of core technology components. Such a project would represent a significant advance over current beta testing facilities in the Netherlands (30 meters) and Nevada (500 meters).

The essential components of any certification track would include:

- Vacuum tubes
- Pylons
- High speed switches
- Airlocks
- Magnetic levitation and propulsion system
- Guidance system
- Pods
- Portal

The alignment geometry of any certification track is also an important consideration. Aside from the prospective length of the full certification track (anticipated at approximately 12-15 miles), the system should encompass at least one significant curve as well as some variation in elevation.

It should also allow the pods to approach maximum velocity, a key requirement in any certification process. The total cost of a track of this length has been estimated at $300-$500MM USD. Importantly, this initial segment—effectively “Mile Zero” on an eventual national network—would be at least three-and-a-half times longer than any existing prototypes and could be used to further validate the viability of the underlying technology.

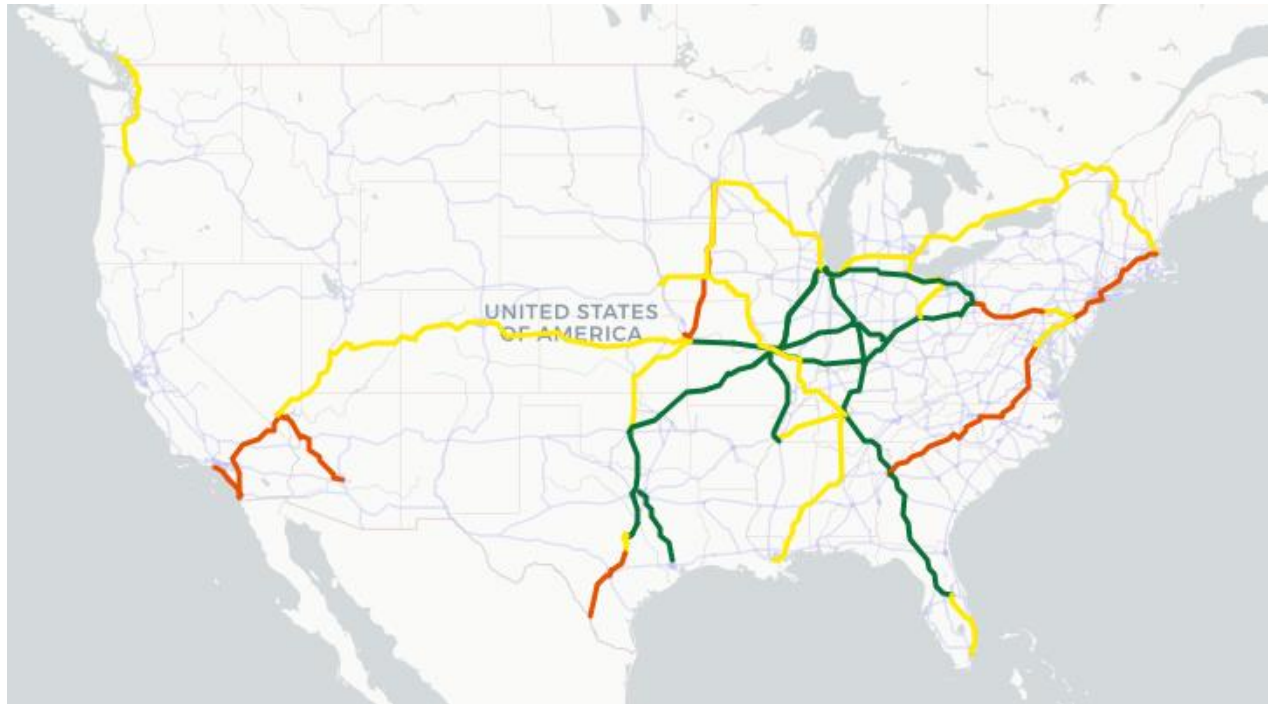

By investing in this initial segment, which we believe could be built according to the regulatory roadmap laid out in Section 2, Missouri would position itself as the natural epicenter for the research, development, and commercialization of hyperloop technology. It is unlikely that other regions would seek to duplicate our efforts, given the cost and complexity involved in initial permitting, regulatory approvals, and construction. Rather, Missouri would be the logical site for continued investment in the track and ongoing evaluation by regulators.

The Panel has concluded that the first site in the continental United States, Canada, or Europe that completes a full-sized segment (~4 meters interior diameter) of tube will likely end up being the beneficiary of future investment. There will be no prize for second place.

Phase II: The Commercial Hyperloop Route in Missouri

The Missouri Hyperloop would become first hyperloop system in the U.S., connecting three Missouri metro areas and the University of Missouri System into a hyperconnected economic megaregion. Hyperloop is a new mode of transportation based on proven science capable of moving freight and people quickly, safely, and directly from origin to destination. The hyperloop connecting Kansas City, Columbia and St. Louis would reduce the current travel time, end-to-end, from around four hours to only 30 minutes, impacting nearly five million people across the state. The estimated cost to build a new hyperloop system across the Missouri ranges from $30 million to $40 million per mile, or approximately $7.3 to $10.4 billion total.

As established in the Missouri Hyperloop Feasibility Study by Black & Veatch the historic Interstate Highway 70 is an ideal corridor for the nation's first hyperloop. At the crossroads of the United States, I-70 connects to six other major interstate highways, links several international airports, and acts as a nexus-placing Missouri talent and business at the crossroads of the world, a new Gateway between the East and the West. It is the birthplace of the US Interstate Highway System, and the natural geopolitical “hub,” to most effectively build out an envisioned national network.

Phase III: Operating and reinvesting capital to maintain the Commercial Hyperloop Route in Missouri

The operation and reinvestment phase of the project should be driven by private industry and private capital through a long term concession agreement. The specific terms of that concession agreement would be negotiated on behalf of Missouri taxpayers by the Project Sponsor and would ensure that taxpayers would not be responsible for ongoing maintenance and reinvestment.

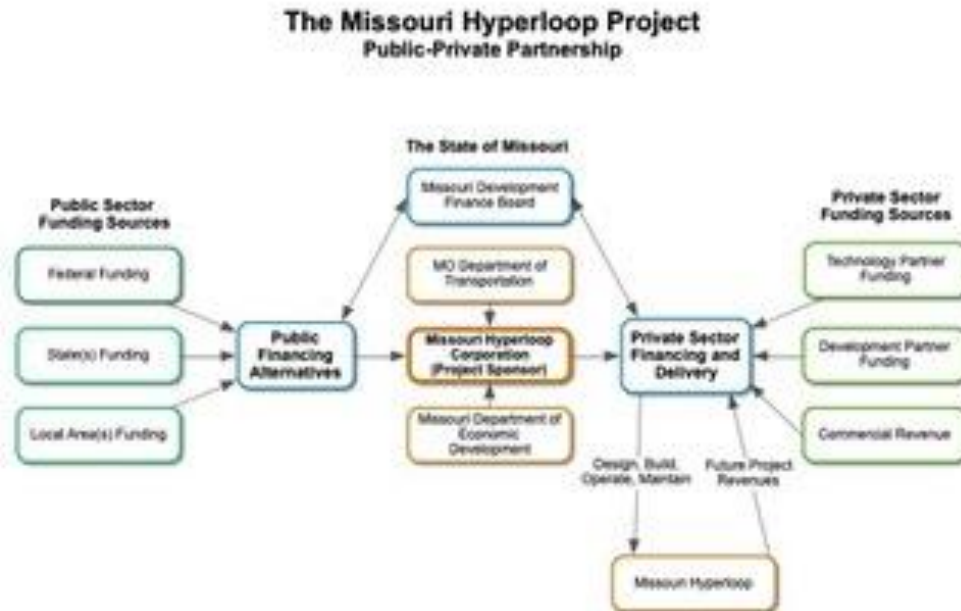

Recommendation #2

State of Missouri appoints a new or existing entity to serve as the Project Sponsor to oversee the public interest, develop the initial finance plan and procure the private sector partners, all while trying to mitigate risk to taxpayers.

The BRP recommends the state of Missouri repeats the same play by:

1. Organizing an entity to serve as the Project Sponsor. This Project Sponsor would oversee the public interest, develop the initial finance plan, and procure the private sector partners to mitigate risk to the taxpayers.
2. This Project Sponsor, [which we refer to in this report as “The Missouri Hyperloop Corporation”], could be organized and initially staffed by the Missouri Department of Transportation and the Missouri Department of Economic Development.
3. The sole mission of the Project Sponsor is to support the development The Missouri Hyperloop Project. This includes develop the financing plan, work with federal, interstate and local public sector funding and financing, procure private sector partners and oversee the public interest beginning with completion of the Certification Track for International Tube Transport Center of Excellence.

Recommendation #3

The Project Sponsor would develop a responsible financial plan and procure private sector partners in a delivery model which mitigates the risk to taxpayers.

Developing an Initial Financing Plan

The Project Sponsor should identify up-front funding and financing capacity. Other critical factors to be addressed on the Initial Financing Plan include:

- The ability to realistically forecast future commercial revenues as one of the sources for repayment of financing
- Deployment of an optimal mix of bankable financing elements
- Retention of flexibility to react to market conditions
- Incorporate commercially viable risk allocation

The Partnership Model

We recommend what the authors of a 2010 KPMG report on P3 project delivery call a “partnership model.”

As defined herein, “the partnership model is a form of project delivery strategy where the design, construction, and operation” of Missouri Hyperloop will be completed by the Technology and Development Partners “for the benefit” of the general public.

“One of the main features of the partnership model is the transfer of financing, project delivery, operation, and maintenance risks to a private sector entity. Hence, both the design risk as well as the construction risk rests with a private sector entity (other than where changes are requested by the public sector). The private sector entity is incentivized to deliver the project on time and to budget, as payment is typically withheld until the facility is operational. The private sector entity assumes responsibility, and therefore the risk, for the integration of all services.”²⁸

The Project Sponsor for Missouri Hyperloop procures a technology partner, who then procures a development partner. Success will be determined by efficient risk allocation, financially viable counterparties, and transparency in decision making.

SECTION 5: Economic Impact and Cost Benefit Analysis

Four and half years ago the Missouri Chamber Foundation published Missouri2030: An Agenda to Lead, a bold, 15-year strategic plan to secure the state’s place as a global leader in key economic measurements such as workforce, infrastructure, entrepreneurship and business climate. The plan has served as the vehicle to empower Missouri employers from all industry sectors, and every corner of the state, with an agenda that will drive Missouri toward better job creation, wage growth, economic productivity and output.

In the past few years additional focus has been provided by Missouri Workforce2030 and Missouri Technology2030. Later this year, Missouri Infrastructure2030 will be released. Missouri has a long history as both an infrastructure pacesetter and as a state whose economy has been hurt as other places have gained an infrastructure advantage. Missouri’s economy has historically depended on its position as a center-of-the-country logistics hub. In this time of intense state competition and rapid technological transformation, the state’s economic future might well depend on the quality of its infrastructure and the innovative vision of its leaders.

As a part of the Missouri Chamber Foundation’s broader infrastructure study, this initial research focuses on the potential economic and competitive impact of constructing a “Hyperloop” along the St. Louis-Columbia-Kansas City corridor. A hyperloop is a sealed tube system with little air friction, allowing transportation pods to move at very high rates of speed. The general idea a “vactrain” dates to Robert Goddard in 1904, but more recently has been championed by modern visionaries as the next step in transportation evolution. In March of 2019, the state created a bipartisan Blue-Ribbon Panel of Missouri lawmakers, public officials, and private sector representatives to explore the possibilities of positioning the state as the global epicenter for research and development of hyperloop technology.

A previously released Black & Veatch feasibility study of the proposed route in Missouri has already confirmed the commercial viability of Virgin Hyperloop One technology. The independent and in-depth report confirmed the “viability of the I-70 based route through an exhaustive examination of the social impact, station locations, regulatory issues, route alignments and rights-of-way associated with a new hyperloop system that would connect Kansas City, Columbia and St. Louis.”

This Missouri Chamber Foundation supplemental white paper uses the solid foundation provided by the Black & Veatch findings, and examines the impact of constructing and operating a pioneering hyperloop on infrastructure competitiveness, and specifically on the cluster synergies that could be achieved. It also uses the information that is available to roughly estimate some the possible cost benefits of the Hyperloop.

Traditionally a cost-benefit analysis estimates the equivalent money value of the benefits and costs of a specific project. In this case a comprehensive cost-benefit analysis is complicated by the need for specific estimates that are assigned to non-monetary positives and negatives. For instance, the construction of a hyperloop will likely have positive impacts on road safety, reduced emissions, and individual worker and business efficiencies due to time savings. Some rough cost and job estimates are provided in this document, but the focus is on broader economic and competitiveness impacts that mirror the goals of Missouri2030.

Recently, significant global research has been devoted to the concept of Wider Economic Impacts, where broader costs and benefits can be better included in benefit assessments.

²⁸ KPMG International, Project Delivery Strategy: Getting It Right, 2010

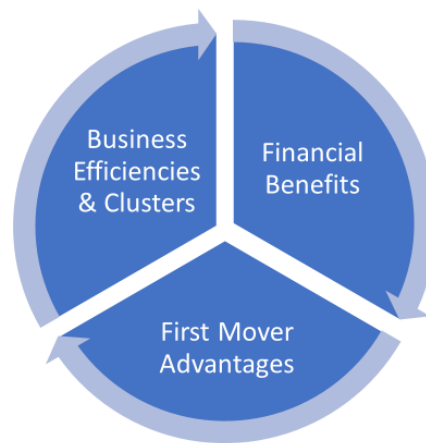

The National Academy of Sciences suggests a clear relationship between infrastructure (transportation) improvements and improved economic growth but recognizes specific research conclusions are impacted by the complexity of this interaction. In this case, a first-of-its kind hyperloop creates significant complexity. Nevertheless, there is clear research suggesting that investments in infrastructure yield economic results.

Robert Puentes and Adie Tomer of the Brookings Institution’s Metropolitan Policy Program recently reported, “In the aftermath of the Great Recession, a dramatic change is occurring in how metropolitan areas plan for their future. In these places, a dedicated set of civic, corporate, political and philanthropic leaders are explicitly making the connection between transportation planning and investments with economic growth. This is a new form of transportation planning and placemaking that does not leave growth to chance but starts with the overarching economic vision based on a true assessment of their strengths, challenges and opportunities. It represents a deliberate and intentional set of tactics and strategies.”

Dr. Paula Dowell, Director of Economics at Cambridge Systematics, has concluded that “strategically, transportation investments succeed in areas where transportation - or its lack - is an identified impediment to development.” She questions whether traditional travel time methods are sufficient to demonstrate impact and concludes that the broader impacts of transportation investment can help to shape economies by supporting clusters, increasing productivity, enhancing labor market accessibility, opening new markets and creating supply chain efficiency.

The work by the Brookings team of Puentes and Tomer also suggests that one of the best recent studies analyzing transportation as a way to increase economic growth was a 2008 study by the United Kingdom Department of Transportation. It stated that a “well performing transportation network would:

1. Increase business efficiency, through time savings and improved reliability for business travelers, freight and logistics operations.
2. Increase business investment and innovation by supporting economies of scale or new ways of working.
3. Support clusters and agglomerations of economic activity. Transportation improvements can expand labor market areas, improve job matching and facilitate business-to-business interactions.
4. Improve the efficient functioning of labor markets, increase labor market flexibility, and the accessibility of jobs.
5. Increase competition by opening up access to new markets.
6. Increase domestic and international trade by reducing the costs of trading for services and freight.
7. Attract globally mobile activity to a region by providing an attractive business environment and good quality of life.”

The Missouri Hyperloop has the potential to positively impact each of these areas and each would positively contribute to increased economic growth.

The Chamber Foundation explored the wider economic impacts by focusing on three specific areas: (1) overall business efficiencies and cluster synergies/ enhancements due to increased proximity between St. Louis, Columbia and Kansas City; (2) potential first-mover branding and positioning advantages; and (3) rough estimates of specific financial benefits.

BUSINESS EFFICIENCIES AND CLUSTERING IMPACTS

One of the most significant potential competitive benefits of a hyperloop would be better connecting the economies and research capacity of the entire central Missouri corridor. Over 120 years ago a British economist, Alfred Marshall, published a book called Principles of Economics, on which much of today's cluster theories are based. He used the term "agglomeration" to explain the geographic clustering of firms, their supply chains and support organizations; and the term "localization effect" to explain how businesses could become more productive (and more competitive) based on external influences.

Three specific impacts contributed to improved competitiveness: (1) input sharing, (2) labor market pooling and (3) knowledge spillover. The Missouri Hyperloop should positively impact each.

A hyperloop connection would effectively eliminate the current distance between St. Louis, Columbia, and Kansas City, creating a super region. If St. Louis, Columbia, and Kansas City were quickly accessible to one another via a hyperloop, the metropolitan areas would have newly proximate supplier networks, labor sheds, and training and research capacity. These components are the building blocks of dynamic industry innovation and growth. To explore the impact of connecting the economies of these three cities we looked closely at the traded clusters of each of the three metropolitan areas and the likely clusters of a geographically connected super-region.

A business cluster is a geographic concentration of interconnected businesses, suppliers, and associated institutions in a particular field. Traded clusters are groupings of industries that serve markets outside of a region (internationally and/or domestically). Traded clusters often account for less than 40 percent of a region's employment, however, they are usually responsible for 50 percent or more of a region's income and innovation.

POSITIVE IMPACTS OF CLUSTER INPUT SHARING

If St. Louis, Columbia, and Kansas City were to be made so accessible to one another via a hyperloop, then input sharing among companies and their suppliers could occur across the whole corridor. A specialty supplier in Kansas City could easily serve a need in St. Louis.

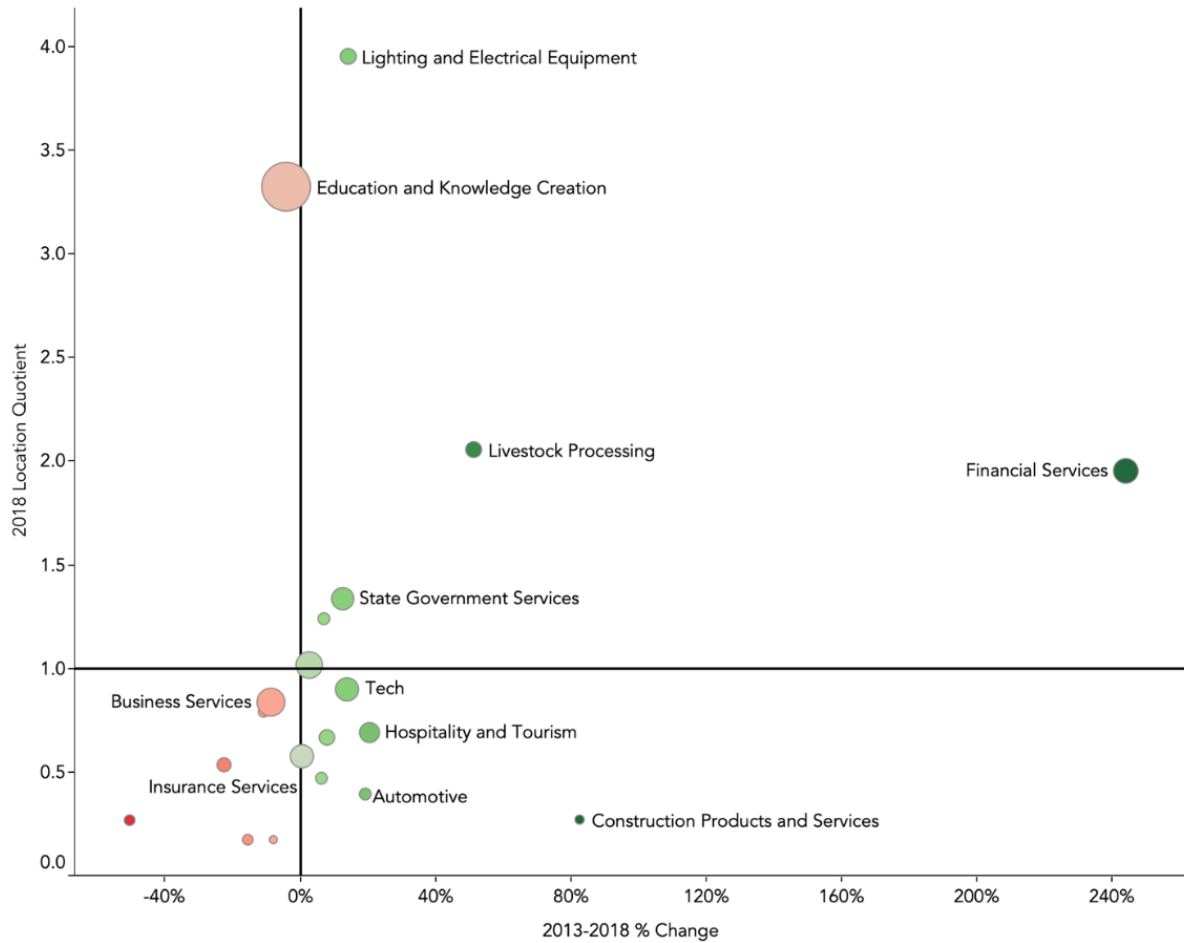

For this analysis, the cluster data for all three cities was reviewed and then analyzed to identify the potential clusters that would be enhanced by input sharing across the super region created by the hyperloop technology. A complete methodology is provided in an appendix. Location quotients (LQs) help demonstrate the clusters that have high concentrations in a region. LQs are the concentration of a cluster’s employment in the region compared to national employment levels. A location quotient of greater than 1.00 demonstrates a higher concentration than what would be expected based on national levels. This can reveal what clusters are unique to an area and generating money from outside of the region through exporting. LQs when mapped alongside employment growth can show which clusters are thriving or declining. The chart below demonstrates where a cluster may fall on the map and how it corresponds to its strength and growth.

Example Chart for Cluster Mapping

Columbia's traded cluster workforce is dominated in size by Education and Knowledge Creation due to the presence of the University of Missouri. Jobs in the education and research field are over three times more concentrated in Columbia than the national average. Jobs in this sector have not grown over the last five years. Financial services stand out in the analysis as an asset cluster with tremendous growth in recent years. Other clusters like tech, construction, automotive, and tourism are emerging due to positive growth. Columbia's economy could benefit from hyperloop connection by more easily connecting research from the university to major markets and connecting professional service companies in financial services and tech with a greater workforce pool in St. Louis and Kansas City.

Note: The size of each circle represents the employment size of each cluster. Clusters with less than 150 employees were excluded from this chart.

The St. Louis region is home to several clusters in advanced manufacturing and professional services. The most concentrated cluster is the Aerospace Vehicles and Defense cluster. This cluster has experienced slight employment decline in recent years but remains a crucial employer providing high earnings. On average a worker in this cluster earns over $150,000 in salary and benefits. Another advanced manufacturing cluster, Automotive, has experienced over 50 percent growth in employment in the last five years. Professional service clusters such as business, insurance, and financial services have concentrations higher than the national average. Many of the clusters that are successful in the St. Louis region depend on the ability to train and attract highly skilled talent. St. Louis' economy could benefit from a hyperloop connection with a wider workforce pool to recruit specific high-skilled workers.

Easier connections with the University of Missouri in Columbia could help facilitate improved and more accessible training resources to develop workers that companies in St. Louis need and to engage students in internships that could increase the chances that they would remain in Missouri after graduation.

The most striking cluster from the analysis in the Kansas City region is Automotive. Both Ford and GM have established manufacturing production facilities in the region and both Original Equipment Manufacturers (OEMs) have expanded their operations. In recent years at least 11 suppliers have moved to the Kansas City region. The list of companies involved in this cluster goes all the way to the beginning of the supply chain with the presence of steel foundries. The remaining asset clusters of the Kansas City area include the professional services of Tech, Business, and Marketing Services. Cerner is a large healthcare IT solutions company that is helping drive a tech growth boom in the region. The benefits of hyperloop connection for the Kansas City area also include connections to innovation and training at the university in Columbia and high skill workers from St. Louis. In addition, the asset cluster of Transportation and Logistics could benefit from a new connection to an emerging form of transportation.

The presence of a hyperloop providing a rapid connection between the three cities, essentially combines their resources and creates a Super Region where input sharing would go well beyond the traditional boundaries created by easy drive time. Some of the highly concentrated clusters in the Super Region come from one contributing source, like St. Louis with Aerospace Vehicles and Defense. Other asset clusters are highly concentrated because there is employment in all three regions, like Automotive, Tech, and Chemical Products. Quick connections from the hyperloop for workforce and light freight can create efficiencies for the existing clusters. The Automotive cluster, for example, would become more enticing for OEMs and suppliers due to broad input sharing potential.

POSITIVE IMPACTS OF COMBINED LABOR MARKET POOLING

No issue is currently more important to business success than the increasing challenge to grow and attract sufficient, appropriately trained labor. Both the St. Louis and Kansas City metropolitan areas are among the most populous in the country, St. Louis currently ranking 20th and Kansas City 31st. The large population centers provide each a sizable labor pool to draw from, but each is also experiencing tight labor markets and slow to moderate population growth. National unemployment rates have been near record lows. In the three metros along the proposed hyperloop line the current unemployment rate is well below four percent.

Among the top 100 metros, St. Louis’s projected population growth over the next 30 years is ranked 79th fastest and Kansas City’s is ranked 51st. The development of a hyperloop would allow workers in either community to easily and quickly commute to work in the other metro and would rewrite the way labor shed research is done. The labor force pooling of the three cities would be close to 2.7 million workers, significantly expanding the pool that companies have access to and improving the ranking for site selection purposes to among the top ten in the country.

In addition to most employers reporting that they are struggling to find the right quantity of employees, they also often mention quality or specific skills as a challenge. As the skills required to compete rapidly evolve, communities with sophisticated, responsive training and retraining capacity have a significant advantage. Funding duplicate training facilities, especially in fields that require expensive machinery, is always a challenge. Training resources across the corridor would also be available to employees from each metro. Someone needing to upgrade their skills could use a facility across the state on a daily basis.

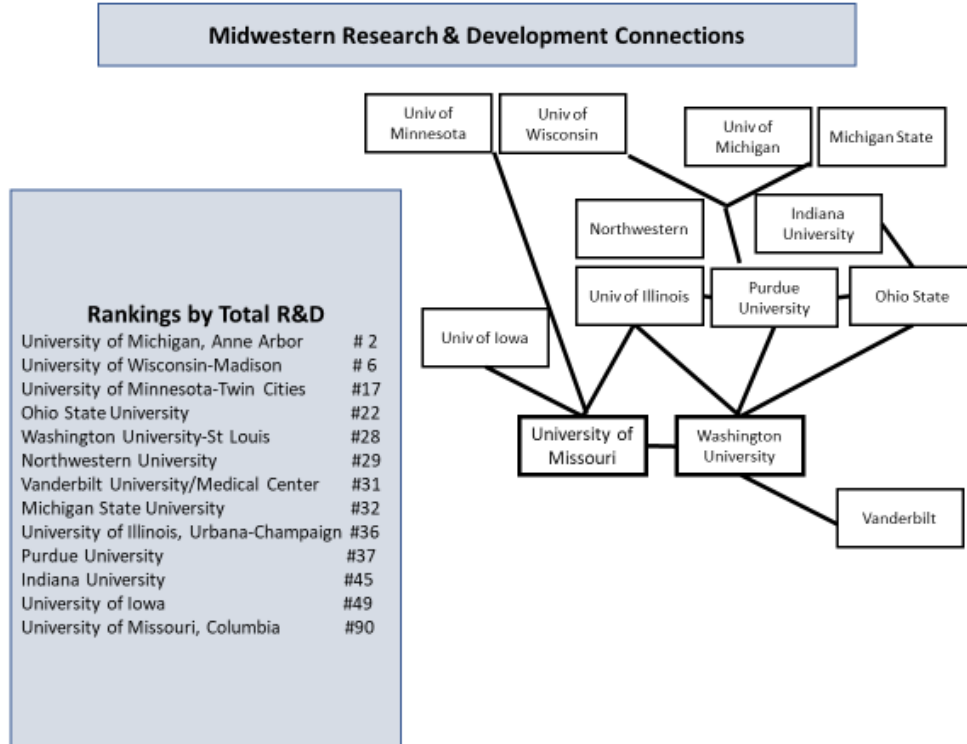

POSITIVE IMPACTS OF KNOWLEDGE SPILLOVER

Research by Dr. Michael Porter and others have demonstrated the undeniable impact of research universities on the economy of their local regions. Porter is quoted as saying, “Colleges and universities harbor large, often untapped revitalization capability for the nation and have the potential, in partnership with governments, businesses, and community organizations, to fuel regional economic growth.” In Knowledge Spillovers from Research Universities: Evidence from Endowment Value Shocks, published in The Review of Economics and Statistics, the researchers found evidence that there were knowledge spillovers and demonstratable positive economic impacts. They further concluded that when universities focus on research that is aligned with local business clusters additional benefits can be gained through shared labor markets.

Missouri enjoys two research universities ranked among the top 100 in the country, and several other universities with specialized research, all along the proposed hyperloop corridor. Connecting the assets of all the institutions to businesses across the state would increase knowledge spillover and strengthen business.

Again, over time as the hyperloop connectivity expands, Missouri firms can benefit from proximity to a dozen of the top-50 research universities (measured by annual expenditures on research and development) across the Midwest.

POTENTIAL EARLY ADAPTOR ADVANTAGE IMPACTS

In addition to the many cluster enhancements, a second potential positive derived from the construction of the Missouri Hyperloop would be first, or early adaptor advantage of a new transportation technology. Beginning in the early part of the 19th century, Missouri has been in almost constant competition to position itself as the nation's central logistics hub. The state has been the nexus for the movement of people and goods via wagons, boats, trains, roads and airplanes. But like other competitor states and regions, building and maintaining the right infrastructure at the right time has often challenged civic leaders. Over the past 200 years, having the first, or best, or most affordable ferries, barges, bridges, rail terminuses, interstate connections or airport hubs has consistently defined place-based competitiveness.

Being a pioneer for any new technology always comes with some risk. Realizing the full benefits of the Missouri Hyperloop will require building trust and understanding of the technology with the targeted market. Ultimately success or failure will rest on broader use by individuals and companies. The real value of enhanced connectivity and time savings should become obvious (and will no doubt be researched) with buildout.

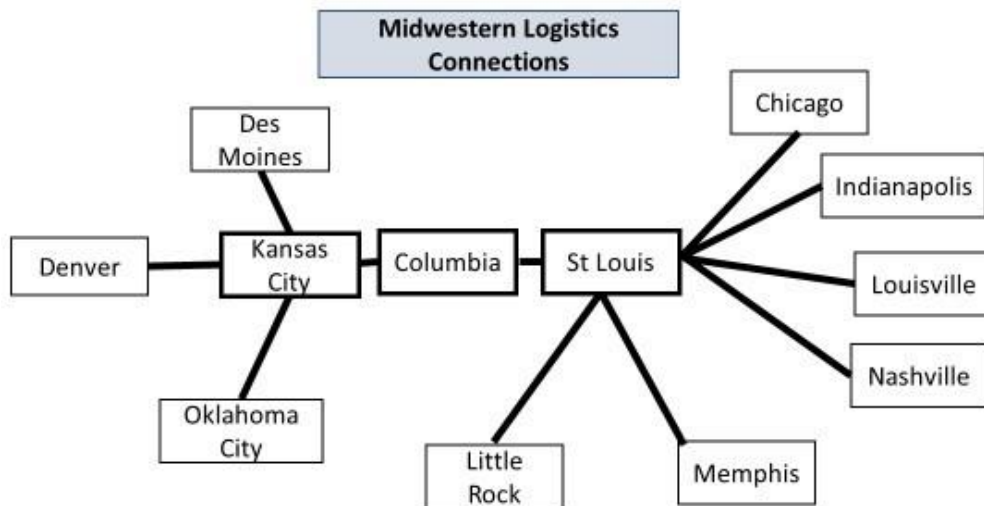

Maintaining and enhancing Missouri's position as a logistics hub will require that state leaders anticipate and prepare for rapid change. Area Development Magazine, a must-read for the site selection industry, published some of the changes they expect to impact future logistics hubs. They include:

- Impact of the Panama Canal completion
- Increased shipping to U.S. via Mexican/Canadian Pacific ports
- Greater Intermodal penetration
- Significant increase or decrease in international trade and/or investment
- Growing online retailing
- Low/high fuel cost
- Advancement in big data technologies
- Additive manufacturing (3D printing)

- Drone delivery systems
- Driverless vehicles

POSITIONING MISSOURI AS THE LOGISTICS HUB FOR THE MIDWEST AND BEYOND

In subsequent phases, as the hyperloop infrastructure connects Missouri to other potential hubs like Chicago, Memphis, Louisville, and beyond, even more synergies are likely to emerge. This could create a Midwest super region that can successfully compete with any region in the world. The logistics hubs currently scattered across the Midwest, when connected, would create efficiencies for all businesses. In a recent article in Area Development, Bill Luttrell, Director of Corporate Real Estate for Werner Enterprises, listed both St. Louis and Kansas City as among the country’s top logistics hubs, along with other midwestern cities that could be part of a fully connected network.

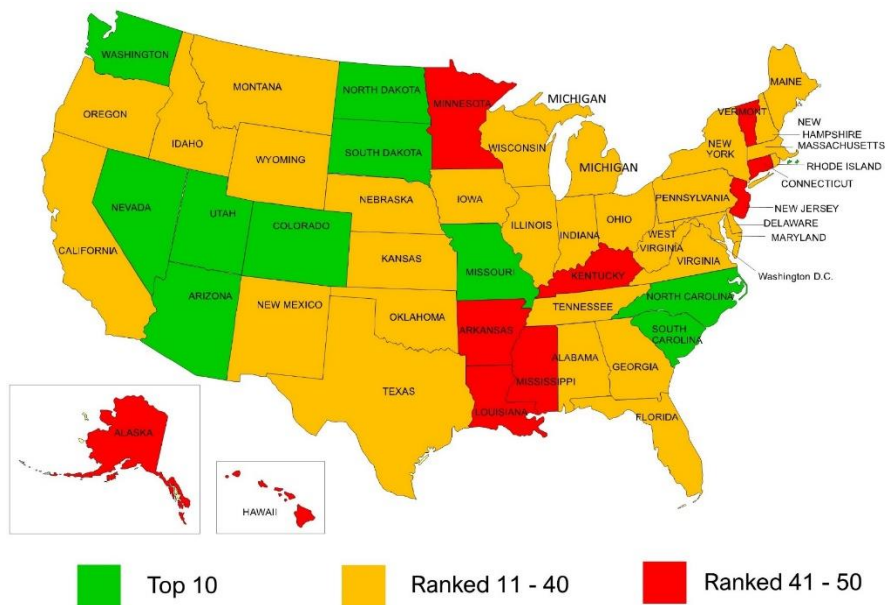

According to Luttrell, “Existing logistics hubs and freight corridors are currently attracting the close attention of many manufacturers and warehouse/distribution companies looking for new facilities, and for good reason. The driving force behind this trend is the rising importance of logistics and the supply chain.”

POSITIONING MISSOURI AS A TECHNOLOGY AND INNOVATION LEADER

Missouri is already well positioned as a technology leader. Last year’s Missouri Technology 2030 report highlighted the recent success and bright future for Missouri. The state is projected to be among the top 10 states in technology job growth over the next five years.

By connecting the business, training and research assets across the central part of the state, technology synergies could create even more success. The review of clusters created by the Super Region shows a potential to advance the development of several advanced manufacturing and professional services clusters. The Super Region could become a hotbed of research and innovation and could enhance the attraction and retention of highly skilled workers.

The chart below lists the clusters in the Super Region that could benefit from deeper efficiencies and connections made possible by a hyperloop connection. Each offers an opportunity for future economic growth.

POTENTIAL FINANCIAL BENEFIT - CONSIDERATIONS AND ESTIMATES

At this phase in hyperloop development there are some assumptions that can be utilized to calculate potential financial benefits to the Missouri economy. This paper takes some of the currently available data on hyperloop and conducts basic economic impact analysis. For some impacts EMSI multiplier methodology is used to estimate employment, tax growth and cost savings. Other benefits such as government repair savings, reduced traffic accidents, and emissions reductions offer monetary benefits, but not necessarily new jobs or salaries. Therefore, the multiplying effect of these savings are not calculated. Other benefits where specific data is not yet available were reviewed to provide initial thinking for future potential impacts. Any methodology to calculate impacts is based on a series of assumptions. An explanation of the assumptions and methodology used in this report is included as an appendix.

While these results provide dollar values, hyperloop technology is in an early stage of development. As a new transportation technology, academic literature and data is very limited. The assumptions in these models are based on the best available predictions and are likely to change as the hyperloop technology continues to advance and commercialize. This means the data presented in this section is best used as an understanding of the range and order of magnitude of potential impacts rather than precise measurements. Some of the values in the following charts may not add to the total due to rounding.

ESTIMATED HYPERLOOP CONSTRUCTION IMPACTS

The construction of a commercial hyperloop track from Kansas City to St. Louis would bring a large amount of investment and capital into Missouri. While the economic impacts of construction are often viewed by economists as one-time stimulus, the scale of the hyperloop project means that the construction benefits would be experienced over a long time horizon. This analysis provides a low and high range for several of the potential impacts.

Annual Economic Impacts of Low Construction Estimate (million$)

Impact Type	Initial	Direct, Indirect, & Induced	Total
Sales	$525	$443	$967
Earnings	$225	$163	$388
Jobs	2,750	3,510	6,260

Source: EL estimates based on Black & Veatch (2019) and EMSI 2019.3

The low estimates indicate that $525 million would be spent annually in Missouri during hyperloop construction. This investment is calculated to create 2,750 initial jobs. Through supply chain impacts and increased wages, the Missouri economy would create and support another 3,510 jobs for a total of 6,260 annual jobs supported. The total economic benefit to the state is estimated to be $967 million annually for the ten years of construction.

Annual Economic Impacts of High Construction Estimate (million$)

Impact Type	Initial	Direct, Indirect, & Induced	Total
Sales	$901	$772	$1,673
Earnings	$387	$285	$672
Jobs	4,720	6,140	10,860

Source: EL estimates based on Black & Veatch (2019) and EMSI 2019.3

If the construction costs were to realize the high estimates, $901 million would be spent in Missouri annually over ten years. This projection calculates 4,720 jobs in initial investment. Each job created or supported by hyperloop construction would create or support another 1.3 jobs elsewhere in the economy. This results in 10,860 jobs created or supported each year during the construction phase.

The input/output model used also generates an estimate of state, local, and federal tax revenue that would be generated from the investment value. This model predicts the taxes on production and imports that a business might pay given the economic activity associated with the initial change to the economy. At the state and local level, these estimates include non-personal property taxes, licenses, and sales and gross receipts taxes. The predicted annual tax revenue generated for the state government is between $10.5 and $18.7 million. Local governments (city and county entities) across the state would collect between $13.0 and $23.2 million in tax revenue for each year of construction.

Annual Tax Impacts of Construction Estimates (million$)

Tax Type	Low	High
State	$10.5	$18.7
Local	$13.0	$23.2

ESTIMATED HYPERLOOP OPERATIONS IMPACTS

While construction spending impacts would be significant, it would be limited to the construction phase of the project. Once operational, VHO would employ workers to operate and maintain the route. The salaries and supply chain needs for this operation would support other parts of the Missouri economy. This impact is significant in terms of its consistency, producing year after year benefits to the state economy.

Annual Economic Impacts of Low Operations Estimate (million$)

Impact Type	Initial	Direct, Indirect, & Induced	Total
Sales	$12	$10	$22
Earnings	$5	$4	$9
Jobs	150	90	240

Source: EL estimates based on EMSI 2019.3

Based on the ratios of sales and earnings per worker in the Missouri transportation industry, under the Low Operations Estimate, 150 hyperloop employees would create an additional 90 workers in Missouri's economy. The total economic activity generated would be $22 million annually. Using the High Operations Estimate, 300 initial hyperloop employees would spur $44 million in sales annually and 470 workers employed throughout Missouri.

Annual Economic Impacts of High Operations Estimate (million$)

Impact Type	Initial	Direct, Indirect, & Induced	Total
Sales	$23	$21	$44
Earnings	$10	$8	$18
Jobs	300	170	470

Source: EL estimates based on EMSI 2019.3

The operations of the hyperloop would also generate annual tax revenue through sales, property, and income taxes. The state government would generate an estimated annual revenue of $0.2 to $0.5 million in tax revenue annually from the operation of a commercial hyperloop track. Local governments throughout the state would benefit from a range of $0.3 to $0.6 million in new annual tax revenue.

Annual Tax Impacts of Operations Estimates (million$)

Tax Type	Low	High
State	$0.2	$0.5
Local	$0.3	$0.6

Estimated Tourism Impacts

Another potential benefit of a hyperloop connection between some of Missouri's major metro areas is increased tourism. With quick travel times, residents may be more inclined to attend events across the state. A visitor to St. Louis from outside Missouri may extend their trip to also see Kansas City because of the convenience of the hyperloop connection, spending more money in Missouri.

The low estimate of positive tourism impact from the hyperloop was measured at a one percent increase in tourism revenues from out-of-state visitors. The high estimate was modeled at a five percent increase. These values are lower than several of the literature review values, to err on the conservative side. Under these assumptions, this would mean an annual increase between $52 and $258 million of tourism revenue in Missouri. Based on the Missouri tourism sector, this would create an initial 800 to 3,980 jobs in the hotel, retail, and restaurant industries.

Annual Economic Impacts of Low Tourism Estimate (million$)

Impact Type	Initial	Direct, Indirect, & Induced	Total
Sales	$52	$46	$98
Earnings	$18	$17	$35
Jobs	800	380	1,180

Source: EL estimates based on EMSI 2019.3 and Missouri Division of Tourism (2019)

The low estimate model predicts an average job multiplier of 1.5, meaning that for every two jobs created in the tourism industry an additional job would be created elsewhere in the Missouri economy. The total economic impact is $98 million in new activity generated annually.

Annual Economic Impacts of High Tourism Estimate (million$)

Impact Type	Initial	Direct, Indirect, & Induced	Total
Sales	$258	$231	$488
Earnings	$90	$86	$175
Jobs	3,980	1,900	5,880

Source: EL estimates based on EMSI 2019.3 and Missouri Division of Tourism (2019)

If the tourism industry experienced a five percent increase in annual revenues from out-of-state visitors, 3,980 new tourism jobs would be created. This would create 1,900 additional jobs elsewhere in the Missouri economy from supply chain needs and increased wages. State and local governments would benefit as well from increased sales, income, and occupancy tax revenue. Under the low estimate state and local governments could increase tax revenue by $2.2 and $2.9 million respectively. If the hyperloop were to generate a five percent increase in out-of-state tourism, state and local coffers could increase by $11.2 and $14.3 million, respectively.

Annual Tax Impacts of Tourism Estimates

Tax Type	Low	High
State	$2.2	$11.2

ADOPTION OF HYPERLOOP DATA

The next section of benefits attempts to quantify potential positive externalities associated with the adoption of a hyperloop transportation system. The magnitude of these benefits depends highly on the adoption rate of users from existing transportation methods to the hyperloop. For these benefits, the analysis relies heavily on the ridership estimates from the feasibility study. These numbers are based on Missouri Department of Transportation (MODOT) data of vehicle traveling across Interstate 70 (I-70).

Existing Daily Passenger Trips Via Automobile

Travel Route	Low	High
Kansas City -- St. Louis	12,200	17,300
Kansas City – Columbia	4,600	5,500
St. Louis – Columbia	2,200	3,100
TOTAL	19,000	25,900

Source: Black & Veatch (2019)

In addition to automobile travel, passenger trips between St. Louis and Kansas City via air (2,000 daily) and Amtrak (750 daily) are also included. According to the feasibility study, there are 21,800 and 28,700 daily travelers using existing transportation systems between the three cities. The feasibility study ranges the adoption of hyperloop transportation between 75 percent and 180 percent of existing levels.

POTENTIAL PRODUCTIVITY BENEFITS

When travel times are reduced, people save time and can use that time more productively. A hyperloop in Missouri could reduce travel time between Kansas City and St. Louis by about three hours, and one and a half hours on trips in and out of Columbia.

The average hourly wage of a worker in the Super Region that works for a traded cluster industry is $35.79.²⁹ Under the assumption that 60 percent of hyperloop ridership would be utilized by these high-skill commuters, the annual time savings benefit could increase to between $315 million and $561 million.

Another way to view the benefit of time savings is to look at the contribution to gross regional product (GRP). In 2018, the average GRP per worker hour in the Super Region was $51.28.³⁰ Meanwhile, a worker in a traded cluster industry produces about $85.72 in GRP per hour.³¹ Assuming that high wage commuting accounts for 60 percent of ridership and that all workers use 60 percent of their time saved to do productive work at their job, $448 to $798 million in GRP would be generated annually.

POTENTIAL REDUCTION IN HIGHWAY ACCIDENT IMPACTS

One of the most significant expenses of highway travel on society are traffic accidents. Costs range from repairing car damage to serious personal injuries that require lengthy stays in the hospital. These accidents impact the people involved as well as other drivers who endure delays and congestion associated with crashes. At its worst, highway travel can be deadly. A highway fatality is costly to society through lost wages, funeral costs, and emotional trauma. In 2017 alone there were 126 fatal crashes on Missouri's interstates.³²

One of the benefits of hyperloop technology is that the enclosure prevents interactions with pedestrians and other transportation modes. The enclosure also secures the pods from weather that causes problems with automobile and airline travel. VHO also believes the company can automate the operation of pods and hope to eliminate human error. If passengers were to forgo highway travel in lieu of hyperloop, the reduced number of cars on highways should reduce the number of traffic accidents.

³¹ Ibid

The feasibility study provided a general review of potential benefits based on averages of all traffic accidents. This analysis expands detailed traffic accident and accident cost data. There is a wide variety of impacts that can be experienced based on the type of traffic accident. For example, a highway fatality can cost society millions of dollars while a fender bender averages just a few thousand dollars in damages.

Economic and Societal Costs of Interstate Crashes

Crash Type	Interstate Cost Per Crash (2010$)	Interstate Cost Per Crash (2018$)
Fatal	$9,156,500	$10,544,300
Serious Injury	$1,447,100	$1,666,400
Minor Injury	$35,900	$41,300
Property Damage Only	$5,500	$6,400

Source: National Highway Traffic Safety Administration [NHTSA] (2015) and BLS (2019) for inflation adjustment

The highway accident reductions were calculated using the adoption rate estimates from the feasibility study. The feasibility study calculated the ability to reduce existing passenger miles between 1.1 and 1.9 billion.³³ To compare with the crash rate data, this was converted into vehicle miles traveled for a reduction of between 0.9 and 1.6 billion miles. This would result in a reduction of between 847 and 1,564 traffic accidents per year. The reduction in accidents would save societal and economic costs of approximately $95 million to $176 million each year.

2017 Missouri Interstate Crash Data

Crash Type	Total	I-70 Proportion	I-70 Crash Rate Per 100 Million VMT
Fatal	126	30	0.6
Serious Injury	411	97	1.9
Minor Injury	4,174	989	19.5
Property Damage Only	15,634	3,704	72.9

Source: MODOT (2019)

Much of these savings would come from the reduction in fatal crashes by 5 to 10 each year. These savings would be from the reduction of just passenger vehicles from I-70. Later in the report the potential crash savings from freight related highway accidents are reviewed. Depending on the adoption rate of freight on the hyperloop system, the impacts from reduced accidents could be even greater.

Crashes and Costs Avoided from Reduced Interstate Accidents

Crash Type	Crashes Avoided (Low)	Crashes Avoided (High)	Cost Savings (Low)	Cost Savings (High)
Fatal	5	10	$55,320,300	$102,042,800
Serious Injury	17	32	$28,518,400	$52,604,400
Minor Injury	174	321	$7,176,100	$13,236,900
Property Damage Only	651	1,201	$4,135,300	$7,627,900

This analysis shows that if the hyperloop system can be operated safely, there can be significant benefits to society by reducing highway accidents. While advanced technologies generally reduce the potential for error, new technologies can bring their own challenges.

POTENTIAL HIGHWAY REPAIR IMPACTS

By lessening vehicle use of I-70, hyperloop transportation would reduce wear and tear on the roads, create a reduction in repair needs, and potentially save government funding. From 2015-2019, Missouri spent $125 million on road repairs on interstates, about $25 million annually.³⁴ Given that I-70 accounts for about 24 percent of all interstate travel in Missouri, it was assumed that I-70 requires about $5.9 million each year to keep the road in operational shape.³⁵

Current Missouri Interstate Repair Spending

5-Year	Annual	I-70 Annual Proportion	I-70 Annual Per 100 Million VMT
$125,000,000	$25,000,000	$5,922,500	$116,600

Source: MODOT (2019)

The reduction in vehicle miles traveled from hyperloop usage of between 0.9 and 1.6 billion miles was used to calculate repair savings. At a rate of $116,600 needed in repair per 100 million vehicle miles traveled, this would result in savings of between $1.0 and $1.9 million annually. Again, this analysis is just from passenger usage of the hyperloop. Reducing the usage of freight, discussed later, would also help create repair savings benefits.

Annual Interstate Repair Savings from Hyperloop Passenger Transport

Repair Savings (Low)	Repair Savings (High)
$1,041,000	$1,920,100

Source: EL estimates based on Black & Veatch (2019) and MODOT (2019)

With less demand for repair from less usage, MODOT and the Missouri government could spend less on repairing I-70. They could take that money and put it into other uses, or they could use the savings to implement more intensive repairs on I-70 or elsewhere in the state. In 2016, over 24 percent of roads in Missouri were in poor condition.³⁶ It could also mean that for the same level of appropriation, I-70 repair funding could be stretched over a longer period of time. In the long run and at the high adoption estimate, 20 years of funding at current levels could be stretched out over 30 years.

POTENTIAL REDUCED EMISSIONS IMPACTS

Hyperloop travel is designed to be powered by the electricity grid and have zero direct tailpipe emissions. If passengers were to choose hyperloop travel over motor vehicle or air travel this would result in a reduction of energy use, greenhouse gases (GHGs), and critical air pollutants. These reductions were used to determine the potential savings in healthcare costs, climate change impacts, and energy security.

Potential Health Spending Benefits

Air pollutants can cause adverse health events such as exacerbating asthma and bronchitis. This can send residents to the emergency room or keep them home from work, all of which have economic costs. Using the adoption rates of hyperloop technology and models of the life-cycle emissions of various modes of transportation, the net change in air pollutants was estimated. These results were then entered into a model that calculates the health costs of changes to air pollutants. This resulted in an estimated $163 million to $368 million in reduced healthcare costs within Missouri annually from hyperloop adoption.

GREENHOUSE GAS EMISSIONS BENEFITS

While the pollutants measured in the prior section have associated health costs, carbon dioxide emissions have negative social costs that can also be measured. The lifecycle emissions analysis of the hyperloop revealed that there would be greenhouse gas reductions from passenger adoption. By reducing car and airplane usage, a hyperloop would help reduce carbon emissions and the impacts of climate change.

POTENTIAL ENERGY SECURITY BENEFITS

Another potential benefit of reduced car usage due to hyperloop adoption could be reduced demand of oil, particularly foreign oil. The reduction in foreign oil imports can help lower the risk of oil disruptions and price shocks. Assuming the average vehicle has an average gas mileage of 24.7 miles to a gallon³⁷, between 36 million and 67 million gallons of gasoline could be reduced each year of hyperloop operation. On average, a barrel of crude oil yields about 19 gallons of gasoline.³⁸ It was also assumed that 10 percent of gasoline was sourced from domestic ethanol sources. In 2018, the percentage of net foreign oil imports in the United States was 11.7 percent.³⁹ Under these assumptions, this equates to 200,200 and 369,400 barrels of foreign oil avoided under current conditions. Based on economic literature that accounts for the disadvantages of foreign oil, this could result in between $6.4 and $11.9 million in savings every year.

POTENTIAL FREIGHT BENEFITS

VHO has said hyperloop technology is one of the first modes of transportation that has been specifically developed in mind for the passenger instead of freight.⁴⁰ However, VHO has prospects for freight transport as well. VHO believes that freight transport via hyperloop would help address consumers' need for same-day delivery and businesses need for efficient and lean warehouses. Given the time savings of a hyperloop trip, freight that is high-value and time-sensitive would be a suitable candidate for hyperloop transport.

While trucking is still a very cost-effective mode of transport at $1.69 per mile⁴¹, airline travel is much more expensive. The average cost ratio of air to truck transport is about 4.7, meaning the average air cost per mile is around $7.91.⁴² VHO estimates currently predict a cost per mile for hyperloop freight between $1.40 and $2.80.⁴³ If the costs end up at the higher end of the spectrum, then hyperloop may not be a more cost-effective transport mode than trucking unless the demand for quick delivery is high. However, in both scenarios, hyperloop is lower than air freight costs per mile. There is just less air freight occurring between the cities than there is commercial trucking.

Even so, light freight transported by hyperloop would likely have major benefits to Missouri beyond cost savings. This would include reduced highway accidents, highway repairs, highway congestion, and emissions. For example, in Missouri in 2016 congestion on the national highway system cost the trucking industry over $1 billion dollars.⁴⁴ If hyperloop freight transport could reduce this number by any portion there would be significant savings to the logistics industry. Once freight capacity numbers can be calculated, similar analysis to that performed in this study for passenger data can be done with freight data to determine additional impacts.

POTENTIAL TAX BENEFITS FROM TRANSIT-ORIENTED DEVELOPMENT

When transit connections are built near existing real estate properties, those properties have improved access and connection from the new transit station. Research shows if those nearby communities value the access brought by the transit stop, the area will experience an increase in value. This increase in value often comes in the form of higher home and commercial property values. This increase in property values can increase the revenue governments collect from property taxes. The hyperloop proposed in Missouri would have three portal locations at the Truman Sports Complex in Kansas City, Missouri University Hospital in Columbia, and the St. Louis Lambert Airport.⁴⁵ Based on studies of other transportation improvements, the quick access to the hyperloop portals should increase the value of property nearby and help spur new development in the area.

Looking at current median home prices in each of the three metro areas gives some indication of the impacts at the single-family residential level. For example, if the median home price near Truman Sports Complex was similar to the median for the entire Kansas City area, a house near the Kansas City portal might experience an increase in value of $6,120 to $20,400. Since transportation benefits are localized to the particular area near stations, more granular data for each portal location would be critical in creating a total economic impact.

CONCLUSIONS

The positive competitive impacts from constructing a Missouri Hyperloop, especially to growing the state's traded industry clusters, will likely be significant. By reducing the geographic separation between Kansas City, Columbia and St. Louis, Missouri businesses will enjoy three specific outcomes that should contribute to improved industry competitiveness: (1) input sharing, (2) labor market pooling and (3) knowledge spillover. Some of Missouri's strong industry clusters would be expected to become even stronger and smaller scattered clusters could strengthen significantly.

The presence of a new infrastructure technology can better position Missouri as the "Logistics Hub of the Nation" and brand the state as an infrastructure and technology leader. Early adopters to new technology always face risk, but laggards seldom gain a competitive advantage.

Calculating the economic impacts of new technologies is based on a significant number of assumptions. There are no currently operational hyperloops at this time that can be studied to determine actual impacts. The economic impacts will include the jobs and increased taxes generated by the construction and operation of the hyperloop. Additional potential economic benefits will likely include: increased out-of-state tourism, increased commuter productivity, reduced highway accidents & fatalities, reduced highway repairs, reduced emissions, improved freight competitiveness, and increased property values and tax revenues.

APPENDIX A – Methodology Section

CLUSTER METHODOLOGY

To determine the current state of traded clusters of Kansas City, Columbia, and St. Louis we collected employment and wage data for over 680 6-digit NAICS code industries in each of these cities. These industries were then grouped into 53 traded clusters. The cluster groupings are very closely related to those provide by US Cluster Mapping; a project produced by the Harvard Business School. Those cluster groupings have not been updated to reflect the most recent iteration of NAICS codes. Therefore, we used EMSI’s conversion of the Harvard clusters using to 2017 NAICS codes. A few tech related sectors were moved from the business services cluster to the technology cluster. The final appendix at the end of this report shows the cluster groupings in detail. These clusters were then evaluated on recent growth, location quotients, wages, and total employment.

METHODOLOGY FOR ECONOMIC IMPACT CALCULATIONS

Multiplier Calculations

Multipliers are specific values that measure the ripple or secondary effect of how changes in one industry can influence the broader economy. Economic Leadership LLC utilized multipliers for this study from Economic Modeling Specialist International’s (EMSI) licensed software. EMSI produces a social accounting matrix that determines the linkages in purchasing patterns between different sectors of the economy. From this matrix, EMSI creates a proprietary input/output model that can calculate the final equilibrium impacts of a change in a regional economy. The EMSI input/output model has four types of multiplying effects:

1. Initial – this represents the jobs, revenues, and earnings directly related to the project.
2. Direct – these impacts are the first round of impacts to the industry’s supply chain due to new input purchases required by the project.
3. Indirect – these impacts reflect the second round of activity when the supply chains stimulate sales within their supply chains.
4. Induced – these impacts are the result of increased earnings and therefore further spending throughout the economy.

Construction Cost Benefits

Base on the data provided in the feasibility study, the construction of the hyperloop track would cost between $7.3 and $10.9 billion. This cost only covers the cost of the track infrastructure and does not include the building of portals, land acquisition, or pod construction. This means that the total construction impacts could be larger than this analysis. The feasibility study also estimated that the track would take 5 to 10 years to complete.⁴⁶ The multiplier effects of this construction spending were discussed broadly in the feasibility study. For this analysis, the amount of construction spent within Missouri is estimated and applied to EMSI multipliers to determine the annual impact of the total effects on construction spending.

A timeline of 10 years was chosen for this analysis, this is the higher end estimate of the feasibility study but is consistent with the amount of time needed to build other large infrastructure projects. This timeframe produces an annual construction cost of $730 million and $1.9 billion as the low and high estimates. These costs were split into hard (construction and machinery) and soft costs (engineering, environmental consulting, legal, and insurance services). Hard costs accounted for 75 percent of the costs and soft costs made up 25 percent.

With large construction projects, the local economic impact depends, in part, on the amount of the investment that is sourced from the local region. Earlier this year, Harj Dhaliwal from Virgin Hyperloop One (VHO) stated that for a project in India the company believes that they can source about 70 percent of their construction needs locally.⁴⁷ Given the greater regulatory burden of the United States may increase the need for consultants on a hyperloop project, 70 percent sourcing from Missouri was used as the high estimate and 50 percent the low estimate. These sourcing percentages were applied to the machinery and soft costs expenditures. It was assumed that 100 percent of the construction industry demand would be sourced from within Missouri. These initial impacts were entered into the input/output model for Missouri to return the total economic impacts. Exact local sourcing percentages cannot be known until much later, but these estimates provide a fair range for discussion.

Operations Impact

Data on the operational needs of the hyperloop are less defined than construction needs at this time. VHO has mentioned that the company will look to automate operations as much as possible.⁴⁸ While there may not be employees driving the portals, there will likely still be a need for engineers, maintenance, and other staffing personnel in Missouri. To determine the number of initial employees that would be employed by VHO, a study reviewing the economic impacts from a Netherlands test track was used.⁴⁹ This study predicted there would be 100 initial workers required to operate a 57 km commercial track with two portals. Assuming that the number of portals influences the number of workers a workers-per-portal estimate was derived from this estimate. The Missouri hyperloop would have three portals and 150 workers using this estimate. This was the basis for the low estimate of the operations impacts.

For the higher operations estimate, Virgin Trains USA in Florida was used as a proxy due to its location in the US and connection with the parent company Virgin. This train system has 3 stops and 316 employees. Based on this data, an initial employment impact of 300 was assumed.

Potential Tourism Impact

Tourism benefits from improved transportation connections are not a certainty. The literature shows mixed results. When smaller towns are connected with larger metro areas, the smaller towns often do not see major tourism increases. However, when large major cities are connected the tourism benefits are more dramatic. The results can also be mixed within the tourism industry. As travel times decrease, some visitors may opt to not spend the night in the city they are visiting and return home. This can have a negative impact on hotel revenues while other tourism industries increase.⁵⁰ However, if tourism departments market their regions and the hyperloop connection well, then the tourism industry could experience a net positive impact from overall increased demand. Due to the range of potential impacts in the literature, this analysis models how a conservative increase in tourism would impact the overall economy.

In 2017 the Columbia, Kansas City, and St. Louis regions generated a total of $9 billion in tourism expenditures.⁵¹ Given the region of the economic impact analysis is Missouri, it is critical to remove tourism from Missouri residents as that would not be new economic stimulus to the economy. The substitution effect assumes that residents of a region will spend their money in the state even if they were not traveling. About 57 percent of trips in FY 2018 were made by out of state tourists.⁵² Only the out of state tourism revenue was counted as new economic benefit.

Potential Productivity Benefit Impact

This benefit was calculated in the feasibility study by multiplying the average hourly salary of a Missouri worker

⁴⁷ Construction Week Viewpoint Podcast, 2019

($22.18 an hour) by the time savings based on ridership data. The hourly salary serves as a metric of the value of a person’s time. This calculation results in an estimate of productive benefits that ranges from $230 million to $410 million annually.⁵³

In this report, additional calculations are made to account for the use of the hyperloop by high-skill workers for commuting. The cluster analysis of the new super region shows that a hyperloop connection would allow for high-wage and high-skill industries to source workers from across the three cities. If the hourly wage of a commuter is higher, then saving time via hyperloop travel would produce a larger time savings benefit.

Potential Reduced Emissions Impact

If passengers were to choose hyperloop travel over vehicle or air travel this would result in a reduction of energy use, greenhouse gases (GHGs), and critical air pollutants. Vehicle and air travel emit several pollutants that contribute to air pollution, acid rain, visibility impairment, surface water pollution, and climate change. Hyperloop technology operates on electric power and removes the need for a combustible fuel in operations, thus reducing emission of air pollutants.

Hyperloop travel would still have emissions associated with its operation and development, this would be through the sourcing of fuel to power the electricity grid, construction of the structure, and more. For this reason, this analysis looks at the emissions of transportation through the life-cycle lens. Life-cycle assessments (LCA) measure the emissions from all phases of an operation. For transportation methods this includes “design, raw materials extraction, manufacturing, construction, operation, maintenance, and end-of-life” impacts.⁵⁴ Using LCA provides a comprehensive comparison between the emissions of hyperloop and other modes of transportation.

METHODOLOGY FOR HYPERLOOP EMISSIONS BENEFITS

For this comparison, data from the UC Berkeley Center for Future Urban Transport was used that compared the LCA emissions of pollutants from automobile, bus, rail, and air travel. The data in this study is from 2008 and it is very likely that all forms of transportation have become more efficient. However, since it is the net difference in emissions that drives this analysis, it was assumed that all transportation modes reduced their emissions equally during this time and therefore the net change results would be the same.

⁵³ Black & Veatch, 2019

⁵⁴ Chester and Horvath, 2008

The level of hyperloop emissions was established by taking the UC Berkley estimates of rail emissions and deducting them based on the lower energy requirement per passenger mile expected from VHO. Rail has similar lifecycle impacts to hyperloop due to the need to construct large concrete structures for the railcars or pods to travel. In fact, construction was one of the major contributors to rail LCA emissions per passenger mile. The Green Line of Massachusetts was chosen as a proxy for the hyperloop for the emissions analysis. This is because at the time of the UC Berkley study about 80 percent of Massachusetts electricity came from fossil fuels, a fuel mix that is equivalent to the current Missouri electricity grid.

The Green Line train system has an operational energy use of 0.9 megajoules per passenger mile. Based on communications with VHO, hyperloop travel is expected to have an operational energy requirement of about 0.4 megajoules per passenger mile.⁵⁵ The operational emissions of the Green Line were then converted using this ratio to determine the operational emissions of hyperloop travel. The remainder of the non-operational emissions (construction, manufacturing, etc.) were considered to be the same as the Green Line train for hyperloop. The hyperloop was estimated to have lower emissions in almost every category. A notable exception is sulfur dioxide (SO₂) emissions. This is largely due to the electricity requirements that would be satisfied mostly from coal based on the Missouri electricity fuel mix.

Source: Chester and Horvath (2008) and EL estimates based on VHO (2019)

Based on these LCA emissions rates, the ridership data from the feasibility study informed the calculation of current annual baseline emissions using vehicle, rail, and air travel. The breakdown of sedan, SUV, and pickups was calculated using current auto sales data.⁵⁶ Then the hyperloop emissions numbers were subtracted from the baseline scenario to determine the amount of emissions that would be avoided annually.

To estimate how the emissions reductions created from hyperloop usage could affect health care costs, the US EPA's Co-Benefits Risk Assessment Health Impacts Screening and Mapping Tool (COBRA) model was used. The model takes research on the relation between air pollutants and adverse health impacts and converts this to health care costs. The COBRA model produces its own low and high estimates, therefore only the low estimate of averted pollutants was input into the model. The 2017 model year for Missouri highway vehicle emissions was used as the baseline. A conservative 7 percent discount rate was chosen for the health care costs.

Potential Health Spending Benefits

Despite creating a net increase in SO₂, the other emissions reductions of hyperloop travel create a net reduction of air pollutants. The cleaner air created in the hyperloop scenario prevents mortality, hospital admissions, and other negative health impacts. As air pollution can travel across state lines, COBRA estimates emission benefits in nearby counties relative to the initial impact. This means that some of the modeled health benefits are experienced in counties outside of Missouri. For the purposes of this study, the raw data was summed across only the Missouri counties to determine the health benefits achieved within the state. This results in an estimated $163 million to $368 million in reduced healthcare costs annually from hyperloop adoption.

Potential Greenhouse Gas Benefits

The low emissions scenario of this report estimates an annual GHG reduction that would be the same as removing 1,590 railcars of coal from the electricity system or the same savings as operating 62 wind turbines.⁵⁷ The US EPA created a measure of the social cost of carbon that can be measured per metric ton of CO₂ or CO₂ equivalent. This is a measure used by the government to understand the total cost of policy decisions. According to the EPA, the social cost of carbon is “a comprehensive estimate of climate change damages and includes changes in net agricultural productivity, human health, property damages from increased flood risk, and changes in energy system costs, such as reduced costs for heating and increased costs for air conditioning.”

While the EPA’s estimate includes many types of damages caused by climate change the IPCC Fifth Assessment stated that there are impacts that would increase damages that are not included in the EPA estimate. This means it is potentially a conservative estimate on the impact of carbon emissions. The 2020 social cost of carbon value was used at the 3 percent discount rate. In 2007 dollars, this value was forecasted at $42 per metric ton of carbon emission, or about $51 in 2018 dollars.⁵⁸ This value was used to determine the societal costs avoided from climate change impacts from hyperloop usage.

A hyperloop in Missouri could also be beneficial under a future carbon pricing scenario. If the US government were to approve a carbon fee and dividend scheme, gas prices and airline tickets would rise due to their reliance on fossil fuels, while hyperloop travel would be less affected because the lower energy required to operate. Missouri would benefit from having a low-carbon transportation system that would be able to keep costs low for users. Missouri might experience an easier transition to lower carbon transportation with a hyperloop track already in place.

Potential Energy Security Benefits

Importing foreign oil has negative economic costs including reliance on a monopoly power (OPEC), supply disruptions, government spending to reduce foreign supply, limitations on foreign policy and international alliances, etc. While not all of these impacts can be measured, the National Energy Policy Institute estimated some of these impacts to have an economic cost of $27.96 per barrel of imported oil in 2010 dollars.⁵⁹ When converted to 2018 dollars, this cost is about $32.20 per barrel of foreign oil.⁶⁰ This analysis only looks at vehicle reductions, it could also be assumed that there would be some energy security benefits derived from the reduction in jet fuel from the transition of air travel to hyperloop.

⁵⁸ EL calculations based on EPA (2017) and BLS (2019)

An important caveat with energy security benefits is the recognition that the rate of net foreign oil imports drives these savings. Under current conditions, the United States is still a net importer of petroleum. However, this rate has been dropping steadily in recent years. This is driven by increased domestic production and exports. The current rate of net petroleum imports of 11.7 percent is one of the lowest levels since 1957. The EIA currently predicts that the United States could become a net exporter of petroleum by 2020.⁶¹ If this were the case by the time a hyperloop was constructed than the energy security benefits would be nonexistent. However, this is a volatile market and predictions can change quickly. Under current estimates, if the price of oil stays low, net foreign imports could increase over the next thirty years. Just five years ago, the EIA thought the net foreign import rate for 2018 would be 34 percent.⁶² True energy security benefits during hyperloop operation will depend on real time information on net foreign imports.

Potential Freight Benefits

Currently the VHO system is designed to carry packages and palletized freight, but not shipping containers and other heavy freight.⁶³ VHO was unable to provide an estimate of the capacity of freight that could be adopted from current light freight methods such as trucking and aircraft travel. Therefore, the potential for freight capacity and associated benefits are reviewed in this section, but no calculations are made for economic benefits.

VHO system will have a total capacity of 570 pods per hour.⁶⁴ The daily ridership estimates from the feasibility study were estimated between 16,350 and 51,660 passengers.⁶⁵ Assuming 12 hours of operation in a day and 28 passengers per pod, this results in an hourly need of 49 to 154 pods for passenger travel. This leaves 521 to 416 pods an hour for freight transport.

Source: MODOT (2017)

Based on MODOT estimates from the feasibility study, there are 19,000 commercial truck trips on I-70 per day.⁶⁶ What is unknown about these trips is the number of trucks traveling through the state and those transporting just between Kansas City, St. Louis, or Columbia. In 2011, about 46 percent of all truck freight tonnage passed through Missouri.⁶⁷ It is probable that trucks on I-70 would be even more likely to pass through than the state average and the passenger average. Another missing piece of data is the type of freight carried by those trucks traveling within the hyperloop corridor. As the hyperloop cannot accommodate shipping containers, it would be unable to accommodate a portion of trucking freight.

As for freight transported via airplane, intrastate air freight in 2011 was valued at $100 million and weighted 370 tons.⁶⁸ Given that there is only one other small airport in the state for air freight outside of Kansas City and St. Louis, if 85 percent was assumed to be between MCO and STL airports that would amount to 315 tons transported annually. The max weight of a Boeing 737 for freight is about 22.5 tons.⁶⁹ Assuming the planes were filled to maximum capacity, there would be about 14 fully weighted freight flights between MCO and STL each year. The missing data for air freight is the adoption rate to hyperloop technology. It's likely that hyperloop will offer many benefits compared to air travel between the two locales including speedier travel and lower costs.

Possible Benefits from Transit-Oriented Development

The literature shows varied results when it comes to changes in property values near transportation connections. In a review that analyzed eight prior studies that measured the impacts of being located near passenger rail stations, researchers found that most neighborhoods near these stations experienced increases in property values. The range of positive impacts from the studies reviewed included property value increases nearby between 3 percent and 15 percent. Within some of the studies reviewed there were mixed results, the researchers determined that the most important factor for positive property values impacts was a community that valued the access brought by the transportation connection.⁷⁰

The Diaz paper only reviewed results in the US from 1972-1996, for international and more recent impacts, high-speed rail impacts on property values were also reviewed. Across Europe and Asia where high-speed rail have been built in recent decades, most of the studies of property values have shown increases between 3 to 43 percent.⁷¹ A few studies showed some areas experienced negative impact to property values if the stations were not strategically located or perceived as a nuisance. Nuisance was an important part of each study. If there was nuisance associated with the station being located nearby with noise or crowding, then sometimes the properties in very close proximity saw negative impacts on their property values. Meanwhile, areas a bit further removed from any nuisance experienced an increase in property values.

The highest impact across all studies was in Lyon with the creation of Part-Dieu. The high-speed rail link was developed alongside other major real estate developments to create a new city center. This “well-timed” development led to the highest increases in property values.⁷²

Given the leap in time reduction provided by hyperloop transport and its place as a cutting-edge mode, it is likely that the areas near the portals would experience positive benefits. Based on the literature it seems reasonable for the areas near the portals to experience benefits somewhere between 3 percent and 10 percent within three miles of a portal.

The best method for calculating the impact on property values would be to measure the property values within a three-mile radius of each portal location. Given the complex nature of city and county boundaries in these areas of Missouri, the three portal locations exist within three different counties and nine different city jurisdictions. Potentially this data exists within GIS departments at these different entities. At the time of this study, this data was not readily available, and the increase in total property values or the potential increase in property taxes were not calculated. Median home prices for each metro region were used to demonstrate how impacts could look at the individual property level.

Appendix B – The Missouri Hyperloop Project’s Benefits, Impacts, Opportunity Costs and Risks

THE MISSOURI HYPERLOOP PROJECT’S BENEFITS AND IMPACT

As detailed in Section 4, the Missouri Hyperloop presents significant benefits to both Missouri and the United States. It is more than project of national importance, it is a project of national strategic ingenuity, on par with the first interstate, the first railroad, the first pipeline and the first commercial airport.

Specifically, these are the public benefits and economic impact of Missouri Hyperloop:

- The new economic megaregion created by linking Kansas City, Columbia, and St. Louis via hyperloop would rank among the top 10 in the United States, significantly improving Missouri’s global competitiveness for high quality jobs and talent.
- An estimated annual economic impact of $1.67 -- $3.68 billion.
- The creation of between 7,600 and 17,200 new jobs.
- Increased real estate values around portal locations.
- A significant strengthening of key industry clusters, including Automotive, Chemical Products, Business Services, Tech, Transportation and Logistics, and Aerospace.
- Increased tax revenues for state and local jurisdictions.
- A 50% reduction in accident fatalities and serious injuries along I-70.
- Up to 10 additional years of life expectancy for I-70 at current repair funding levels.
- A reduction of over 530,000 metric tons of CO₂ emissions.

THE MISSOURI HYPERLOOP PROJECT: OPPORTUNITY COST

The opportunity cost of taking the well-traveled road of only traditional surface transportation are staggering and are potentially greater than the actual costs of this project.

The benefits and impact of the project must also be understood in that context. The infrastructure investments that have made Missouri (and the United States) safe, connected and prosperous so far cannot be sustained into the future.

With an annual GDP of over $315 billion, Missouri is one of the world’s largest economies. Yet, the infrastructure underpinning this economy earned a grade of “C minus” from the American Society of Civil Engineers⁷³. This disconnect is not sustainable. Without significant upgrades to our infrastructure, Missouri’s economic growth will be severely constrained.

However, this is not about Missouri alone. This same story is true for all of our neighboring states and is just a microcosm of the crisis facing the United States⁷⁴.

The cost to Missouri of building or rebuilding our surface transportation systems to meet the basic safety rankings is projected as [$x], which is [x%] greater than building Missouri Hyperloop. In addition, even if this traditional approach were feasible, it would rely on available funds which are projected to tap out at [$x] over the next decade.

A public-private partnership to build the Missouri Hyperloop represents the state’s best opportunity not only to upgrade its transportation network but to re-invest in its current system of riverports, roads, and runways. It also puts Missouri in the driver’s seat for other transportation innovation such as dedicated highway lanes for autonomous vehicles and last-mile solutions within metropolitan areas.

⁷⁴ <https://www.infrastructurereportcard.org/state-item/>

The previous, great generations before us all faced the same opportunity costs. It is worth noting that the initial $60MM bond issue to catalyze construction of the US Interstate system in Missouri in the early 20th century would be the equivalent of over $750,000,000 today's dollars.

THE MISSOURI HYPERLOOP PROJECT: THE RISKS

Missouri Hyperloop presents significant risks to Missouri, the United States, and the private sector partners who are critical to its completion.

Specifically, these are the some of the key risks involved of Missouri Hyperloop:

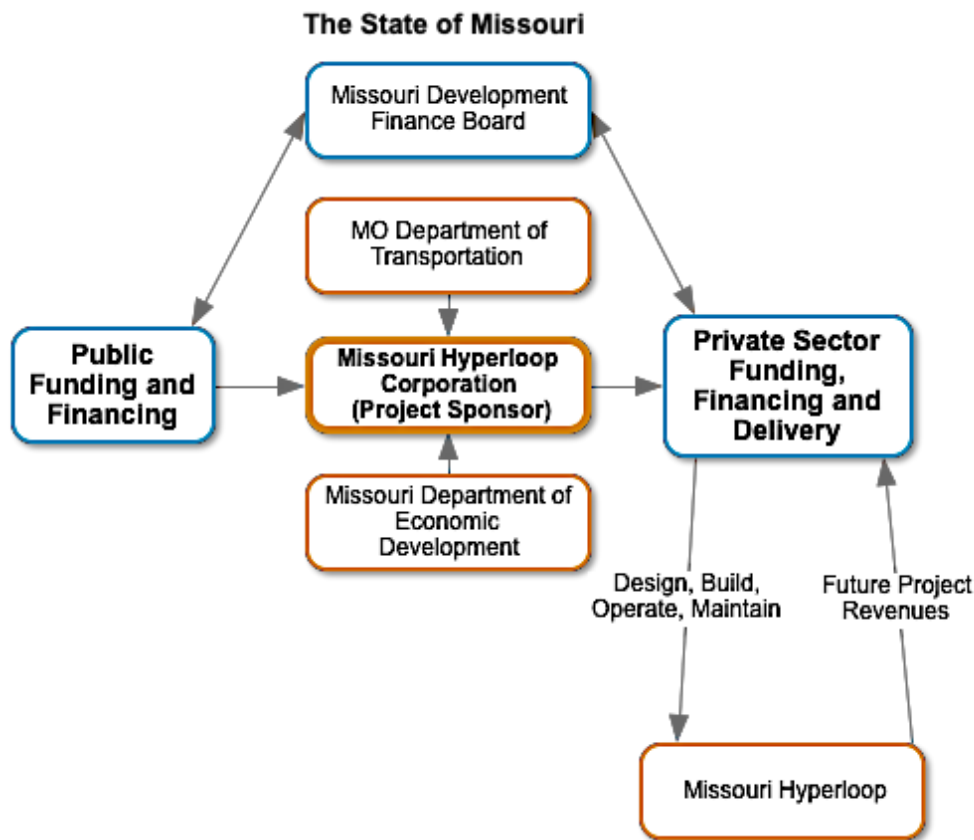

1. Risk that the technology does not work as intended over a longer distance
2. Risk that the Hyperloop will never be commercially self-sustaining and thereby always requiring some level of Governmental subsidy
3. Risk that the Missouri Hyperloop is not the first in the nation and therefore not a central component of any future network of tubed transportation.
4. Risk that the technology cannot be certified for human safety by US regulators.
5. Risk that we cannot attract sufficient private capital to the project.
6. Risk that the private sector will not want to take the performance risk of the project because the technology has not been tested on a commercial scale.
7. Risk that other, as yet unforeseen modes of transportation render hyperloop technology commercially irrelevant.
8. Risk that the system cannot reach speeds sufficient to deliver the social and economic benefits it promises.

Appendix C – Concept for the Missouri Hyperloop Corporation

The Missouri Hyperloop Corporation is a concept presented as an illustration of how the State of Missouri might organize and appoint a Project Sponsor to oversee the public interest, develop the initial finance plan and procure the private sector partners, all while trying to mitigate risk to taxpayers.

This entity, described herein, could be organized and initially staffed by the Missouri Department of Transportation and the Missouri Department of Economic Development.

The Missouri Hyperloop Project Public-Private Partnership

MISSION

Complete the Missouri Hyperloop Project, beginning with the completion of the Certification Track for International Tube Transport Center of Excellence.

The sole mission of the Missouri Hyperloop Corporation is to ensure the completion, efficient operation and sustainability of The Missouri Hyperloop Project.

This includes:

3050 Journal of the House

- developing the financing plan,
- working with governments at all levels (federal, state and local) to access public sector funding and financing
- procuring private sector partners and
- overseeing the public interest in completing the “Missouri Hyperloop Project”

VISION

One State, united to lead for the nation.

The First Hyperloop System completed and operational in the United States.

The vision reflects the commitment and aspiration to complete the Missouri Hyperloop.

We envision the project as a self-sustaining solution that serves local travelers and transports freight through this vital transportation corridor as the first completed hyperloop in a nationwide system.

Missouri Hyperloop Corporation will be the "bridge" between federal, state, local authorities and the private sector technology and development partners. The Corporation will act as a catalyst for coordinated and cooperative action alongside these partners and will serve as a focal point for the constant emphasis of our unity of purpose, as we strive together to reach the goal defined in our Mission.

VALUES

Unity – Missouri Hyperloop unifies the state of Missouri in service to unifying our nation through transformational human and freight connectivity.

Prosperity – Missouri Hyperloop provides substantial improvement in the livability, economic health and workforce productivity throughout the state.

Leadership – Missouri Hyperloop leads the way for the nation, knowing we are exploring and opening a new frontier as we so often have for the nation.

Speed and Safety – Missouri Hyperloop will deliver extraordinary speed, never before possible in surface transportation, for people and freight. No matter how fast it is, it is ineffective without delivering extraordinary safety, never before possible in surface transportation.

Equity and Economy – Missouri Hyperloop propels Missouri economic development and creates completely new economic opportunities with true rural, racial and regional equityⁱ.

Our values are our guiding principles. The Corporation will use them to help guide decision-making in alignment with our Vision and our Mission. Each of them reflects a key priority that, in and of itself, is worthy of our focus in the pursuit of our Mission.

Because each Value is of such great importance, we recognize the possibility that situations may arise from time to time when we are faced with the necessity of choosing among them or giving one a higher priority than another. Nonetheless, we will continuously seek to improve these trade-offs as they present themselves, always working to achieve an optimal result that strikes the right balance among them. By following this approach, we will strive to deliver our project in the best way, the fastest way, and the right way.

Appendix D – Potential Funding and Financing Sources

There currently are no federal funds authorized for hyperloop projects. However, as we focus on Phase I of The Missouri Hyperloop Project, the Certification Track for International Tube Transport Center of Excellence:

Recent legislation pending in this Congress contemplates some appropriation requests for the US Department of Transportation’s (USDOT) New and Emerging Transportation Technology (NETT) Council and possible funds for tube transport from Maglev grants.

As Congress prepares to reauthorize the Fixing America’s Surface Transportation (FAST) Act, which expires on September 30, 2020, it may provide funding for new and emerging technologies.

In the interim, Missouri DOT potentially could seek funding under the Advanced Transportation and Congestion Management Technologies Deployment program, which was authorized under the FAST Act for an additional $60 million annually. The program funds the deployment of advanced transportation and congestion management technologies.

The Better Utilizing Investments to Leverage Development, or BUILD Transportation Discretionary Grant program, provides a unique opportunity for the DOT to invest in road, rail, transit and port projects that promise to achieve national objectives. Previously known as Transportation Investment Generating Economic Recovery, or TIGER Discretionary Grants, Congress has dedicated nearly $7.1 billion for ten rounds of National Infrastructure Investments to fund projects that have a significant local or regional impact.

Since 2009, the Program has provided a combined $7.1 billion to 554 projects in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Guam, the Virgin Islands: $1.5 billion for TIGER I, $600 million for TIGER II, $527 million for TIGER III, $500 million for TIGER IV, $474 million for TIGER V, $600 million for TIGER VI, $500 million for TIGER VII, $500 million for TIGER VIII, $500 million for TIGER IX, and $1.5 billion for BUILD FY 2018.

For projects located in urban areas, the minimum award is $5 million. Please note that the minimum total project cost for a project located in an urban area must be $6.25 million to meet match requirements. For projects located in rural areas, the minimum award is $1 million.

The maximum award for all projects is $25 million. Not more than $90 million can be awarded to a single State.

INFRA Grants were established in the 2015 Fixing America’s Surface Transportation (FAST) Act and utilizes updated criteria for evaluating projects to align them with national and regional economic vitality goals. The program increases the impact of projects by leveraging federal grant funding and incentivizing project sponsors to pursue innovative strategies, including public-private partnerships.

Additionally, the new program promotes the incorporation of innovative technology that will improve our transportation system. INFRA will also hold recipients accountable for their performance in project delivery and operations. The program focuses on projects that generate national or regional economic, mobility, and safety benefits.

Technical evaluation teams made up of Departmental staff will determine whether projects satisfy statutory requirements and rate how well they address the selection criteria outlined in the NOFO. The Senior Review Team, comprised of Departmental leadership, will then consider the applications and the technical evaluations to determine which projects to advance to the Secretary for consideration. The Secretary will ultimately make the final selection for awards, consistent with the statutory requirements for INFRA Grants and the selection criteria in the NOFO.

To be eligible for an INFRA grant, a project must be:

- a highway freight project carried out on the National Highway Freight Network (23 U.S.C. 167)

- a highway or bridge project carried out on the National Highway System (NHS) including projects that add capacity on the Interstate System to improve mobility or projects in a national scenic area
- a railway-highway grade crossing or grade separation project; or
- a freight project that is:
 - an intermodal or rail project, or
 - within the boundaries of a public or private freight rail, water (including ports), or intermodal facility, is a surface transportation infrastructure project necessary to facilitate direct intermodal interchange, transfer, or access into or out of the facility, and will significantly improve freight movement on the National Highway Freight Network. For these projects Federal funds can only support project elements that provide public benefits.

The minimum award for a large project is $25 million.ⁱⁱ

The capital gains tax benefits conferred on investors in Opportunity Zones could be an attractive “sweetener” to potential private-sector partners. Specifically, it may be possible to separate any real estate investments from the overall operation of the track, which would allow investors to mitigate or even eliminate downstream tax consequences should the real estate associated with the project increase in value.

A minimum of $50-$100 million for research and development of a TTS project needs to be available within the next 3 years, MO DOT alone, or in collaboration with a private partner, also may be able to secure low cost financing under the Transportation Infrastructure Finance and Innovation Act (TIFIA) or the private partner may be able to secure low cost financing through Private Activity Bond (PAB) authorization. The project may not be eligible for financing until it is commercially viable or possibly, if the certification track generates revenues from fees.⁷⁵

Transportation Infrastructure Finance and Innovation Act (TIFIA)

Surface transportation projects are eligible for loans and loan guarantees. USDOT or Congress would need to confirm eligibility. The Loan principal is generally limited to 33 percent of eligible project costs (the law allows loans up to 49 percent of eligible project costs, but this is rarely done). The interest rate is the U.S. treasury rate for a comparable term. The maximum term of a TIFIA loan is 35 years from substantial completion or the useful life of asset (whichever is less). The borrower may defer principal and interest payments for up to 5 years from substantial completion. The borrower may draw down standby lines of credit during the first 10 years of project operations and are available up to 10 years after substantial completion of the project. TIFIA credit instruments are repayable, in whole or in part from dedicated revenue sources that also secure the senior project obligations. (The project must have a dedicated revenue source pledged to secure both the TIFIA and senior debt financing). USDOT accepts applications on a rolling basis. DOT charges a fee to pay for the cost of legal and financial consultants and has a stringent process for screening creditworthiness.

Private Activity Bonds (PABs)

Private entities financing Highway and freight transfer facilities can issue tax-exempt bonds through a government conduit issuer with approval from DOT.

The applicant must submit a written application to DOT that includes: (1) amount of allocation requested; (2) proposed date of bond issuance; (3) date of inducement by the bond issuer; (4) draft bond counsel opinion letter; (5) financing/development team information; (6) borrower information; (7) project description; (8) project schedule; (9) financial structure; (10) description of title 23 or 49 funding received by the project; and (11) information regarding project readiness. Applicants must list major permits and approvals necessary for construction of the project and the date, or projected date, of the receipt of such permits or approvals. DOT evaluates applications based on applicable statutory criteria and the availability of tax-exempt authority for the type and location of the project for which the allocation is requested. The issuer must expend at least 95 percent of the net proceeds of bond issues for qualified highways or surface freight transfer facilities within 5 years from the date of issue or must use all unspent proceeds to redeem bonds of the issue within 90 days after the conclusion of the five-year period. The issuer may request an extension if it can establish that the failure to expend the funds was due to circumstances beyond its control.

Recent uses involving a state government conduit issuer of PABs has included the State of Florida with Virgin Trains (once called Brightline). In this 2018-2019 example, new routes estimated at $4 billion, going from Miami to Orlando, have proven viable and popular to finance with relatively modest improvement goals. It seems plausible that new cargo routes destined for airside to airside multimodal transfer facilities could attract substantial investment once regulatory approvals and system performance have been determined.

Port Authority Bonds

The power of Missouri Port Authorities is spelled out in Section 68.025 of the Missouri Revised Statutes (RSMo.). Notably, Section 68.025.1.15, RSMo., permits Port Authorities to construct commercial developments, mixed-use developments, terminals, warehouses, and more within their territorial jurisdiction. Additionally, Section 68.025.2, RSMo., grants them the ability to enter into agreements with private operators for the joint development of property. It appears that these two sections of current Missouri law would allow for both the St. Louis and Kansas City Port Authorities to not only lease the needed land for a Tube Transport International Center of Excellence, but to also enter into the needed development agreements with private operators.

Missouri Port Authorities are also granted the ability to issue revenue bonds and notes in Section 68.040.1, RSMo. A certification track is likely not bondable due to a lack of initial revenues, but commercial expansion would provide the future income needed for a bond issue. It is possible that the proceeds from these bonds could be used to help move the project from a certification phase to a commercial phase in Missouri.

Note on Private Capital

The Blue Ribbon Panel concludes that there is substantial private capital—via both debt and equity instruments—available for infrastructure projects. For example, many large contractors operating in the United States have set up development arms through which they provide equity to projects. In addition, there are a number of international infrastructure funds which also provide equity to greenfield construction projects. There are also a number of providers of private debt to infrastructure projects. Lenders include many of the European and Japanese banks. In addition, through the issuance of Private Activity Bonds, the US capital markets may also be accessed for the project.

Given the complexity of private infrastructure funding, it would be advisable for the Missouri Hyperloop Corporation to engage an investment banker with deep expertise in this field.

ⁱ From 2015 Road to Tomorrow Global Challenge Proposal: “Rural communities will realize economic benefits by retaining residents who can now easily commute to remote urban job centers. No more will people have to migrate to urban job centers [with higher costs of living]. Barriers to employer access to employees are eliminated while maintaining and strengthening the character vitality, and economy of rural communities. Job growth in one area of the state is no longer detrimental to economic opportunities in other parts; nor is job growth limited to areas of existing employee populations.”
