

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

First Regular Session, 94th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

FIFTY-NINTH DAY, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 18, 2007

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Jetton in the Chair.

Prayer by Reverend James Earl Jackson.

Heavenly Father, we understand that unless You build a house, the work of the builders is wasted. Unless You protect a city, guarding it with sentries will do no good. It is useless for us to work so hard from early morning until late at night, anxiously working for the betterment of this state, unless we have direction, a plan, a strategy from You.

Your governing, of the universe, is beyond human understanding - we cannot begin to fathom the intentions and operations of it. But it is our responsibility to search out matters and make them understandable to the people. We cannot claim divine secrecy; but we study and investigate everything before making a decision.

But, as ones who rule as Your representatives, we must, also, try to represent Your will in human affairs - so, we inquire of You to ascertain Your will. This is our glorious calling and responsibility.

May Your plans and purposes be established this day, through these yielded vessels.

The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with us all. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Speaker appointed the following to act as Honorary Pages for the Day, to serve without compensation: Casey Giles, Josh Decator, Phillip Miller, Megan Lachowitzer, Drew Keefer, Kelly Suman, Brendan Murphy, Kathryn Randolph, Michael Wells and Maggie Beckmann.

Nonattendance by such child shall cause such parent, guardian or other responsible person to be in violation of the provisions of section 167.061, except as provided by this section. A parent, guardian or other person in this state having charge, control, or custody of a child between the ages of seven years of age and the compulsory attendance age for the district shall cause the child to attend regularly some public, private, parochial, parish, home school or a combination of such schools not less than the entire school term of the school which the child attends; except that:

HOUSE COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE FOR
HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 26

WHEREAS, in 1720, Philippe Francois Renault introduced Negro slavery to Missouri when he brought 500 Negroes with him from Santa Domingo to work the lead mines in the Des Peres River section of what is now St. Louis and Jefferson Counties; and

WHEREAS, the Missouri Compromise of 1820 resulted in Missouri being admitted as a slave state in exchange for approving the application for statehood of Maine as a free state in order to resolve a dispute involving the ban on slavery in territories north of the Ohio River enacted in 1787. Under the Missouri Compromise, slavery would be allowed in Missouri, but slavery would no longer be allowed for any future requests for statehood north of the what would become known as the Mason-Dixon Line; and

WHEREAS, in 1860, 36 counties in Missouri had 1,000 or more slaves. A series of laws, known as slave codes, were drawn up to address the slave population in Missouri. Under the territorial slave code of 1804, slaves were made personal property, and each revision of the law was drafted with this precedent in mind. The State Constitution of 1820, for example, provided that slaves were not to be emancipated "without the consent of their masters, or without paying them, before such emancipation"; and

WHEREAS, a slave was not permitted to keep a gun in Missouri. If he was caught carrying a gun, he was to receive 39 lashes and forfeit the gun. Slaves who participated in riots, attended unlawful assemblies, or who were guilty of making seditious speeches, were subject to whipping. Slaves guilty of conspiracy, rebellion, insurrection, and murder were put to death; and

WHEREAS, other laws further emphasized the disparate treatment of Blacks. Negroes or mulattoes "who should commit or attempt to commit assault upon White women would be mutilated." However, since a slave woman was chattel, a White man who raped her was only guilty of trespass on the master's property; and

WHEREAS, in 1825, a law was passed declaring Blacks to be incompetent as witnesses in legal cases involving Whites; and

WHEREAS, in 1847, one of the harshest laws regarding slaves was enacted. In that year, an ordinance specifically prohibited the education of Negroes was passed. Anyone operating a school or teaching reading and writing to any Negro or mulatto in Missouri could be punished by a fine of not less than $500 and up to six months in jail. This law was a direct result of an ever increasing conviction on the part of slave holders that literacy led to rebellion; and

WHEREAS, even in death the races were generally separated. Usually there were "white" and "colored" cemeteries in every area of the State; and

WHEREAS, throughout the slavery period in Missouri there were persons, Black and White, who advocated the abolition of slavery both locally and nationally. These abolitionists were an unpopular group in a slaveholding state because they challenged the continued existence of an institution which provided for cheap labor. Because of their deep mistrust toward persons who challenged their way of life, pro-slavery forces generally dealt severely with abolitionists; and

WHEREAS, discrimination followed the Negroes into the Union Army during the Civil War. Negroes, like Whites, were promised a bounty but not until the war was over did they receive it. While White soldiers received $13 a month, Negro soldiers were given $10 a month. Blacks were given inferior weapons and materials, inadequate medical care, and if captured, were killed until Lincoln and Grant threatened to treat captured Confederate soldiers in a similar manner; and

WHEREAS, in 1943, the Missouri Legislature rejected a civil rights bill that would have given Blacks equal access to public places, such as restaurants and theaters; and

WHEREAS, in July 2003, President George W. Bush, at his visit to Goree Island (Senegal), acknowledged slavery in America as the largest migration in history, and also one of the greatest crimes of history; and

WHEREAS, in his State of the Judiciary address delivered to the First Regular Session of the 94th General Assembly, Missouri Supreme Court Chief Justice Michael Wolff acknowledged the Dred Scott decision as one of the greatest blemishes on judicial history; and

WHEREAS, in the Dred Scott case, Dred Scott, a slave who had lived in the free state of Illinois and the free territory of Wisconsin before moving back to the slave state of Missouri, had appealed to the United States Supreme Court in hopes of being granted his freedom. In March of 1857, the United States Supreme Court declared that all Blacks - slave as well as free - were not and could never become citizens of the United States. Since Scott was not a citizen, he had no right to sue; and

WHEREAS, European and African nations have apologized for their roles in what history calls the worst holocaust of humankind, the Atlantic Slave Trade; and

WHEREAS, racial reconciliation is difficult to achieve without some acknowledgment of the moral and legal injustices perpetrated upon African Americans; and

WHEREAS, an apology for over 145 years of brutal injustices that occurred in Missouri cannot erase the past, but acknowledgment of the wrongs can speed racial healing and reconciliation and help African Americans and White citizens confront their collective pasts together; and

WHEREAS, the story of the enslavement of Africans and their descendants, the human carnage, and the dehumanizing atrocities committed during slavery should not be removed from Missouri's history or discounted; moreover, the efforts of abolitionists in the State to end slavery, and the faith, perseverance, hope, and endless triumphs of African Americans and their significant contributions to the development of this State and the nation should be embraced, celebrated, and retold for generations to come; and

WHEREAS, the long-term effects of slavery for many African Americans could be assuaged and the principles espoused by the Founding Fathers would be affirmed, and great strides toward unifying all Missourians and inspiring the nation to acquiesce might be accomplished if the State of Missouri acknowledged its role in the slavery of Africans:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the House of Representatives of the Ninety-fourth General Assembly, First Regular Session, the Senate concurring therein, hereby formally apologize for the State of Missouri's role in slavery.

Mr. Speaker: Your Committee on Rules, to which was referred HCR 54, begs leave to report it has examined the same and recommends that it Do Pass.

WHEREAS, the education of bicyclists and motorists as to the proper and safe operation of bicycles is important to ensure the safety and comfort of all users; and

WHEREAS, the Missouri Bicycle Federation, the Share the Road Safety Task Force of Kansas City, and other organizations across the state will promote bicycle safety during the month of May 2007:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the House of Representatives of the Ninety-fourth General Assembly, First Regular Session, the Senate concurring therein, hereby recognize the month of May 2007 as National Bike Month and Bicycle Safety Month, and the week of May 14-18, 2007, as Bike to Work Week; and
