This bill has the opportunity to change many lives, not only of the incarcerated but the wives and loved ones waiting at home that are providing support, and also waiting on starting families and supporting the productive lifestyles of long term sentenced loved ones who have not only earned but deserve a second chance at living and becoming a valuable part of society. People make mistakes when they are young, but grow up and are earning the opportunity at having a few extra years off of a long sentence this is a way of earning back minutes days weeks etc of the most precious thing you can't get back - your life and that I think is a valuable asset to give to someone who needs to learn the ultimate lesson of the mistakes they might have made. Thank you. This bill means so much to me and my loved one and it will not only change is life, but mine as well. We can start a family when if he serves his 85% most likely we will not be able too. So thank you for continuing to fight for this cause.

What a blessing this would be for so many long time men and women who since being incarcerated have shown themselves remorseful completed so many programs and continue to be model inmates what a wonderful gift to give them in releasing them even if for parole to be a part of freedom one more time I am in support of this bill. I believe the good time credit bill should be passed to give first time offenders who are following the rules and showing progress in rehabilitation some hope and a chance to go before the parole board. For those who are taking classes, holding jobs, staying out of trouble and understanding what they did was wrong and want to be a better person I believe given the opportunity, that they otherwise wouldn't have, may give more inmates more incentive to work harder and better themselves. So many come out of prison and repeat offenses and return while others are doing the best they can during their stay and not getting the same opportunity to try. Of course it would be up to the parole board to determine which ones were sincere in changing but at least given the chance for some who didn't already have it may decrease prison population and provide a second chance for some who have already been there for many years and have bettered themselves.

I'm in support of this bill for many reasons. On a personal level, my fiance has already done 10 years on a 30 year sentence , he will not see the parole board right now for 14 more years. However the person he is today is not the same person who went to prison 10 years ago. He has completed every program and class they have to offer, he has hundreds of certificates. He now teaches his own classes , he has truly been rehabilitated. Someone in the worse place has found the tools to become a better person and help others change their mindset as he has. As odd as it sounds hes grateful for his time in prison because he knows he needed it to become the person he is today. So many people do not take advantage of the opportunity to change but he has. I think he deserves a second chance and anyone who has worked with him I believe would say the same. He has a family to come home to and would continue to help others from the outside to help prevent them from going the route he did. Generally I think having a program like this would give incentive for offenders to truly change , give them hope to become better and come home. When there is an option to do the footwork and reap the benefits I think offenders would succeed in truly rehabilitating themselves. In my opinion, Offenders who would benefit from this have already put in their time , they have done all they can and will continue to stay on the right path when they are looking at the doors opening as a real option. Please consider this testimony.

I am supporting HB 382 and HB 372 Good Time Credit because it will reduce sentences to those who have shown progress by attending classes, volunteering, furthering their education, and having the desire to reform their selves to become meaningful members of their community upon release. There are inmates who have lengthy sentences but have completed all required coursework, never been disciplined, and live in the honor house which is a privilege based their behavior. I feel these inmates should be given an opportunity to have reduced sentences so they can be reunited with their families as they have worked hard to make good choices and follow rules while being incarcerated.

As the largest and oldest anti-poverty non-profit in our state, Empower Missouri is committed to improving the quality of life for all Missouri residents through advocacy. Since our inception, Empower Missouri has focused on the criminal justice system and its impacts. Our Community Justice Coalition consists of community advocates and organizations from across the state who work with those who have been impacted by the criminal justice system. Many coalition members are formerly incarcerated or have currently incarcerated loved ones, and all are connected by a vision for a future without mass incarceration.

We are providing testimony today in support of HB 372, sponsored by Representative Collins, and HB 382, sponsored by Representative Aldridge, which would address provisions relating to good time credit for individuals committed to the Department of Corrections. Good time credit is time that once earned, shall be subtracted from the offender's minimum eligibility-for-release date. The accumulation of this credit does not require that the individual be released, as the parole board retains discretion to determine the date of release. Specifically, these bills would award 60 days of good time credit for incarcerated individuals who successfully complete certain programs, including those who receive a high school or college diploma or vocational training certificate, complete an alcohol or drug course other than those ordered by the court or parole board, or complete 1,000 hours of restorative justice programming. This expansion of good time credits would have a positive impact on incarcerated individuals, their loved ones, the environment within correctional facilities, and ultimately Missouri communities. The availability of such credits based on the merits of a person's behavior can make the prison environment safer for other incarcerated individuals and correctional officers. Through incentivizing good behavior, rather than punishing bad behavior, good time credits help incarcerated individuals develop positive habits that will lead to reduced recidivism outcomes after their release. The programs included in HB 372 and HB 382 incorporate educational opportunities, vocational training, and rehabilitation, all critical elements in preparing individuals for reentry and improving community safety for all. As an aside, in order to ensure that HB 372, HB 382, and other legislation has the intended impact of promoting program participation for incarcerated individuals (thereby reducing recidivism), the legislature may also need to consider increased resources for rehabilitative and educational programs in the Department of Corrections. We trust the legislature will consider this as part of the appropriations process. Empower Missouri urges this committee to take action to pass HB 372 and HB 382 into law. Thank you for your time and consideration of this matter.

I believe the purpose of prison is not just punishing the offender, but rehabilitation. When an offender is sentenced on a violent crime I understand the desire of the public to see them "pay" for their crime. However, when the offender truly changes their habits, behaviors, and mannerisms and takes advantage of programs available to them to learn from their mistake and return as a better member of society we should be able to reward their good behavior and show faith in them making necessary changes. I do have a personal interest in this bill as my husband is in a state prison for a violent crime which happened while he was under the influence of drugs which he used to cope with personal issues and underlying mental health problems. I have seen his growth and the changes in his overall demeanor. He is a fantastic step-father and husband despite being locked up. He has so much to offer to society as a mentor and example of what not to do and his nephews and grandson would greatly benefit from him being able to be released prior to the completion of 85% of his sentence.

I am writing on behalf of my husband who is currently within Missouri Department of Corrections. This bill is for inmates like my husband who has taken advantage of all the current programs that Missouri Department of Corrections has offered, he has completed the ITC program as of June of 2022. While my husband will see the parole board in 2025 I am also advocating for the men and women within the Missouri Department of Corrections that may not have family and friends that can advocate for them. This bill would possibly allow inmates to get home quicker to their loved ones, for example my husband has never gotten to meet our daughter. The Missouri Department of Corrections encourages inmates to take the programs offered to help better themselves for the future, for those inmates serving a much longer sentence have a chance to use these tools to their disposal if they shall be granted time credit for the completion of such programs. Inmates both men and women deserve a chance to strive within their communities. Inmates are judged as soon as they walk through the doors of any of the facilities while it is impossible to get to know everyone's stories and backgrounds everyone has a history and a past and sometimes all it takes is a little push to make a difference within someone, someone who may not have taken advantage of the ITC program or gotten their high school diploma, because there was no incentive for them or any need for them to take such programs as they have felt their sentence is too long for them to even bother. I truly believe their would be a positive outcome from this for the inmates as most just want to be home with their families watching their children grow in person and not through pictures and 30 second video grams on Securus, missing first days of school, having their kids run up to you as soon as you get home from work with a drawing they created at school. There are a million different things our inmates miss, and those were just a few examples, If the good time bill were to pass it would make an impact on the inmates I know it would. I appreciate everyone taking their time out of their busy schedules to hear our testimonies for HB372..

I believe the Good Time Credit Bill should be passed because there are a lot of first time offenders who are doing the right thing in prison. They have changed their lives and live years in prison maintaining employment, being responsible positive members of the prison population. They receive minimal conduct violations, if any. They take classes, and do programs to better themselves. It is time that they are rewarded for their change and efforts to better themselves. Passing this bill does not guarantee them parole, but will give them a chance to be seen by the Parole Board and will give the prison population incentive to better themselves. I would like the bill to be passed so my loved one. Who has changed his life, will have yet another reason yo feel that changing his life is worth doing so.

I support HB372 and any similar bills, which further define the good time credit program for offenders in Missouri. The efforts and hard work of offenders should be recognized and should reduce their terms. We must fully define these options and make them available to offenders. After all, rehabilitation is the primary purpose of prison. We want people to better themselves, learn from any of their prior mistakes, and rejoin society. This bill helps them do that. Please support this bill.

I am in support of this bill because I have a loved one who is incarcerated currently at Crossroads Correctional Center, and am actually the first person in my family who has not spent time in jail or prison for any reason. I so often saw, and still continue to see, these men and women be punished to the point that it's almost cruel when they make mistakes or break rules, even small rules, but very rarely have I seen them be rewarded for good behavior and choices. If they put in the work to better themselves then they should be rewarded for that and their sentence should reflect the efforts of those willing to do the work to change themselves for the better in an environment where most people around you don't mind doing wrong.

The Good Time Credit is about giving credit for doing what is expected of you while in prison. It is about taking advantage of the opportunities to learn from your mistakes and improve yourself for when you are released. Jacob is a first-time offender given the maximum of 15 years for the choice he made at 24 years of age. Jacob knew he deserved prison time and he made a promise to himself and God that he would use his time to become a better man when he was released. In the 6.5 years he has spent in prison, he has received 1 minor write-up for being "out of bounds". This write up happened when he was first entered Diagnostics. Since that write-up he has kept his record clean. Jacob has participated in all the programs offered including facilitating several during his time. Jacob has been in the Therapeutic Care Unit (TCU), Honors Dorm and Kryos programs. Jacob has continuously held a job working in the kitchen, maintenance, facilities, and several others. His biggest accomplishment to date has been completing his Associates in Christian Ministry and continuing to work towards his bachelor's degree through an online, accredited university. He has been asked to speak in front of both small and large groups sharing his story. Jacob's dream for the future is to help other young men so they do not find themselves in a similar situation. Did prison make Jacob a better person? The answer is yes because he has taken advantage of the programs and the situation to become a better person. Will serving 15 years make him a better person? The answer is no! Jacob will continue to do what is right because it is the right choice not because he has served his maximum of 15 years on a first-time offense. The data shows a Missouri prisoner cost approximately $32,000/yearly. A full 15-year sentence will cost the state of Missouri $480,000 which is a true financial burden when resources are needed elsewhere. My son has been making all the right choices long before the Good Time Credit was even a thought. There are so many incarcerated individuals just like Jacob, making good choices, taking advantage of resources and serving their time while planning for a brighter future for themselves. This bill would prove that making a mistake can be overcome and encourages others with an incentive to better themselves in programs that will impact their lives forever.

Research has shown that offenders who have served at least 10 years are less likely to reoffend than offenders sentenced to shorter times. My husband has already served 23 years (first time incarcerated) and deserves a chance to get out of prison to lead a productive life and get to know his children and now grandchildren. If this bill were to pass, it would allow him to start his life. He has been a model prisoner and has taken several programs as well as learned a trade while incarcerated. Also, the DOC is unable to continue to house and keep the inmates safe. Staffing shortages are at a critical level. This bill would allow inmates who have truly worked on improving themselves to get a chance to get out and start a new life, thus reducing the prison population.

Inmates should not lose good time unless the individual is making a habit of getting in trouble because I know personally that sometimes inmates get in trouble for things they did not do. Thank you for reading my statement.

I support this bill because being in a prison is a hard walk to take. If they can do what's right inside, then we should give them the opportunity to show us on the outside. Show our younger generation what comes from doing the right thing.
