

HB 2009 -- IMMUNIZATIONS

SPONSOR: Pollock (123)

COMMITTEE ACTION: Voted "Do Pass" by the Standing Committee on Downsizing State Government by a vote of 9 to 5. Voted "Do Pass" by the Standing Committee on Rules- Administrative Oversight by a vote of 9 to 4.

This bill makes changes to existing statute regarding immunization requirements.

Currently, immunization requirements apply to children attending private, parochial, or parish schools. This bill removes such schools from immunization requirements, and instead applies immunization requirements to just public schools.

The bill prohibits the Department of Health and Senior Services from promulgating rules regarding immunization requirements for any immunization not specifically listed in the bill.

The bill allows a student to attend school if he or she can provide evidence of acquired immunity.

The bill clarifies that a student at a public elementary or secondary education school, a public institution of higher education, or a daycare can attend school by submitting a written religious or conscientious belief statement or submitting a religious or conscientious belief exemption form developed by the Department subjected to the description of the form in the bill; the school or daycare cannot require any additional conditions before accepting the exemption.

The bill requires the Department to create an informational brochure that outlines the process for obtaining an exemption to immunization requirements. The Department must also develop a standard religious or conscientious belief exemption form. The brochure and form must be available on the Department's website.

Currently, students of public institutions of higher education residing in on-campus housing are required to get a meningococcal vaccine. This bill changes that requirement to require the vaccine only for students living in publicly-owned property.

Currently, immunization requirements apply to a child attending private or parochial daycare centers, preschool, or nursery schools caring for 10 or more children. This bill removes such schools from immunization requirements, and instead applies the requirements to all public daycare centers, preschools, or nursery schools.

Current law also requires immunizations for such children against any preventable childhood illness specified by the Department; this bill changes the immunization requirement to the same illnesses required to be vaccinated against for public school children.

Currently, a child who does not receive medical treatment for the sole reason of the legitimate practice of religious beliefs of the child's parents cannot be found to be an abused or neglected child. The bill says that a child not receiving immunizations due to religious or conscientious beliefs of the child's parents, cannot be a contributing factor for a finding of abuse or neglect. Additionally, a child not receiving immunizations cannot be a contributing factor in the Children's Division's decision to accept a report of abuse or neglect or to investigate or conduct a family assessment.

The Board of Registration of Healing Arts, within the Department of Commerce and Insurance, cannot initiate a contested hearing or refuse to issue or renew a license on the basis of or in retaliation for any health care provider licensee or applicant providing a medical immunization exemption statement or certification.

This bill is similar to HB 37 (2021).

PROPONENTS: Supporters say that the vaccines can be harmful and their children should not be forced to get vaccinated for anything. Parents should be able to make decisions for their children. The mandating of vaccines is a government overreach.

OPPONENTS: Those who oppose the bill say that the vaccines listed in the bill are all safe and outbreaks happen in areas where vaccines are not required. Opponents also say this bill opens the door to too many children not getting vaccinated which is dangerous for everybody.

OTHERS: Others testifying on the bill say the parents should be making the decision. This bill weakens vaccination requirements for non-public schools and childcare centers. This also weakens the administrative authority to add new vaccinations as needed.

Testifying on the bill were Debbie Phillips; Joan Sims; Katrina Utz, St. Louis County Department of Public Health; and Sarah Fuller.

Written testimony has been submitted for this bill. The full written testimony can be found under Testimony on the bill page on the House website.
