This bill puts an undue burden on investment advisors to disclose any and all "socially responsible criteria". The bill requires specific written consent for investments that "further international, domestic, or industry agreements relating to environmental or social goals". This is very vague and could be construed to mean a lot of things. The result of which would be undue burden on advisors and their clients. Do we require any specific written consent for any other investment disclosures? Do we require written consent for oil and gas investments, for tobacco, for weapons manufacturers, for investments in China or Russia? To require written consent for ESG but nor for anything else is hypocritical. Oppose this bill.
