

HB 314 -- Disclosure of Personal Information

Sponsor: Harris

This bill prohibits the disclosure of certain personal information on typical court documents that are currently available to the public. Judgments and other orders in divorce, legal separation, child support, and child custody cases will not contain any Social Security numbers; the name and address of the current employer; and the name and date of birth of each child. The parties will provide the court with this information on a separate family court information sheet which must be sealed unless released by the court for good cause shown.
