FISCAL ANALYSIS

ASSUMPTION

Officials from the Department of Social Services (DSS) - Children's Division (CD) state in section 211.036, current statute provides that if a child is under the age of 18 and released from the custody of the CD and it appears that it would be in the best interest of the child, the Juvenile Office, the CD or the Child may petition the court to return custody of the child to the CD. This proposal changes "under age 18" to "under the age of 21".

It is unknown how many children from age 18 up to age 21 would reenter foster care based solely on what is in the best interest of the child and as a result of a petition filed by the Juvenile office, the Children's Division or the child. In Fiscal Year 2012, the cost for foster care per child is $19,380. If five children came into care in a year, the cost would be $96,900.

The CD does not anticipate a large number of children re-entering foster care between the ages of 18 up to 21 as a result of this legislation; therefore, the fiscal impact is unknown, but less than $100,000 annually.

Officials from the Department of Higher Education (DHE) state the proposal would have no direct, foreseeable fiscal impact on the DHE.

Officials from the Office of State Courts Administrator assume the proposal would not fiscally impact their agency.

FISCAL IMPACT - Small Business

No direct fiscal impact to small businesses would be expected as a result of this proposal.

FISCAL DESCRIPTION

Under current law, if a youth under the age of 18 is released from the custody of the Children's Division within the Department of Social Services, the juvenile officer, the Children's Division or the youth may petition the court to return to the custody of the Children's Division if it appears it would be in the youth's best interest. This proposal raises the age limit from 18 to 21.

This legislation is not federally mandated, would not duplicate any other program and would not require additional capital improvements or rental space.
