407.2050. Sections 407.2050 to 407.2074 shall be known and may be cited as the "Toxic Fire Retardant Prevention Act".

407.2053. As used in sections 407.2050 to 407.2074, the following terms mean:

- (1) "DecaBDE", decabromodiphenyl ether;
- (2) "OctaBDE", octabromodiphenyl ether;
- (3) "PBDE", polybrominated diphenyl ether;

407.2056. 1. Beginning January 1, 2011, a person may not manufacture, process, or distribute in commerce a product or a flame-retardant part of a product containing more than one-tenth of one percent of pentaBDE or octaBDE.

2. Subsection 1 of this section shall not apply to the following:

- (1) The sale by a business, charity, or private party of any used product containing PBDE;

EXPLANATION — Matter enclosed in bold-faced brackets [thus] in the above bill is not enacted and is intended to be omitted from the law. Matter in bold-face type in the above bill is proposed language.

8 service parts manufactured prior to the effective date of sections 407.2050 to 407.2074;

9           (3) The processing of recycled material containing pentaBDE or octaBDE in 10 compliance with applicable state and federal laws.

11           3. Beginning January 1, 2011, a person shall not manufacture, process, or 12 knowingly sell, offer for sale, distribute for sale, or distribute for use any of the following:

14 for indoor residential use if the product has a textile component containing decaBDE;

407.2068. By January 2, 2011, the department of natural resources shall submit to the general assembly and the governor a report that reviews the latest available scientific research to address the following issues:

(1) Whether decaBDE is bioaccumulating in humans and the environment, and if so, whether the levels of decaBDE are increasing, decreasing, or staying the same;

(2) How are humans exposed to decaBDE;

(3) What health effects could result from exposure to decaBDE, and are current levels of exposure at levels that could produce these effects;

(4) Whether decaBDE breaks down into more harmful chemicals that could damage public health; and

(5) Whether effective flame retardants are available for decaBDE uses, and whether the use of available alternatives reduce health risks while still maintaining an adequate level of flame-retardant performance.

407.2071. By February 28, 2011, the Missouri department of health and senior services shall submit to the general assembly and the governor a report that reviews the department of natural resources' decaBDE study. In addition to a review of any public health implications the department of health and senior services believes would result from exposure to decaBDE, it shall also comment on the following:

(1) The known exposure pathways for humans to decaBDE;

(2) What scientific evidence exists to demonstrate that decaBDE breaks down into other chemicals that could pose public health concerns; and

(3) What research and analysis exists on the potential human health effects of flame retardants that could be used as alternatives to decaBDE.

407.2074. Nothing in sections 407.2050 to 407.2074 restrict a manufacturer, importer, or distributor from transporting products containing PBDEs through this state or storing PBDEs in this state for further distribution.
