FISCAL ANALYSIS

ASSUMPTION

Section 313.303.1

Officials from the Missouri Lottery Commission (LOT) assume releasing the names of big winners ensures the integrity and transparency of our government operations, so the public knows the Lottery is not corruptly awarding prizes to friends, relatives, etc. The Missouri Lottery receives thousands of dollars in publicity value and exposure each year when winner stories appear in the media. Research has shown the more people hear about winners, the more likely they are to play the Lottery and the more money earned for public education.

The Missouri Lottery currently publicizes the names, home towns, prize amount and game name for winners of $10,000 and more through news releases, on its website and on social media accounts. Winners up to $50,000 have the option of placing themselves on a "no publicity" list on a per-win basis. For winners of $50,000 and more, the Lottery releases the winner's name, home town, prize amount and game. Exceptions have been made if the winner expresses a security concern. We do not require winners of $50,000 and higher to have their photo taken or for them to do media interviews or news conferences. We do not release their address or phone number to the media.

On prizes of $1 million or more, the Lottery again releases the name, home town, prize amount and game. We do not require these million-dollar-plus winners to have their photo taken or do a news conference. We do not release their address or phone number to the media. News conferences are held only with those winners who are willing.

This legislation makes it unlawful to publish the name, address, or any other identifying information of any person who wins the state lottery. Not being able to publish winner names may adversely affect public perception of the Lottery and ultimately affect sales. There are currently only a few state lotteries that allow blanket anonymity; most lotteries do not.

Oversight assumes this proposal would not have a direct administrative impact on the Lottery Commission.

Oversight assumes any effect on sales (positive or negative) would be an indirect consequence of this proposal and beyond the scope of a fiscal note and therefore will not reflect a fiscal impact as a result of this proposal.

Officials from the Office of the State Public Defender, the Office of Prosecution Services, the Attorney General's Office, the Office of the State Courts Administrator, the and the Department of Public Safety - Missouri Highway Patrol each assume the proposal will have no fiscal impact on their respective organizations.

Oversight notes that the above mentioned agencies have stated the proposal would not have a direct fiscal impact on their organization. Oversight does not have any information to the contrary. Therefore, Oversight will reflect a zero impact on the fiscal note for these agencies.
